UN Command Tells 4-Nation Truce Team To Quit South Korea

Group Called Screen For Red Buildup

PANMUNJOM, Korea, May 31—The U. N. command told the four-member Neutral Nations Supervisory commission today to get out of South Korea, charging it had been used to mask a truce-violating arms buildup in North Korea.

The commission is supposed to police armistice violations.

The U.N. Command accused Czechoslovak and Polish members of flagrantly unneutral conduct in covering up Communist violations and frustrating attempts of the Swedish and Swiss members to investigate them.

The commission's functions in South Korea have been suspended, the U.N. Command informed the Communist command, until all provisions of the armistice agreement are met in North Korea, particularly those forbidding an increase in military strength.

Moscow Assails Action

Moscow radio called the action a gross violation of the armistice agreement. The broadcast accused the United States and South Korea of an illegal arms buildup in the south.

"Stopping the work of the neutral nations commission cannot be done arbitrarily," said the broadcast heard in London.

The UNC demanded "corrected Communist reports" of shipments of combat material and aircraft —particularly jet planes—which it said the Reds have moved illegally into North Korea since the armistice was signed at Panmunjom in 1953.

Britain announced the 16 nations whose troops compose the U.N. Command, headed by U.S. Maj. Gen. Robert G. Gard, have rejected a Communist Chinese proposal for a conference to reunite Korea and withdraw foreign troops.

No Evidence Of Good Faith

The British Foreign Office said it had sent a note on behalf of all 16 governments telling Peiping and the Communist North Korean regime the two have given no evidence of the good faith required to make such a meeting useful. The note also accused the Reds of blocking effective supervision of the armistice agreement.

The North Koreans declared in a broadcast by the Pyongyang radio tonight they will discharge 80,000 men from their armed forces by Aug. 31 and called on South Korea to cut its army, too, to speed talks on reunification.

The broadcast, heard in Tokyo, did not say how big the North Korean army would be after this cut, but South Koreans estimate

Russia Demands U. S. Punish Berlin Tunnel Diggers

MOSCOW, May 31 (AP)—The Soviet government announced tonight a note to the United States demanding punishment of persons who burrowed a tunnel between East and West Berlin.

The Russians charged last month that American military intelligence had used the tunnel—extending more than 600 yards under East Berlin—to tap Soviet Army communications.

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the new note was delivered Tuesday to the American Embassy here. It said:

"A month has passed since the discovery of the tunnel but American military authorities in Europe to this date have not taken the necessary measures to track down this impermissable activity of American organs in West Germany and to punish those guilty.

"The Soviet government expects the U.S. government to take the necessary measures to pin down responsibility within the American authorities for the construction of the tunnel so that those will be punished and to guarantee that such activity will not be permitted again."

Steamer Riots Probed By FBI

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 31 (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation today opened a "full and complete investigation" of the riot-torn passage of an excurion steamer from Crystal Beach, Ont., to Buffalo last night.

Fist and knife-slinging brawlers, both white and Negro, disrupted the holiday at the beach for thousands of Buffalo residents and turned the night's final run of the steamer Canadiana into an hour of terror.

At least 50 persons were injured. Seven received hospital treatment.

The FBI action was requested by U.S. Dist. Atty. John O. Henderson, who said after spending the day studying the knotty jurisdictional question:

"I am pretty well convinced we have at least concurrent jurisdiction with local authorities.

Meanwhile, federal assault complaints were filed against two of 12 youths arrested here and in Crystal Beach. But Henderson said no warrants would be issued at least until the FBI had examined fully the boat aspects of the stormy holiday.

Henderson declined to discuss in detail the question of how far U.S. jurisdiction extends on the Canadiana's route. But he indicated that the vessel's American registry entered into the question and that the jurisdiction might extend to the dock on the Canadian side.

Ontario provincial police arrested five Negro youths and four whites at Crystal Beach, a resort and amusement center on the north shore of Lake Erie 15 miles west of Buffalo. They ranged in age from 15 to 22.

When the Canadiana docked in Buffalo late last night, three more Negro boys were picked up.

Recess Called In Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)— A surprise recess was called today in the unprecedented joint contract negotiations between the nation's three largest steel companies and the United Steelworkers.

The next bargaining session between the union and the three companies—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel Corp.—is scheduled Wednesday in New York. The meetings had been expected to continue in Pittsburgh through tomorrow.

Representatives of the steel firms said they "will spend the next several days in further studying the unions' proposals." Union demands were formally presented last Monday and Tuesday.

Today's meeting—it lasted three hours—marked the first time the three companies met jointly with union negotiators to work out contracts other than when the government intervened in times of crisis.

USW President David J. McDonald called the meeting a step toward industrywide labor bargaining. Company officials said it was industrywide bargaining and called it a "joint effort to reach an early settlement."

The union is seeking to negotiate new contracts for 650,000 workers in 172 basic steel companies and iron ore mining firms. The current pacts expire at midnight June 30 and the union would be free to strike then if a settlement is not reached.

Ike Indicates He Will Wage Active Battle

President Advises Supporters Not To Be Over-Confident

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—President Eisenhower, giving a preview of his 1956 campaign arguments, said today that "we have largely nullified" the Soviet Union's "reliance upon force and threat of force."

On the domestic front, he said his administration has brought about "a government that knows its place and doesn't interfere too much with me as I go about my daily business."

Eisenhower added amid laughter, in an off-the-cuff talk to the national Citizens for Eisenhower executive campaign conference: "I assure that when I say 'me,' I think I am speaking for each of you."

The President stressed in his breakfast time talk that (a) he is feeling fine and (b) his supporters must guard against complacency in the 1956 campaign.

Hints At All-Out Battle

Asserting the word "complacency" has no place in his vocabulary, Eisenhower said:

"When you are in a battle you bring forward everything you have; you accumulate your supplies; you get the best plan you can devise, and then you throw in your last reserves."

As for his own physical condition, Eisenhower told the enthusiastic gathering:

"For myself, as you know I was ill last fall. I can only say this: Now the only way I know is because the doctors keep reminding me of it. I am perfectly ready to go forward at the behest of such groups as this, and do the very best I can in obtaining the objectives that I know within me you want."

Democrats In Gathering

Eisenhower told the gathering, which included a number of pro-Eisenhower Democrats and independents, he decided to run for president in the first place because groups of this kind persuaded him he was needed to bring about what they all wanted:

"Clean government, good government, progressive government, a government that knows its place and doesn't interfere too much with me as I go about my daily business."

Holiday Traffic Death Toll One Under Forecast

[By The Associated Press]

Traffic mishaps accounted for at least 109 deaths during the one-day Memorial holiday. Though the figure was one below the National Safety Council's estimate of 110, the council said Thursday it was "distressed" that the toll came so "tragically close" to its prediction.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths occurring during the holiday period showed 32 persons drowned and 33 others died in a variety of accidents, bringing the toll from all violent causes to 174.

The count covered the period from 6 p.m. (local time) Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

The 174 total for the holiday compared with 111 fatalities recorded two weeks ago in an Associated Press nonholiday survey for a comparable Tuesday night and Wednesday. On the nonholiday, 70 died in traffic, 8 were drowned and 33 died from miscellaneous violence.

Ohio's High Court Upholds Dr. Sheppard's Conviction

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 31 (AP)—Ohio's Supreme Court today upheld the murder conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 32.

The 5-2 decision means that the osteopath must serve his life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for the second degree murder of his wife, Marilyn, 31.

The bludgeon slaying occurred July 4, 1954, in the Sheppard home beside Lake Erie west of Cleveland in suburban Bay Village.

Sheppard's conviction on Dec. 21, 1954, followed a widely publicized trial in Cleveland.

He entered Ohio Penitentiary last July 20 without hope of parole consideration for at least 10 years under Ohio law.

Attorneys said the time spent in Cuyahoga County Jail before transfer to the mid-city prison in Columbus could not shorten the 10-year limit.

Sheppard never faltered in his insistence that a bushy-haired intruder fatally beat his wife in a second-floor bedroom while the doctor napped on a living room couch.

Sheppard said he was aroused by screams and the intruder knocked him out during a struggle in the dark and again after pursuit to the beach. A young son, "Chip," slept through it all in another bedroom.

Prosecution attorneys said Sheppard invented the story of a robbery-slaying to cover up his own crime. The murder weapon never was found.

Queen Waves To "Official" Birthday Crowd

Queen Elizabeth waves from Buckingham Palace balcony to crowd below which gathered yesterday to help the Queen celebrate her "official" birthday. Earlier the Queen had participated in the "trooping the color" ceremony as extra precautions were taken after rumors that Cypriot assassins had slipped into England. The Queen celebrated her 30th birthday last month and yesterday's occasion was the ceremonial celebration. Gen. Gruenther Warns Against Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Russian "smiles," Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today, do not justify any cut in President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid budget.

The supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe advised the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discount Soviet "smiles, happy talk or receptions in the Kremlin" in planning the foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Soviet Cut Means Little

He said that even if the Russians carry out their announced intention of making a 1,200,000 cut in their military manpower this year it will not reduce their capability of launching an attack.

Gruenther also told the senators he would be able to give "a reasonable guarantee" that NATO forces can "defeat an act of aggression" after all the West German troops have been added to his army. But that may not be for three or four years, he said.

The Eisenhower administration is fighting to restore a cut of more than a billion dollars in the foreign aid budget voted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The House hasn't acted yet on the cut, which is concentrated on the military aid program.

Cut Would Hurt NATO

Foreign Aid Administrator John B. Hollister told a news conference today that if Congress carries out the cut it will have "very serious" effects on arms shipments to the NATO forces.

Hollister said a 402 million dollar limitation placed on NATO military aid by the House committee represents a reduction of more than 50 per cent. Such "arbitrary limitations," he added, "can change completely the plans of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Pact Expires But W. U. Strike Held Unlikely

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Labor contract negotiations for 34,000 employers of the Western Union Telegraph Co. were recessed tonight until tomorrow morning but a system-wide strike did not seem imminent.

Existing contracts were due to expire at midnight tonight, but the possibility of a system-wide strike was discounted by officials in close touch with the bargaining.

E. L. Hargeman, president of the Western Union division of the Commercial Telegraphers Union declined to comment on the chances of a strike, but said strike instructions have been issued to all union locals.

The CTU represents 30,000 Western Union employes over the nation, except in the New York metropolitan area, where about 4,000 additional workers are represented by the American Communications Assn. (Ind). Negotiations were proceeding separately with both unions.

Geneva Talks Drag On

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 31 (AP)—Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson of the United States and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Communist China met for the 49th time today in their long negotiations concerning the imprisonment of 13 Americans in Red China.

The meeting, held as usual in secrecy, lasted two hours and 27 minutes. The next meeting will be held June 8.

Two Killed In Wreck Of National Limited

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., May 31 (AP)—The engine of a passenger train snaking its way out of a dark tunnel in mountainous West Virginia early this morning smacked into a 40-ton boulder and tumbled into a creek, killing the engineer and the fireman.

But the tunnel walls helped keep upright cars with sleeping passengers on the Baltimore & Ohio's National Limited. It was en route from New York to St. Louis.

The engineer, J. C. Riley, 62, of Grafton, W. Va., was killed as the twin diesel locomotive split the huge boulder at the mouth of the tunnel.

The diesels were locked together and were being operated as one as is the custom in this mountainous section. The lead diesel plunged from a short bridge 35 feet into shallow Bond Creek. It was mired in mud.

B. and O. officials said the body of the fireman, Paul R. Hooten, about 32, of Grafton, was recovered this afternoon from the muddy waters of Bond Creek under the main unit of the forward locomotive.

The body was not mangled seriously, and the manner of his death was not determined immediately.

Railway officials at Grafton said the wreckage probably would be cleared in another two hours and traffic restored early this evening over the main line.

Several passengers received treatment for minor injuries but none was hurt seriously.

The mail car was halted at the edge of the creek by the wreckage of the locomotives. Four clerks inside were shaken up and one, William Baum, of Parkersburg, was taken to St. Joseph Hospital here for treatment of scalp cuts and observation.

Baum helped in rescue operations for an hour or two before he would consent to being taken to the hospital.

The other mail clerks were C. R. Wilking, Marietta, Ohio; M. V. Imboden, Logan, Ohio, and J. D. Moore, Bridgeport, W. Va.

Wilking said the engineer apparently did not see the boulder in time to apply air brakes.

The train was composed of three coaches, a baggage car, mail car, dining car and five Pullmans.

The bridge was only about a car length and a half from the mouth of the tunnel. Heavy rains had fallen in the area, and railroad officials theorized they may have washed the huge rock onto the track.

Business Group Backs Harriman

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman's White House aspirations were boosted today by formation of a nationwide committee of businessmen and financiers in support of his candidacy.

Harriman welcomed the move.

The committee's aim is to enroll "progressive, enlightened businessmen," friendly with labor, in support of the governor, himself a former railroad magnate, investment banker and secretary of commerce.

Robert Dowling, a New York investment banker, announced the committee plans at a news conference. He said he had discussed them with Harriman and that the governor "expressed the feeling it was very nice we were doing it."

"I regard him as a candidate today," Dowling added, saying he could not draw a "fine line" as to what distinguished an active candidate from an inactive one. Harriman prefers to call himself not an active candidate for the nomination.

One Killed, Five Hurt When Truck Upsets

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—One workman was killed and five injured today when their two-ton utility truck overturned on busy U.S. 40, just north of the city line.

A seventh workman escaped injury.

Dead on arrival at Johns Hopkins Hospital was Ira P. Parley, 19, of Baltimore.

Baltimore County Police at Fullerton said the truck, similar to an electric utility linemen's truck, was southbound on the highway when traffic stopped suddenly. Endslow told police the brakes failed and he swerved to the right to avoid hitting a truck in front of him. His vehicle hit the curbing just as the brakes grabbed, police quoted him, and the truck flipped over on its left side.

Woman, Unaware Son Thrown From Car, Electrocuted

MORGANTOWN, W.VA., May 31 (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Johnson, 41, was electrocuted today in an attempt to save her son from an automobile wreck, unaware that he had been thrown clear of the car.

Police said Donald W. Johnson, 22, hit a utility pole in front of his home early this morning. Mrs. Johnson, hearing the crash, rushed outside.

Officers said that as she grabbed the car door a wire knocked loose from the pole fell across the wreckage, electrocuting her. She was pronounced dead on arrival at a Morgantown hospital.

The youth was thrown from the wreck and had managed to go to a nearby telephone to call the fire department.

Famous Dead Sea Scrolls Tell Of Ancient Treasure

MANCHESTER, England, June 1 (INS) — Jordan's Department of Antiquities said today that the famous Dead Sea scrolls contained 2,000-year-old instructions on how to find a fabulous treasure of nearly 200 tons of gold and silver.

But the department expressed doubts as to the authenticity of the stories in the scrolls relating to the ancient treasure.

The treasure was described in the scrolls, according to the archeologists and translators who have worked on the precious book, as having been buried near Jerusalem and in other parts of the Holy Land. The area was given generally as that which now lies along the Israeli-Jordan border.

An announcement released simultaneously in Manchester and Amman, Jordan, disclosed what may eventually turn out to be a rich archeological treasure. The scrolls, it was said, spoke of a "copy of this book, with explanations, measurements and all details."

Prof. H. Wright Baker, head of the mechanical engineering department at Manchester University, successfully opened the sealed scrolls.

But even if the treasure is still around, it was announced, would-be treasure hunters would have a tough time finding it.

The announcement declared: "Exact localities of course, would be difficult to identify nowadays, as the topography of the country has changed considerably since the First Century A. D."

The scrolls were found in caves.

The find was accidental, after excavations were started at Khirbet Qumran on the Dead Sea shore in Jordan in 1954.

Hundreds Guard Queen Elizabeth At Troop Review

LONDON, May 31 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II reviewed her troops today in an official birthday celebration guarded by hundreds of police on the lookout for potential assassins.

Three gunmen from Cyprus, restive British colony in the Mediterranean, were reported to have slipped into England with designs against the royal family. That family is headed by the Queen, who was 30 April 21, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

It was a sunny day, but men with raincoats roved up and down the procession route to keep watch on the cheering crowds. These were security men. The raincoats which set them apart were worn to hide their guns, for British police rarely go armed.

40 Days Late

Though the public birthday celebration came 40 days late, everyone pretended this was the real day.

No one has ever satisfactorily outlined how the Queen explains the difference between a birthday and an official birthday to her youngsters, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, but they celebrated seriously too. Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret also attended.

The official explanation is better weather in May than in April. Elizabeth is following royal precedent in holding off the formal observance until late spring.

The highlight was the trooping of the color.

No Threats Materialize

There was an elaborate and colorful marching about with flags by straight-backed guardsmen while the Queen looked on from a side saddle atop a placid 16-year-old horse named Winston.

Although the detectives were scattered through the crowds wherever the Queen went, no threats to kill the Queen materialized. Scotland Yard is reported to have received a letter saying the Cypriots planned to take pot shots at her in revenge for the hanging of two Greek Cypriot gunmen on charges of murder and attempted murder.

Oppose Term 'Good Offices' In Resolution

Syria Says Proposal Would Doom Efforts By Hammarskjold

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 31 (AP)—The Security Council heard today an Arab refusal to give Dag Hammarskjold a free hand as mediator in his follow-up efforts for peace in the Middle East.

The stumbling block was the term "good offices" in a British resolution calling for creation of conditions for a settlement of peace terms between Israel and the Arabs.

The resolution said U.N. Secretary General Hammarskjold should continue using his good offices in the effort following up his recent peace tour. Arabs objected to this term as too broad.

Syria Blasts Entire Plan

Ahmed Shukairy of Syria told the Council acceptance of the British resolution would doom Hammarskjold's Middle East peace efforts.

Omar Loutfi of Egypt and Abdel Monem Rifa'i of Jordan agreed with Shukairy in objecting to two paragraphs of the British resolution but they did not go as far as Shukairy in blasting the entire resolution.

Loutfi and Rifa'i said the reference to conditions for mutual agreement on a settlement will not contribute to the full success of Hammarskjold's mission in reducing tension. Both said the reference to "good offices" left the situation incomplete. They favored some phrase such as asking Hammarskjold to continue his efforts under the resolution of April 4.

Sobolev Conciliatory

Fouad Ammoun, director general of the Lebanese Foreign Office, endorsed objections to the controversial sections of the resolution and said it would take the U.N. into new fields.

Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate, wound up the day's debate with a suggestion in conciliatory language for further conferences on the resolution in an effort to obtain a unanimous vote.

He agreed with Arab speakers that the resolution should state clearly that Hammarskjold must not go beyond the April 4 Council request for him to act for lowering tension in the Middle East.

Shukairy told the Council that adoption of the resolution as it stands would bring the secretary general's efforts to an end.

President Calls Peace Meeting

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower announced today he has invited 34 American leaders to a White House meeting June 12 to help plan for better understanding among the peoples of the world.

One idea behind the plan is to make every American traveling abroad a goodwill ambassador for his country.

Those invited to the conference included men and women active in a variety of fields ranging from travel agencies to motion pictures to religion. A White House statement said:

"The President will seek their ideas and help on the whole subject of people-to-people contacts (as distinct from government contacts)—contacts designed to create understanding among peoples and build a common effort to advance world peace."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said topics for discussion will extend from how to help American's on vacation abroad to be better representatives of this country to such things as promoting American symphony concerts and other cultural efforts behind the Iron Curtain as well as in non-Communist countries.

Hagerty also said one logical result could be steps to carry out Eisenhower's proposal of May 25 at Baylor University for American universities and foundations to help establish science and cultural education centers abroad.

French Attack Strong Rebel Band, Kill 60

ALGIERS, May 31 (AP)—French mechanized and airborne troops today attacked a strong band of nationalist rebels in the "Gates of Iron" region of the Biban Mountains. At least 60 rebels were reported killed in the first phase of the continuing action.

Pouring machine-gun fire and rocket grenades on rebel hideouts on the stony, desolate slopes, the French pushed the rebels down an arid, brown rock canyon.

Traffic mishaps accounted for at least 109 deaths during the one-day Memorial holiday. Though the figure was one below the National Safety Council's estimate of 110, the council said Thursday it was "distressed" that the toll came so "tragically close" to its prediction.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths occurring during the holiday period showed 32 persons drowned and 33 others died in a variety of accidents, bringing the toll from all violent causes to 174.

The count covered the period from 6 p.m. (local time) Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

The 174 total for the holiday compared with 111 fatalities recorded two weeks ago in an Associated Press nonholiday survey for a comparable Tuesday night and Wednesday. On the nonholiday, 70 died in traffic, 8 were drowned and 33 died from miscellaneous violence.

Ohio's High Court Upholds Dr. Sheppard's Conviction

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 31 (AP)—Ohio's Supreme Court today upheld the murder conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 32.

The 5-2 decision means that the osteopath must serve his life sentence in Ohio Penitentiary for the second degree murder of his wife, Marilyn, 31.

The bludgeon slaying occurred July 4, 1954, in the Sheppard home beside Lake Erie west of Cleveland in suburban Bay Village.

Sheppard's conviction on Dec. 21, 1954, followed a widely publicized trial in Cleveland.

He entered Ohio Penitentiary last July 20 without hope of parole consideration for at least 10 years under Ohio law.

Attorneys said the time spent in Cuyahoga County Jail before transfer to the mid-city prison in Columbus could not shorten the 10-year limit.

Sheppard never faltered in his insistence that a bushy-haired intruder fatally beat his wife in a second-floor bedroom while the doctor napped on a living room couch.

Sheppard said he was aroused by screams and the intruder knocked him out during a struggle in the dark and again after pursuit to the beach. A young son, "Chip," slept through it all in another bedroom.

Prosecution attorneys said Sheppard invented the story of a robbery-slaying to cover up his own crime. The murder weapon never was found.

Queen Waves To "Official" Birthday Crowd

Queen Elizabeth waves from Buckingham Palace balcony to crowd below which gathered yesterday to help the Queen celebrate her "official" birthday. Earlier the Queen had participated in the "trooping the color" ceremony as extra precautions were taken after rumors that Cypriot assassins had slipped into England. The Queen celebrated her 30th birthday last month and yesterday's occasion was the ceremonial celebration. Gen. Gruenther Warns Against Foreign Aid Cut

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Russian "smiles," Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said today, do not justify any cut in President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid budget.

The supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe advised the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discount Soviet "smiles, happy talk or receptions in the Kremlin" in planning the foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Soviet Cut Means Little

He said that even if the Russians carry out their announced intention of making a 1,200,000 cut in their military manpower this year it will not reduce their capability of launching an attack.

Gruenther also told the senators he would be able to give "a reasonable guarantee" that NATO forces can "defeat an act of aggression" after all the West German troops have been added to his army. But that may not be for three or four years, he said.

The Eisenhower administration is fighting to restore a cut of more than a billion dollars in the foreign aid budget voted by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The House hasn't acted yet on the cut, which is concentrated on the military aid program.

Cut Would Hurt NATO

Foreign Aid Administrator John B. Hollister told a news conference today that if Congress carries out the cut it will have "very serious" effects on arms shipments to the NATO forces.

Hollister said a 402 million dollar limitation placed on NATO military aid by the House committee represents a reduction of more than 50 per cent. Such "arbitrary limitations," he added, "can change completely the plans of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Pact Expires But W. U. Strike Held Unlikely

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Labor contract negotiations for 34,000 employers of the Western Union Telegraph Co. were recessed tonight until tomorrow morning but a system-wide strike did not seem imminent.

Existing contracts were due to expire at midnight tonight, but the possibility of a system-wide strike was discounted by officials in close touch with the bargaining.

E. L. Hargeman, president of the Western Union division of the Commercial Telegraphers Union declined to comment on the chances of a strike, but said strike instructions have been issued to all union locals.

The CTU represents 30,000 Western Union employes over the nation, except in the New York metropolitan area, where about 4,000 additional workers are represented by the American Communications Assn. (Ind). Negotiations were proceeding separately with both unions.

Geneva Talks Drag On

GENEVA, Switzerland, May 31 (AP)—Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson of the United States and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Communist China met for the 49th time today in their long negotiations concerning the imprisonment of 13 Americans in Red China.

The meeting, held as usual in secrecy, lasted two hours and 27 minutes. The next meeting will be held June 8.

Two Killed In Wreck Of National Limited

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., May 31 (AP)—The engine of a passenger train snaking its way out of a dark tunnel in mountainous West Virginia early this morning smacked into a 40-ton boulder and tumbled into a creek, killing the engineer and the fireman.

But the tunnel walls helped keep upright cars with sleeping passengers on the Baltimore & Ohio's National Limited. It was en route from New York to St. Louis.

The engineer, J. C. Riley, 62, of Grafton, W. Va., was killed as the twin diesel locomotive split the huge boulder at the mouth of the tunnel.

The diesels were locked together and were being operated as one as is the custom in this mountainous section. The lead diesel plunged from a short bridge 35 feet into shallow Bond Creek. It was mired in mud.

B. and O. officials said the body of the fireman, Paul R. Hooten, about 32, of Grafton, was recovered this afternoon from the muddy waters of Bond Creek under the main unit of the forward locomotive.

The body was not mangled seriously, and the manner of his death was not determined immediately.

Railway officials at Grafton said the wreckage probably would be cleared in another two hours and traffic restored early this evening over the main line.

Several passengers received treatment for minor injuries but none was hurt seriously.

The mail car was halted at the edge of the creek by the wreckage of the locomotives. Four clerks inside were shaken up and one, William Baum, of Parkersburg, was taken to St. Joseph Hospital here for treatment of scalp cuts and observation.

Baum helped in rescue operations for an hour or two before he would consent to being taken to the hospital.

The other mail clerks were C. R. Wilking, Marietta, Ohio; M. V. Imboden, Logan, Ohio, and J. D. Moore, Bridgeport, W. Va.

Wilking said the engineer apparently did not see the boulder in time to apply air brakes.

The train was composed of three coaches, a baggage car, mail car, dining car and five Pullmans.

The bridge was only about a car length and a half from the mouth of the tunnel. Heavy rains had fallen in the area, and railroad officials theorized they may have washed the huge rock onto the track.

Business Group Backs Harriman

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman's White House aspirations were boosted today by formation of a nationwide committee of businessmen and financiers in support of his candidacy.

Harriman welcomed the move.

The committee's aim is to enroll "progressive, enlightened businessmen," friendly with labor, in support of the governor, himself a former railroad magnate, investment banker and secretary of commerce.

Robert Dowling, a New York investment banker, announced the committee plans at a news conference. He said he had discussed them with Harriman and that the governor "expressed the feeling it was very nice we were doing it."

"I regard him as a candidate today," Dowling added, saying he could not draw a "fine line" as to what distinguished an active candidate from an inactive one. Harriman prefers to call himself not an active candidate for the nomination.

One Killed, Five Hurt When Truck Upsets

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—One workman was killed and five injured today when their two-ton utility truck overturned on busy U.S. 40, just north of the city line.

Dead on arrival at Johns Hopkins Hospital was Ira P. Parley, 19, of Baltimore.

Baltimore County Police at Fullerton said the truck, similar to an electric utility linemen's truck, was southbound on the highway when traffic stopped suddenly. Endslow told police the brakes failed and he swerved to the right to avoid hitting a truck in front of him. His vehicle hit the curbing just as the brakes grabbed, police quoted him, and the truck flipped over on its left side.

Woman, Unaware Son Thrown From Car, Electrocuted

MORGANTOWN, W.VA., May 31 (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Johnson, 41, was electrocuted today in an attempt to save her son from an automobile wreck, unaware that he had been thrown clear of the car.

Police said Donald W. Johnson, 22, hit a utility pole in front of his home early this morning. Mrs. Johnson, hearing the crash, rushed outside.

Officers said that as she grabbed the car door a wire knocked loose from the pole fell across the wreckage, electrocuting her. She was pronounced dead on arrival at a Morgantown hospital.

The youth was thrown from the wreck and had managed to go to a nearby telephone to call the fire department.

Hundreds Guard Queen Elizabeth At Troop Review

LONDON, May 31 (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II reviewed her troops today in an official birthday celebration guarded by hundreds of police on the lookout for potential assassins.

Three gunmen from Cyprus, restive British colony in the Mediterranean, were reported to have slipped into England with designs against the royal family. That family is headed by the Queen, who was 30 April 21, and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

It was a sunny day, but men with raincoats roved up and down the procession route to keep watch on the cheering crowds. These were security men. The raincoats which set them apart were worn to hide their guns, for British police rarely go armed.

40 Days Late

Though the public birthday celebration came 40 days late, everyone pretended this was the real day.

No one has ever satisfactorily outlined how the Queen explains the difference between a birthday and an official birthday to her youngsters, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, but they celebrated seriously too. Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret also attended.

The official explanation is better weather in May than in April. Elizabeth is following royal precedent in holding off the formal observance until late spring.

The highlight was the trooping of the color.

No Threats Materialize

There was an elaborate and colorful marching about with flags by straight-backed guardsmen while the Queen looked on from a side saddle atop a placid 16-year-old horse named Winston.

Although the detectives were scattered through the crowds wherever the Queen went, no threats to kill the Queen materialized. Scotland Yard is reported to have received a letter saying the Cypriots planned to take pot shots at her in revenge for the hanging of two Greek Cypriot gunmen on charges of murder and attempted murder.

Famous Dead Sea Scrolls Tell Of Ancient Treasure

MANCHESTER, England, June 1 (INS) — Jordan's Department of Antiquities said today that the famous Dead Sea scrolls contained 2,000-year-old instructions on how to find a fabulous treasure of nearly 200 tons of gold and silver.

But the department expressed doubts as to the authenticity of the stories in the scrolls relating to the ancient treasure.

The treasure was described in the scrolls, according to the archeologists and translators who have worked on the precious book, as having been buried near Jerusalem and in other parts of the Holy Land. The area was given generally as that which now lies along the Israeli-Jordan border.

An announcement released simultaneously in Manchester and Amman, Jordan, disclosed what may eventually turn out to be a rich archeological treasure. The scrolls, it was said, spoke of a "copy of this book, with explanations, measurements and all details."

Prof. H. Wright Baker, head of the mechanical engineering department at Manchester University, successfully opened the sealed scrolls.

But even if the treasure is still around, it was announced, would-be treasure hunters would have a tough time finding it.

The announcement declared: "Exact localities of course, would be difficult to identify nowadays, as the topography of the country has changed considerably since the First Century A. D."

The scrolls were found in caves.

The find was accidental, after excavations were started at Kharet Qumran on the Dead Sea shore in Jordan in 1954.

Oppose Term 'Good Offices' In Resolution

Syria Says Proposal Would Doom Efforts By Hammarskjold

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 31 (AP)—The Security Council heard today an Arab refusal to give Dag Hammarskjold a free hand as mediator in his follow-up efforts for peace in the Middle East.

The stumbling block was the term "good offices" in a British resolution calling for creation of conditions for a settlement of peace terms between Israel and the Arabs.

The resolution said U.N. Secretary General Hammarskjold should continue using his good offices in the effort following up his recent peace tour. Arabs objected to this term as too broad.

Syria Blasts Entire Plan

Ahmed Shukairy of Syria told the Council acceptance of the British resolution would doom Hammarskjold's Middle East peace efforts.

Omar Loutfi of Egypt and Abdel Monem Rifa'i of Jordan agreed with Shukairy in objecting to two paragraphs of the British resolution but they did not go as far as Shukairy in blasting the entire resolution.

Loutfi and Rifa'i said the reference to conditions for mutual agreement on a settlement will not contribute to the full success of Hammarskjold's mission in reducing tension. Both said the reference to "good offices" left the situation incomplete. They favored some phrase such as asking Hammarskjold to continue his efforts under the resolution of April 4.

Sobolev Conciliatory

Fouad Ammoun, director general of the Lebanese Foreign Office, endorsed objections to the controversial sections of the resolution and said it would take the U.N. into new fields.

Arkady A. Sobolev, Soviet delegate, wound up the day's debate with a suggestion in conciliatory language for further conferences on the resolution in an effort to obtain a unanimous vote.

He agreed with Arab speakers that the resolution should state clearly that Hammarskjold must not go beyond the April 4 Council request for him to act for lowering tension in the Middle East.

Shukairy told the Council that adoption of the resolution as it stands would bring the secretary general's efforts to an end.

President Calls Peace Meeting

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower announced today he has invited 34 American leaders to a White House meeting June 12 to help plan for better understanding among the peoples of the world.

One idea behind the plan is to make every American traveling abroad a goodwill ambassador for his country.

Those invited to the conference included men and women active in a variety of fields ranging from travel agencies to motion pictures to religion. A White House statement said:

"The President will seek their ideas and help on the whole subject of people-to-people contacts (as distinct from government contacts)—contacts designed to create understanding among peoples and build a common effort to advance world peace."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said topics for discussion will extend from how to help American's on vacation abroad to be better representatives of this country to such things as promoting American symphony concerts and other cultural efforts behind the Iron Curtain as well as in non-Communist countries.

Hagerty also said one logical result could be steps to carry out Eisenhower's proposal of May 25 at Baylor University for American universities and foundations to help establish science and cultural education centers abroad.

French Attack Strong Rebel Band, Kill 60

ALGIERS, May 31 (AP)—French mechanized and airborne troops today attacked a strong band of nationalist rebels in the "Gates of Iron" region of the Biban Mountains. At least 60 rebels were reported killed in the first phase of the continuing action.

Pouring machine-gun fire and rocket grenades on rebel hideouts on the stony, desolate slopes, the French pushed the rebels down an arid, brown rock canyon.

Adlai, Estes Push Calif. Vote Drives

LOS ANGELES, May 31 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson declared today that President Eisenhower has failed to develop any positive program to cope with new Russian world tactics for fear that such action would "split the Republican party wide open."

Stevenson campaigned for California support in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination with an attack on what he called a growing tide of isolation within the Republican party.

Linking this directly to California's Republican Sen. William Knowland, Stevenson said that while "the Soviet Union is employing its most formidable tactics in ideological, economic and political warfare the United States government remains frozen on dead center."

There it sits," he told a Town Hall civic group luncheon audience, "mired in the negative and uncreative. There it sits incapacitated by internal divisions. There it sits, unable to seize the international initiative.

"And this inability is due to one single, overpowering reason: a positive program adequate to cope with the new Soviet tactics would split the Republican party wide open."

INGLEWOOD, Calif., May 31 (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, stung by rival Adlai Stevenson's accusation of mud-slinging, hit back today with the statement that Stevenson was the instigator of personal attacks between the two.

Campaigning hard for California's vital primary election next Tuesday, the tall Tennessean told an airport news conference:

"It ill behooves him (Stevenson) to speak of mud-slinging. For some months he has been making personal and unfounded attacks on me.

"When he first made these charges I would turn first one cheek and then the other."

Stevenson yesterday charged that Kefauver is "engaging in mud-slinging tactics that will hurt the Democratic party."

Both aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination toured the Los Angeles area today. While Kefauver was rejecting Stevenson's suggestion of an intraparty truce Stevenson largely ignored the senator and concentrated on assailing policies of the Eisenhower administration.

University Expels 58 Panty Raiders

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 31 (AP)—The University of Kansas today reported the dismissal of 58 students for participating in a panty raid on the Alpha Chi Omega sorority at Baker University in Baldwin, Kan.

No names were released by the university. Minimum terms of the dismissals vary but each man must meet certain stipulations before any application for readmission will be considered.

An estimated 80 to 100 students took part in the raid May 21. The sorority house was damaged and dressing robes were torn off three coeds. Fights also broke out between the invaders and Baker University men students. Kansas University and Baker are about 12 miles apart.

Md. Income Tax Yield Increases

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP) — The chief of Maryland's Income Tax Division, pointing to 80 million dollars already in the bank, predicted today that income tax receipts will top the estimated yield of $80,890,500.

Benjamin F. Marsh, chief of the income tax division of the comptroller's office, said the State took in 47 million last year.

Reasons for the increase, of course, are the withholding pay-as-you-go system, a half per cent increase in the corporate income tax, and accelerated payments under which quarterly installments are no longer permitted.

Taxpayers had to pay half of their 1955 tax, representing the six months before the withholding system was started, in a lump sum with their return this year. Heretofore, they had been able to string out the tax payment in quarterly installments.

As to the amount receipts will exceed estimates, Marsh said, "I can't give an exact figure at this time. But, we can tell by the amount we now have in the bank that we will exceed estimates."

Judd "Heard" Of Plot To Keep Dulles "On Go"

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn) said today he had heard of a plot to keep Secretary of Dulles roaming the globe so underlings could determine foreign policy in Washington, as Old Guard holdovers from the Dean Acheson regime. At another point he said "pro-Communists" or "intellectuals" in lower echelons of the State and Defense Departments are pulling strings and influencing the policy of higher-up officials of the Eisenhower administration.

Judd, a former medical missionary in China, testified before a Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The State Department had no comment.

The congressman, who is a top Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, testified that back in 1953 after the inauguration of President Eisenhower, a State Department employe told him of the alleged plot.

He said the employe explained that "the Old Guard employes" of the department who had served under Secretary Acheson in the Truman administration meant to keep Dulles on the global go. By so doing, the explanation continued, the day-to-day actions they took in Dulles' absence would become policy.

After the hearing, Judd told newsmen his informant was a department employe who had fought the Old Guard employes.

A reporter remarked on Dulles' frequent and extensive overseas trips and asked Judd whether he thought the plan reported to him had been carried out.

"You can judge for yourself," he replied.

In saying state and defense officials seemed to be influenced by underling pro-Communists, Judd testified:

"I don't see how they could come to the conclusions they do if that were not the case."

Mollet's Critics Assail Tunisia, Morocco Policy

PARIS, May 31 (AP) — A crucial three-day debate on the whole range of Premier Guy Mollet's policies opened today with irate denunciations of independence for Tunisia and Morocco.

Mollet's opposition had been expected to open with a barrage against his program for Algeria—where a 19-month-old nationalist rebellion is mounting in violence against a big buildup of French forces.

Instead, the opening speakers in the National Assembly debate dwelt on what they called the errors of freeing Tunisia and Morocco from French control. Neither of these protectorates is quite fully and formally independent yet.

Both Tunisia and Morocco were accused of undermining the French position in Algeria. France calls Algeria a part of France itself and says it is not eligible for independence from the homeland.

Jacques Isorni, an independent representing a Paris district, asserted France's North African troubles started when former Premier Pierre Mendes-France flew to Tunisia in 1954 and promised to give that protectorate internal autonomy in order to get nationalists there to lay down their arms. Shortly after this was granted, the Tunisians demanded full independence, and extracted a promise of it from the Mollet government in a form that the French call interdependence.

Now, even before the National Assembly has had a chance to vote on this, the Tunisians are talking about naming ambassadors and recruiting an army, Isorni said. He added that he would not approve the Tunisiaian agreement.

Soviet Diplomat Named As Spy

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Senate investigators today made public secret testimony naming Sergei Tichvinski, recently appointed head of a Soviet trade mission to Japan, as a Russian spy.

The testimony was given behind closed doors yesterday to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee by Yuri Rastvorov, a former lieutenant colonel in the Soviet secret police who defected to the West in 1954 in Tokyo.

Rastvorov said Tichvinski, using a diplomatic cover, served as a Soviet espionage agent in China for about 10 years, from 1940 to 1950, and later was chief of intelligence for the MVD—secret police—in England.

In China, Rastvorov said, Tichvinski recruited Japanese prisoners of war to work as Soviet intelligence agents on their return to Japan.

Rastvorov testified that his defection "caused the break-up of the Soviet agent net in Japan" and that the appointment of Tichvinski was evidence of their desire to build up a new spy network in Japan.

Man Who Led Chase "Mentally Disturbed"

FORT LEE, N. J., May 31 (AP)—Joseph Fisher, a Baltimore businessman who led police on a 15-mile bullet-spattered chase through the Lincoln Tunnel and up to the George Washington Bridge yesterday, was described today as "definitely mentally disturbed."

Fisher, 38, was confined to the psychiatric section of Bergen Pines Hospital at Paramus overnight and examined by Dr. Noel Galen, a psychiatrist, this morning.

Fisher escaped unscathed in the chase although his 1956 Cadillac bore 14 bullet holes. The padding in the driver's seat stopped one bullet.

Police said Fisher reached speeds up to 95 miles an hour as he roared through the toll gates of the tunnel, the N.J. Turnpike and ended up at the bridge. The chase began with his arrest for triple parking in New York.

North Korea has 400,000 troops, plus many Red Chinese still in the country. South Korea has about 600,000 men in its army.

Gard, informing newsmen here of the instructions to the truce commission, said its teams are expected to be pulled back to the the neutral zone between North and South Korea within a week. No reply has been received, he said, but the U.N. "will take what action is necessary without losing propriety" if the commission fails to halt its operations in South Korea.

Judd, a former medical missionary in China, testified before a Senate Internal Security subcommittee. The State Department had no comment.

The congressman, who is a top Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, testified that back in 1953 after the inauguration of President Eisenhower, a State Department employe told him of the alleged plot.

He said the employe explained that "the Old Guard employes" of the department who had served under Secretary Acheson in the Truman administration meant to keep Dulles on the global go. By so doing, the explanation continued, the day-to-day actions they took in Dulles' absence would become policy.

After the hearing, Judd told newsmen his informant was a department employe who had fought the Old Guard employes.

A reporter remarked on Dulles' frequent and extensive overseas trips and asked Judd whether he thought the plan reported to him had been carried out.

"You can judge for yourself," he replied.

In saying state and defense officials seemed to be influenced by underling pro-Communists, Judd testified:

"I don't see how they could come to the conclusions they do if that were not the case."

Soviet Diplomat Named As Spy

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Senate investigators today made public secret testimony naming Sergei Tichvinski, recently appointed head of a Soviet trade mission to Japan, as a Russian spy.

The testimony was given behind closed doors yesterday to the Senate Internal Security subcommittee by Yuri Rastvorov, a former lieutenant colonel in the Soviet secret police who defected to the West in 1954 in Tokyo.

Rastvorov said Tichvinski, using a diplomatic cover, served as a Soviet espionage agent in China for about 10 years, from 1940 to 1950, and later was chief of intelligence for the MVD—secret police—in England.

In China, Rastvorov said, Tichvinski recruited Japanese prisoners of war to work as Soviet intelligence agents on their return to Japan.

Rastvorov testified that his defection "caused the break-up of the Soviet agent net in Japan" and that the appointment of Tichvinski was evidence of their desire to build up a new spy network in Japan.

Man Who Led Chase "Mentally Disturbed"

FORT LEE, N. J., May 31 (AP)—Joseph Fisher, a Baltimore businessman who led police on a 15-mile bullet-spattered chase through the Lincoln Tunnel and up to the George Washington Bridge yesterday, was described today as "definitely mentally disturbed."

Fisher, 38, was confined to the psychiatric section of Bergen Pines Hospital at Paramus overnight and examined by Dr. Noel Galen, a psychiatrist, this morning.

Fisher escaped unscathed in the chase although his 1956 Cadillac bore 14 bullet holes. The padding in the driver's seat stopped one bullet.

U N Command

North Korea has 400,000 troops, plus many Red Chinese still in the country. South Korea has about 600,000 men in its army.

Gard, informing newsmen here of the instructions to the truce commission, said its teams are expected to be pulled back to the the neutral zone between North and South Korea within a week. No reply has been received, he said, but the U.N. "will take what action is necessary without losing propriety" if the commission fails to halt its operations in South Korea.

TB May Lose Power To Cause Infection

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP) — TB germs can develop an iron jaw against the knockout punch of isoniazid, but in doing so they may lower power to cause infection.

Evidence that some strains lose infective power this way in monkeys, at least, was reported recently to the National Tuberculosis Assn.'s annual meeting.

If the same is true in man, it is a hopeful sign for better control of this still - prevalent disease. Some 50 million Americans are estimated to be harboring live TB germs.

Strains of TB germs resistant to isoniazid, one of the main TB drugs, were inoculated into monkeys' lungs by a team of researchers headed by L. D. Schmidt, Ph.D., of the Christ Hospital Institute of Medical Research, Cincinnati.

None of five strains caused lung disease even when a million germs were inoculated. Two strains appeared harmless on doses of 10 million germs, while the others produced infection that disappeared spontaneously later on.

This indicates that resistant strains are much less virulent and less capable of causing disease than TB germs which still are sensitive to isoniazid, Dr. Schmidt said.

TB in monkeys takes a form more closely resembling the human disease than TB in mice or guinea pigs.

In another experiment, 20 strains of germs known or believed to be resistant, and all obtained from human patients, were inoculated into monkeys' lungs.

One-third of the strains never produced signs of disease. Another third produced lung lesions which later disappeared. The other third caused extensive lung infections, but these were rarely fatal. While these latter strains still were disease producers, they were less so than strains of germs which still are affected by isoniazid.

Coauthors of the reports were Richard Hoffman, Albert A. Grover, Ph. D., Jeanne Rehm and Paul N. Jolly, M. D.

New Leader Of Jordan's Army Reorganizes Forces

AMMAN, Jordan, May 31 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Ali Abu Nuwar, new commander of Jordan's army, is wasting no time in launching the reorganization of his forces. His undisguised aim is to eliminate both foreign influences and any challenge to his complete authority.

Already the army's name has been changed from the Arab Legion to the Jordan Arab army. This accomplishes two purposes. It discards the name given the army by the British and it adds a nationalistic touch.

But, according to his own statements and reliable reports, it is only the first of many changes planned by the 33-year-old chief of staff appointed by King Hussein last week.

Informants say Abu Nuewar intends to break nearly all the army's traditions—British traditions instilled by the Arab Legion's creator and commander for 26 years, Lt. Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb, and dozens of other British officers.

Even the colorful and distinguished headdress may be discarded—apparently only because Glubb adopted it when he designed the legion's uniforms. This red-checked scarf secured on the head by black bands and called a kafie, is traditional among Arabs. It is warm in winter and protection against searing sun and sandstorms in the summer. Abu Nuwar is said to favor more modern headgear.

The young commander's appointment was not received with undiluted enthusiasm by his fellow officers. An intimate friend of the young King, he was promoted from lieutenant colonel to major general when he was named commander by royal decree.

People 100 Years From Now May Be Living In Fantastic New Stone Age

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Our life 100 years from now may well be like this, three prominent scientists forecast recently:

We'll be living in a fantastic new Stone Age, a rich but last stop for industrial civilization.

It will literally be a stone age, for we should be getting most of our atomic power, and 20 or 30 metals and minerals include iron from ordinary rock or stone.

We'll have to use ordinary rock because coal, iron, uranium and other deposits of natural resources will be gone.

All would have been eaten up by our tremendously expanding world population—maybe 7 billion humans in the year 2050 instead of 2.6 billions now—demanding the present good things and more from industrial civilizations spreading over the globe.

Rocks, and the sun and ocean and air, could keep this huge population going for thousands of years. This stone age would use up each year only enough rock to form a layer one-eighth of an inch thick over the world's land masses. A mile depth of rock could last half a million years.

But if this machine civilization was halted by some catastrophe—like H-bombs—man could never rebuild another industrial civilization. He would have no source of power or natural resources to do it again, to get the machines going. Rocks would be merely rocks again. Man would fall into a permanent Dark Ages.

We needn't lack for food in this stone age. We might have new breeds of green plants supplying foods that looked like steak and eggs. We might have domesticated "sea pigs," some new kind of vegetarian beast grazing the oceans to turn microscopic plant life into protein foods, as cows do with grass.

But all this isn't likely, and we face other troubles earlier, unless we stop wasting our brain power, unless we produce more engineers and scientists, and learn how to encourage creative thinking.

Women — more of them becoming engineers and scientists as is happening in Russia — could be part of the answer to the key problem of more brain power to keep the world going.

These are some highlights of a look into the future being given to industrial leaders over the country by three California Institute of Technology (Caltech) scientists.

The conferences are aimed at developing "a new and significant method by which an educational institution may assist industry in evaluating the technical factors that influence its long-range planning," explains Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, Caltech president.

The scientists — Dr. Harrison Brown, professor of geochemistry; Dr. James F. Bonner, professor of biology; and Dr. John R. Weir, associate professor of psychology—presented the same report in a news conference here.

They are optimistic that mankind can solve the problems brought by expanding population and shrinking natural resources—if he tries hard enough and applies brain power.

Dr. Weir said we can meet the needs for brain to solve coming problems, "but it won't occur accidentally. Only a deliberate and sustained effort by everyone concerned — education, government and industry— can mobilize the forces necessary to meet the challenge."

Tribute To Press

OTTAWA, May 31 (AP)—The new U.S. ambassador to Canada, Livingston Merchant, paid tribute to the power of the press at his first news conference in Ottawa. He and his wife and collie dog were photographed on their arrival and two days later the dog was lost. It was recognized by its picture and returned within 24 hours.

Bonn's Gift To Russia

Marriage Ban Sought

BAGHDAD, May 31 (AP)—Former Premier Fadhil Jamali is campaigning against a proposed law that would ban marriages between Iraqi diplomats and foreigners. He told Parliament: "I see no reason to ban marriage to a Pakistani or Iranian or Turk because all these three countries are our allies." He is married to an American.

You will pour Wisk into your washer. It will get your family wash so clean and white that you will never use a powder detergent again!

New, blue WISK is the first detergent of its kind ever made. It is a new formula — completely different from anything else you ever tried.

In the first place, it is a liquid that you pour into your washing machine. It goes to work the instant it hits water. There's no waiting for powders to dissolve.

But, more important, new WISK is concentrated. It does three times as much wash as the same amount of powder. And it does a better job, too. For it gives you a concentrated washing power completely unequaled by any powder. Besides, new WISK is safe for hands, safe for fabrics — safe as only a liquid can be.

MAKES ANY WASHER TURN OUT A CLEANER AND A WHITER FAMILY WASH!

Never again need you take a napkin out of your washer and find a gravy stain still in it. Never again need you find a lipstick stain left in a hand towel or a grease spot in a suit of coveralls. For concentrated liquid WISK penetrates deep down into the cloth fibers in a way that no powder is able to. Safely, but, oh, so thoroughly, it pulls out stubborn stains, removes hidden dirt, gets everything spotlessly clean.

And wait till you see what WISK does for the collars and cuffs of your husband's shirts! Without bluing or bleach, it gets white things up to three shades whiter with the first wash no matter what detergent you used in the past. In fact, WISK gets all your family wash so wonderfully clean you can even smell the difference between a WISK wash and one done with another product!

FIRST REALLY ALL-PURPOSE DETERGENT!

You will use WISK for just about every cleaning job in your home! It makes quick work of dishes: Soaks them clean. Concentrated liquid WISK wipes grease off a stove or kitchen wall. It makes old, discolored linoleum look like new. And if your kitchen cabinets have yellowed with age, it washes them white and shiny again without scratching or marring the surface in any way.

New, blue, liquid WISK does the toughest cleaning jobs quicker, easier, and more safely than products specially designed for these tasks. Now you can put those harsh and dangerous chemicals in the garbage can where they belong!

NO MORE MESSY, SNEEZY POWDERS! NO MORE CLUTTERED SHELVES!

And what a blessing WISK is! It does away with "washday hay fever." The handy can does away with clumsy boxes that get soggy and fall apart. It does away with messy powders that spill. And because WISK does so many jobs so well, it means that you don't have to clutter up your shelves with a box for this, a bottle for that, and all those other packages a woman used to need to keep her home clean.

WISK IS UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED BY LEVER BROTHERS!

We've promised a good deal for WISK in this advertisement, but we mean every word we've said. In fact, we guarantee them. We've had them checked by Good Housekeeping Institute and by Parents' magazine. And if you don't agree that every word is true, that WISK is the best detergent you've ever used — not just as good, but the BEST! — we at Lever Brothers will return the purchase price to you . . . plus postage! So start using WISK today! It's at grocers and supermarkets in pint and quart sizes.

WISK washes clothes whiter than any powder ever made! Without bluing or bleach, it gets white things up to three shades whiter with the very first wash!

WISK rinses away cleaner than any powder ever made! WISK rinses away as only a liquid can! Leaves no undissolved powder or soap scum to scorch when ironing.

WISK removes more stains than any powder! Wet stain with water. Spread WISK directly on stain. Put in machine with rest of wash. WISK gets everything clean.

WISK is safer, much safer, than any powder ever made! WISK is safe as only a liquid can be, safe for anything that's safe in water. Kind to hands. And no sneezes!

You haven't washed your cleanest wash ...until you've washed with Wisk!

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Our life 100 years from now may well be like this, three prominent scientists forecast recently:

We'll be living in a fantastic new Stone Age, a rich but last stop for industrial civilization.

It will literally be a stone age, for we should be getting most of our atomic power, and 20 or 30 metals and minerals include iron from ordinary rock or stone.

We'll have to use ordinary rock because coal, iron, uranium and other deposits of natural resources will be gone.

All would have been eaten up by our tremendously expanding world population—maybe 7 billion humans in the year 2050 instead of 2.6 billions now—demanding the present good things and more from industrial civilizations spreading over the globe.

Rocks, and the sun and ocean and air, could keep this huge population going for thousands of years. This stone age would use up each year only enough rock to form a layer one-eighth of an inch thick over the world's land masses. A mile depth of rock could last half a million years.

But if this machine civilization was halted by some catastrophe—like H-bombs—man could never rebuild another industrial civilization. He would have no source of power or natural resources to do it again, to get the machines going. Rocks would be merely rocks again. Man would fall into a permanent Dark Ages.

We needn't lack for food in this stone age. We might have new breeds of green plants supplying foods that looked like steak and eggs. We might have domesticated "sea pigs," some new kind of vegetarian beast grazing the oceans to turn microscopic plant life into protein foods, as cows do with grass.

But all this isn't likely, and we face other troubles earlier, unless we stop wasting our brain power, unless we produce more engineers and scientists, and learn how to encourage creative thinking.

Women — more of them becoming engineers and scientists as is happening in Russia — could be part of the answer to the key problem of more brain power to keep the world going.

These are some highlights of a look into the future being given to industrial leaders over the country by three California Institute of Technology (Caltech) scientists.

The conferences are aimed at developing "a new and significant method by which an educational institution may assist industry in evaluating the technical factors that influence its long-range planning," explains Dr. Lee A. Dubridge, Caltech president.

The scientists — Dr. Harrison Brown, professor of geochemistry; Dr. James F. Bonner, professor of biology; and Dr. John R. Weir, associate professor of psychology—presented the same report in a news conference here.

They are optimistic that mankind can solve the problems brought by expanding population and shrinking natural resources—if he tries hard enough and applies brain power.

Dr. Weir said we can meet the needs for brain to solve coming problems, "but it won't occur accidentally. Only a deliberate and sustained effort by everyone concerned — education, government and industry— can mobilize the forces necessary to meet the challenge."

Tribute To Press

OTTAWA, May 31 (AP)—The new U.S. ambassador to Canada, Livingston Merchant, paid tribute to the power of the press at his first news conference in Ottawa. He and his wife and collie dog were photographed on their arrival and two days later the dog was lost. It was recognized by its picture and returned within 24 hours.

Bonn's Gift To Russia

Marriage Ban Sought

BAGHDAD, May 31 (AP)—Former Premier Fadhil Jamali is campaigning against a proposed law that would ban marriages between Iraqi diplomats and foreigners. He told Parliament: "I see no reason to ban marriage to a Pakistani or Iranian or Turk because all these three countries are our allies." He is married to an American.

You will pour Wisk into your washer. It will get your family wash so clean and white that you will never use a powder detergent again!

New, blue WISK is the first detergent of its kind ever made. It is a new formula — completely different from anything else you ever tried.

In the first place, it is a liquid that you pour into your washing machine. It goes to work the instant it hits water. There's no waiting for powders to dissolve.

But, more important, new WISK is concentrated. It does three times as much wash as the same amount of powder. And it does a better job, too. For it gives you a concentrated washing power completely unequaled by any powder. Besides, new WISK is safe for hands, safe for fabrics — safe as only a liquid can be.

MAKES ANY WASHER TURN OUT A CLEANER AND A WHITER FAMILY WASH!

Never again need you take a napkin out of your washer and find a gravy stain still in it. Never again need you find a lipstick stain left in a hand towel or a grease spot in a suit of coveralls. For concentrated liquid WISK penetrates deep down into the cloth fibers in a way that no powder is able to. Safely, but, oh, so thoroughly, it pulls out stubborn stains, removes hidden dirt, gets everything spotlessly clean.

And wait till you see what WISK does for the collars and cuffs of your husband's shirts! Without bluing or bleach, it gets white things up to three shades whiter with the first wash no matter what detergent you used in the past. In fact, WISK gets all your family wash so wonderfully clean you can even smell the difference between a WISK wash and one done with another product!

FIRST REALLY ALL-PURPOSE DETERGENT!

You will use WISK for just about every cleaning job in your home! It makes quick work of dishes: Soaks them clean. Concentrated liquid WISK wipes grease off a stove or kitchen wall. It makes old, discolored linoleum look like new. And if your kitchen cabinets have yellowed with age, it washes them white and shiny again without scratching or marring the surface in any way.

New, blue, liquid WISK does the toughest cleaning jobs quicker, easier, and more safely than products specially designed for these tasks. Now you can put those harsh and dangerous chemicals in the garbage can where they belong!

NO MORE MESSY, SNEEZY POWDERS! NO MORE CLUTTERED SHELVES!

And what a blessing WISK is! It does away with "washday hay fever." The handy can does away with clumsy boxes that get soggy and fall apart. It does away with messy powders that spill. And because WISK does so many jobs so well, it means that you don't have to clutter up your shelves with a box for this, a bottle for that, and all those other packages a woman used to need to keep her home clean.

CUTTING CAKE—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Douglas Jackson cut their wedding cake as their attendants, Mrs. Marshall W. Ramsey and G. H. Duckett watch.

Norman Douglas Jackson Weds Geraldine Nuckoles

The marriage of Mrs. Geraldine Higgins Nuckoles, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Higgins, Staunton, Va., and the late Mr. Higgins, to Norman Douglas Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Jackson, 419 Broadway, was solemnized May 18.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Carrington Paulette in the chapel of First Baptist Church, Staunton, which was decorated with a basket of pink and white flowers and a candelabra of lighted tapers.

Mrs. Marshall W. Ramsey was the bride's matron of honor and only attendant. G. H. Duckett, Washington, served as Mr. Jackson's best man, while Tracy S. Gayhart and Morris L. Hudson were the ushers. A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Paulette.

The bride wore a pink organdy street-length dress, made with short sleeves and a jewel neckline, featuring rows of lace ruffles down the front. With it she wore pink and white accessories. A bouquet of white carnations and tube lilies completed her costume.

Her attendant was attired in a white organdy dress, made with a scooped neckline and inserts of lace in the bodice and skirt. With it she wore pink and white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremoney a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Jackson is employed at the American Safety Razor Corporation, Verona. Mr. Jackson, a graduate of Fort Hill High School, where he participated in basketball and track was assistant pro at the Cumberland Country Club before going to Virginia, where he is employed by the Macke Automatic Merchandising Corporation at the General Electric Plant, Waynesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside at 912 Baylor Street, Staunton.

Mary Lenore Young Is Entertained At Shower

Miss Rosemary Mullaney entertained in honor of Miss Mary Lenore Young with a bridal shower Tuesday evening at her home, 208 Washington Street.

Miss Young, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Francis Young, 432 Greene Street, is to become the bride of Casper Rohman Taylor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper Rohman Taylor, LaVale, June 16.

The wedding ceremony is to be performed at 11 a.m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church with Rev. Francis DeSales Young, O.F.M., Cap., of St. Charles Friary, St. Louis, Mo., officiating, and Rev. Valentine Young, O.F.M. Cap., of St. Fidelis Seminary, Herman, Pa., celebrant of the Nuptial high mass. Both are brothers of the bride-elect.

Spring flowers were used in the decorations throughout the house. The shower gifts were arranged in a pink crepe paper covered clothes basket, with a garland of artificial flowers covering the open ridge of the basket.

Varicolored pink flowers centered the refreshment table with candelabra of pink tapers at either side. Mrs. Thomas Mullaney and Mrs. Paul Foley assisted in serving refreshments.

Appropriate games were played and Miss Carole Ann Boyle entertained with vocal selections during the evening.

Other guests were Mrs. Betty Bess, Mrs. Frederick Constable, Mrs. Jackson Dohrman, Mrs. Thomas Higson, Miss Mae Howdyshell, Mrs. Lillian Klavuhn, Mrs. John McGeady, Mrs. William McKenzie, Mrs. Kathleen McSorley, Miss Rebekah Otto, Mrs. Brady Shanholtzer, Mrs. John Stilianos, Mrs. Eugene Strieby.

Mrs. Marlin Stutzman, Mrs. Raymond Swach, Mrs. Emerson Symons, Mrs. Donald Umstot, Mrs. D. D. Dellinger, Miss Dortha Stallings, Mrs. Vernon Northcraft, Mrs. Arthur Young, Mrs. Casper Taylor, Mrs. Ambrose McKenzie, Miss Catherine Murray, Miss Mary Ann Mackert, Miss Janet Stegmaier, Miss Leone Saeli, Miss Kathleen Mullaney and Mrs. Hazel Kemp.

Not More Than 40% Of Eligible Children In State Have Received Two Polio Shots

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—The Maryland State Department of Health today estimated that not more than 60 per cent of the eligible children in the State have been given one or more polio vaccination shots and not more than 40 per cent have received the course of two shots.

Dr. Edward Davens, deputy director of the Department, put the total number of eligibles between the ages of 1 to 15 at about 770,670.

The figures on which Dr. Davens based his estimates were as of May 15. He said there was no way to estimate the number of eligibles not interested in taking the shots.

The number of eligibles for Baltimore city was estimated at 266,920, and for the 23 counties, 530,750.

In Baltimore, about 138,000, or approximately 52 per cent, have had the first inoculation, and 94,700 or about 36 per cent have been given both injections.

In the counties, not more than 60 per cent have been given one or more inoculations, and not more than 40 per cent have received both shots, Dr. Davens said.

The figures included vaccine given by all sources, including private physicians. Available vaccine in the State is distributed at the rate of 70 per cent to private physicians and 30 per cent to the state.

Davens made it clear that the demand for polio vaccine still exceeds the supply, but said supplies have been increasingly more available since April with evidence that the rise will continue.

He said under present conditions only two shots should be given. It was explained that a third shot "is in the nature of a booster . . . which further increases the level of antibodies and helps to maintain them at a high level over a longer period of time."

Dr. Davens said "all accumulated evidence indicates that the degree of immunization produced by two inoculations is very satisfactory."

The health department will consider giving the third dose only after all eligibles have had a chance to get the two shots, he indicated.

Dr. Davens said it has not yet been determined at what intervals or how frequently further stimulating injections must be given. He added that nothing can be said about this until scientific research, now under way, has provided the answers.

The Department has received "remarkably few reports" of adverse reactions, such as sore arms. It has been recommended that the vaccine courses continue through the summer months.

For the calendar year, only one case of paralytic polio has been reported in Maryland. One occurred in January near the District of Columbia.

Dr. Davens warned that it would be dangerous to draw conclusions from this situation "since one of the well known characteristics of this disease is the variation of incidence from year to year."

Medical Board Official Agrees To Release Data

CAMBRIDGE, May 31 (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Reddick agreed today to release records, funds and property he had held as secretary-treasurer of the State Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners.

He interrupted a hearing to say he would acquiesce to the demands of four members of the board. They had asked for a court injunction to force Dr. Reddick to give up data pertaining to the official post.

The four other doctors claimed they removed Dr. Reddick from office April 4 because he gave examinations to unqualified persons.

Dr. Reddick's lawyer, Emerson Harrington, told Circuit Judge W. Laird Henry Jr. that his client was surrendering as hearings which began May 4 were about to resume after a luncheon recess.

At this morning's session, Dr. Reddick had admitted he issued a license to Dr. John Staphen of Miami, Fla., after an examination in the living room of his residence at Eastern Shore State Hospital where he is a psychiatrist.

Dr. Reddick said the only other person present was Dr. Simon Virkutis, also of the hospital.

Employes' Credit Union Treasurer Held In $2,000 Bail

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—Mrs. Rose M. Affayroux, 40, was held in $2,000 bail today on federal charges of embezzling $2,041 from the employes' credit union at the Bendix Radio Division.

U.S. Commission Ernest Volkart set the bail for the woman, treasurer of the credit union since 1954.

The FBI said the shortage was turned up during an audit by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mrs. Affayrox was arrested by the FBI today on a complaint charging the money was embezzled since April 1955.

Student's Second Trial Set June 13

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—The second trial of Gregory M. Delli-Pizzi, 25, on a charge of causing the death of Dr. Richard Marlowe Wick, 53, of Allentown, Pa., in a fight was changed today from June 4 to June 13.

Defense Atty. Harry Silbert was granted the extension by Judge Joseph L. Carter to study the transcript of the first trial, which resulted in a deadlocked jury two weeks ago.

Delli-Pizzi, a medical student from Weirton, W. Va. is accused of hitting and knocking down Wick in a hotel lobby Feb. 16. Wick, staying at the hotel while on a business trip to Baltimore, died two days later of a fractured skull.

Delli-Pizzi claimed at the trial Wick hit him first. The student said he wanted to talk to Wick about annoying a night club dancer who was Delli-Pizzi's fiance at the time and since has become his wife.

Letter Labelled Prank To Scare Negro Families

ANNAPOLIS, May 31 (AP) — A letter threatening violence if Anne Arundel County carries out its plan to desegregate the first three grades of school this fall was received by school officials today.

Police promptly labelled it a prank designed to scare Negro families and assured them they were ready to cope with any trouble.

The typed letter was postmarked Upper Marlboro, Md. and signed "The Vigilantees (sic)".

It claimed to be from an organization with a membership of 200 in Calvert and Anne Arundel counties and carried the following threat:

"It is our plan next September to enter any white schools of Anne Arundel and Calvert counties, in which there are colored pupils in attendance, and to remove those colored pupils, by force if need be, from the building. At this date we have over 200 men under solemn oath to carry out this plan."

Anne Arundel County Police Chief Wilbur C. Wade dismissed the letter as a "prank" and said: "If there is any violence we are definitely prepared to take care of it." He said he planned no special investigation of the incident.

Gov. McKeldin's office also received a copy of the letter. A spokesman said there would be no comment on it. McKeldin is currently in Europe.

Baltimore Cabbies Will Keep Eye Out For Stolen Cars

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—Five Baltimore cab companies have agreed to keep an eye out for stolen cars and use their two-way radio systems to help track down fleeing autos, police officials said today.

Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron said he hopes to have the plan in operation within the next few weeks.

Taxi drivers would be furnished a list of license numbers of stolen vehicles.

In the case of getaway cars, a description would be flashed to cabbies via radio. They would notify police if the cars are spotted.

American Kitchen Exhibit Attracts "Kremlin Twins"

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Interesting people, these Russians.

Suppose you had a couple in tow, like Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev, and were showing them the U. S. exhibits in a trade fair in New Delhi, India.

Where do you think they would spend the most time? At the atomic energy show maybe?

Well, Robert Warner, assistant director of trade fairs, had such a job.

"And we were running a little behind time," Warner said today, "so I figured we might as well pass up the U. S. kitchens. As we went by, the Russians noticed what was in there, and in they went.

"They didn't seem too impressed by some of our displays. Maybe they decided in advance not to pay much attention to our show on using the atom for peaceful purposes.

"But they really went for everything in the kitchens. They looked in the refrigerators, pulled out the ice trays, wanted to know how the ironing machines worked, and had a girl iron a handkerchief for them."

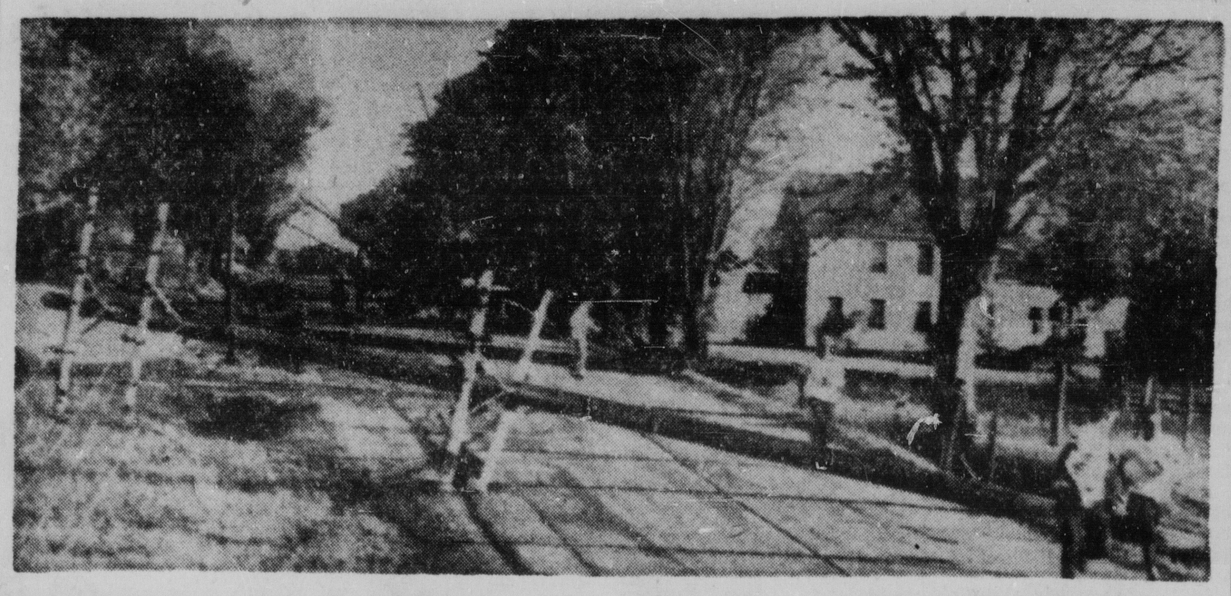
Another thing Warner reported: The do-it-yourself craze that has swept this country may eventually infect the Russians, with Khrushchev puttering about the Kremlin basement.

"He really got a kick out of our home power tools," Warner said.

Despite these down-to-earth traits, Warner said he was depressed by his 30 minutes with B. and K.

"In my job I show a lot of notables about. Kings, prime ministers, their wives. But I never met anything like these Russians. They're a couple of cold—." He paused, then added: "Let's just say they struck me as being very tough."

In England, during the time of Oliver Cromwell, there was a Puritan who named his four sons Lovewell, Dowell, Diewell and Farewell.



POLES BLOCK ROAD — Highway 76 at Stephensville, 12 miles northwest of Appleton, Wis., was blocked for hours after a violent line squall toppled trees and poles. Power service was out for over 24 hours. There was no estimate of total damage but loss on one farm was set at $50,000. No one was injured in the storm, accompanied by heavy hail and high winds. Junk Dealer Indicted

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP)—Nathan Levine, 40-year-old manager of a junk company in La Plata, was indicted recently on two charges of receiving stolen government property.

Levine is charged with receiving 3,500 pounds of scrap brass stolen from the U. S. Naval Gun Factory in Washington and 10 railroad rails weighing 12,000 pounds stolen from the Naval Air Station at Patuxent.

Picayune was a name used in Louisiana for a small Spanish coin. From this comes the phrase "not worth a picayune," meaning something of small importance.

Boy Hurt In Fall

Wayne Brant, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brant, 440 Seymour Street, was admitted Wednesday to Sacred Heart Hospital for X-rays and observation of an injury to his right arm, suffered in a fall while playing.

McCullough To Head Talbot County Schools

Raymond O. McCullough Jr., 44-year-old principal of Allegany High School, has been named superintendent of schools for Talbot County on the Eastern Shore.

McCullough, a native of Damascus, Va., is a graduate of Friendsville High School and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. McCullough Sr., reside in Friendsville six months of the year and the rest of the time in Clearwater, Fla.

McCullough was graduated from Washington College in 1932 and received his master's degree from Duke University. He is working on his doctorate at Penn State University.

He began his teaching career at Oakland and later taught at Friendsville High. During World War II he served three years with the Army in the Pacific theater of war as a sergeant. After his discharge he taught part of a year at Fort Hill High School and then at Allegany High and was principal of the former Central High School in Lonaconing from 1943 until 1952 when he was appointed principal at Allegany.

McCullough said he will assume his new post August 1 and his wife, the former Miss Jessie Guard of Garrett County and their daughter, Laura Lee, will join him later.

J. Willard Davis, the present superintendent, has headed the Talbot system since Aug. 1, 1935. He will retire Aug. 1, when McCullough takes over.

Davis has been in and out of Easton Memorial Hospital throughout the 1955-56 school term and has suffered several heart attacks. Arthur Higginbottom has been serving as acting superintendent.

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, 72-year-old daughter of the famous Russian novelist who wrote "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina," recently told a Senate subcommittee that she hoped the United States would not send a certain Soviet poet back to his native land.

"He would be killed," she testified matter-of factly.

(The Countess, who has been an American citizen for many years, has used her extensive knowledge of Russian affairs to help various investigations and studies conducted by the United States. At present, she is president of the Tolstoy Foundation, an organization set up to aid refugees from Iron curtain countries.)

Timely Reminder

When Countess Tolstoy made her statement about the Russian poet, whose life might be in danger if he returned home, the immense, marble-walled hearing room used by the subcommittee conducting the hearings was only one-quarter filled, but it seems to me that her words should be brought to the attention of every American.

In a rather terrifying way, those four words — "He would be killed" — provide us with a timely reminder that there is an underlying ruthlessness in certain areas of the world which are now professing to be interested in peace.

I say that the thought is "timely" because it comes as we are still thinking of Memorial Day and the sacrifices which have been made to keep our great nation free from tyranny.

Small Business Conference

This week I would like to mention another item of current interest.

As I have mentioned in past "Senate Cloakroom" newsletters, we have been working closely with officials of the Small Business Administration and the Baltimore Association of Commerce to make arrangements for next month's area conference on federal purchasing and procurement procedures.

Now the definite time and place for the meeting have been set.

The one-day conference, which will be open to all representatives of small business in the Maryland area who are interested in obtaining information on government contract work, is to be held at:

TIME — 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., June 21.

PLACE — Eastern High School, 33rd St. Loch Raven Road, Baltimore.

Don't forget! Top-level representatives of various agencies will be on hand to explain what their departments need and how they take care of their ordering.

Perhaps, after attending the meeting, Marylanders will be able to obtain many millions of dollars worth of additional federal contracts.

Red China Trade

SINGAPORE, May 31 (AP)—Chinese merchants here bought more than 38 million dollars worth of goods from Red China last year, the government Imports-Exports Division reports. They include frozen fish, meat, canned goods, butter, eggs, textiles, fabrics, industrial machinery and tobacco.

Flintstone Church Dedication Sunday

The Flintstone Assembly of God Church, which was organized May 22, will be dedicated at services Sunday at 2:30 p.m., according to Rev. James L. Tate, pastor.

The church was opened under the sponsorship of Central Assembly of God Church here, of which Rev. Mr. Tate is assistant pastor. The dedication sermon will be delivered by Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor of Central Assembly Church.

The first law paper in the west, the Chicago Legal News, was founded by Myra Bardwell in 1868.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, 72-year-old daughter of the famous Russian novelist who wrote "War and Peace" and "Anna Karenina," recently told a Senate subcommittee that she hoped the United States would not send a certain Soviet poet back to his native land.

"He would be killed," she testified matter-of factly.

(The Countess, who has been an American citizen for many years, has used her extensive knowledge of Russian affairs to help various investigations and studies conducted by the United States. At present, she is president of the Tolstoy Foundation, an organization set up to aid refugees from Iron curtain countries.)

Timely Reminder

When Countess Tolstoy made her statement about the Russian poet, whose life might be in danger if he returned home, the immense, marble-walled hearing room used by the subcommittee conducting the hearings was only one-quarter filled, but it seems to me that her words should be brought to the attention of every American.

In a rather terrifying way, those four words — "He would be killed" — provide us with a timely reminder that there is an underlying ruthlessness in certain areas of the world which are now professing to be interested in peace.

I say that the thought is "timely" because it comes as we are still thinking of Memorial Day and the sacrifices which have been made to keep our great nation free from tyranny.

Small Business Conference

This week I would like to mention another item of current interest.

As I have mentioned in past "Senate Cloakroom" newsletters, we have been working closely with officials of the Small Business Administration and the Baltimore Association of Commerce to make arrangements for next month's area conference on federal purchasing and procurement procedures.

Now the definite time and place for the meeting have been set.

The one-day conference, which will be open to all representatives of small business in the Maryland area who are interested in obtaining information on government contract work, is to be held at:

TIME — 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., June 21.

PLACE — Eastern High School, 33rd St. Loch Raven Road, Baltimore.

Don't forget! Top-level representatives of various agencies will be on hand to explain what their departments need and how they take care of their ordering.

Perhaps, after attending the meeting, Marylanders will be able to obtain many millions of dollars worth of additional federal contracts.

Red China Trade

SINGAPORE, May 31 (AP)—Chinese merchants here bought more than 38 million dollars worth of goods from Red China last year, the government Imports-Exports Division reports. They include frozen fish, meat, canned goods, butter, eggs, textiles, fabrics, industrial machinery and tobacco.

Flintstone Church Dedication Sunday

The Flintstone Assembly of God Church, which was organized May 22, will be dedicated at services Sunday at 2:30 p.m., according to Rev. James L. Tate, pastor.

The church was opened under the sponsorship of Central Assembly of God Church here, of which Rev. Mr. Tate is assistant pastor. The dedication sermon will be delivered by Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor of Central Assembly Church.

Atheist Forces Dwindle In U. S. As Interest Lags

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Things are quiet today in the atheist camp. Its ranks are scattered.

"To tell the truth, we aren't very active any more," said Charles Smith, long - time president of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Atheism.

As an organized movement, antireligion in the United States has dwindled to a mere skeleton of its onetime robust dimensions.

Local branches have died out. The so-called "Damned Souls" clubs are gone from college campuses. The old fire with which atheists once tangled with the churches has faded.

"Atheists aren't very good at keeping up organizations," said Joseph Lewis, president of the Freethinkers of America. "They're rather independent - minded."

His organization, which 20 years ago had branches in about 10 cities, now has none. It no longer has a paid headquarters staff. Its weekly meetings, which used to draw 200 people every Sunday, were abandoned in the 1940s.

Organized interest has lagged, Lewis said, because "the opposition isn't as strong as it used to be."

"There's been a considerable liberalizing of religion," he said. "The lines of conflict aren't as clearly drawn. But from the standpoint of intellectual growth, atheism is increasing."

Another organization of atheists and agnostics, the National Liberal League, also has shrunk radically. None of the approximately 200 local branches it had across the country in the 1930s now remain.

The association headed by Smith also has lost all the dozen or so local chapters it used to have. Its weekly lectures, which formerly averaged 400 paid admissions, now draw only a handful—admission free.

"It's hard to get anyone out for a meeting any more," Smith said.

Sale Of Brandy Banned

VIENNA, Austria, May 31 (AP)—Hungary's Communist government has banned the sale of brandy in restaurants, refreshment stands and theater bars. Budapest newspapers said the order was issued to "reduce drunkenness and brawling."

Avocado Problem

MONTREAL, May 31 (AP) — Great avocados from little pips grow—at least in the living room of a Montreal professor, Dimitri Ter-Assatouroff.

After eating an avocado pear 16 years ago, the professor planted the pip in a pot instead of tossing it into the garbage. It grew and grew and finally reached the ceiling. This week, Ter-Assatouroff gave it to a friend with a greenhouse. Now the only problem is how to get it out of his third-floor apartment.

MANILA, May 31 (AP) — A U.S. atomic survey team says it expects an Asian nuclear research center will be established in the Philippines within a year. It will be set up under President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

B&O Union Case Hearing Set In June

A hearing will be held in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit at Asheville, N. C., in a case involving five local B&O Railroad Company trainmen who have been discharged under the union shop provisions for failing to keep in good standing in the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen by not paying their union dues.

The appeal from Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins' order denying application for a temporary restraining order and for a preliminary injunction and dismissing the complaint for want of jurisdiction is scheduled for June 21 at 10 a. m. at Asheville.

Judge Watkins ruled in the case after about a week of testimony in Federal Court at Baltimore several months ago. The local men who docketed the court action are William R. Sampsell, Ray C. Resh, Milton R. Cockran, Daniel R. Noble and John W. Raupach, individually and for all other B&O employes as a class who are similarly situated.

Attorneys for the men are Harold E. Naughton, city, and I. Duke Avnet, Baltimore. The suit was brought against the B&O Railroad Company and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The men involved are employed mainly as brakemen, yard helpers, conductors and switchtenders. About 50 are involved in the dispute on the Cumberland Division.

The company ordered six of the workers discharged after they exhausted the steps of the local system appeals procedure. They were charged with non-compliance with the union shop contract for non-payment of union dues.

The other appellants of the group were previously ordered discharged for the same reason but they are awaiting the decision of their local system appeals and they expect the same ruling as the six mentioned.

Late in 1952 and early in 1953 when individually and not as a group the men became members of the United Railroad Operating Crafts. They joined in good faith, the defense attorneys say, believing it was fully qualified to represent them under the railroad act. When they joined it, they ceased paying dues to the BRT.

The BRT claims the UROC is not national in scope and therefore not qualified as a bargaining representative for the workers. After learning about litigation on this point, the appellants promptly and in good faith applied for reinstatement in the BRT. The Brotherhood denied the men reinstatement, attorneys Avnet and Naughton state in their brief to the Appeals Court.

Chapter To Elect

The Western Maryland Chapter of the Penn State Alumni Association will elect officers for 1956-57 at a dinner meeting next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The nominating committee will submit selections for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and delegate to the Penn State University Alumni Council, according to George D. Hankins, president.

Membership in the chapter is open to all graduates, graduate students and any former student having two years of residence instruction at Penn State.

IOOF Will Hold State Rally Tomorrow

A statewide rally for all branches of Oddfellowship will be held at Odd Fellows Home, Frederick, at noon Saturday.

All members of the order, their families and friends, have been invited to attend this rally which will consist of degree work by all branches, a basket picnic and a religious service in the evening.

Degree work will be conferred by the Patriarch Militant, Encampment and Subordinate lodges, as well as Ladies Auxiliary, Patriarch Militant, Theta Rho Girls, and Rebekahs.

A program of entertainment and games has been arranged for non-members during the conferring of degrees, with lunch scheduled at 4 p. m. Rev. William E. Hall, Methodist minister, Frederick, will conduct the religious service at the home at 6 p. m.

The appeal from Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins' order denying application for a temporary restraining order and for a preliminary injunction and dismissing the complaint for want of jurisdiction is scheduled for June 21 at 10 a. m. at Asheville.

Judge Watkins ruled in the case after about a week of testimony in Federal Court at Baltimore several months ago. The local men who docketed the court action are William R. Sampsell, Ray C. Resh, Milton R. Cockran, Daniel R. Noble and John W. Raupach, individually and for all other B&O employes as a class who are similarly situated.

Attorneys for the men are Harold E. Naughton, city, and I. Duke Avnet, Baltimore. The suit was brought against the B&O Railroad Company and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The men involved are employed mainly as brakemen, yard helpers, conductors and switchtenders. About 50 are involved in the dispute on the Cumberland Division.

The company ordered six of the workers discharged after they exhausted the steps of the local system appeals procedure. They were charged with non-compliance with the union shop contract for non-payment of union dues.

The other appellants of the group were previously ordered discharged for the same reason but they are awaiting the decision of their local system appeals and they expect the same ruling as the six mentioned.

Late in 1952 and early in 1953 when individually and not as a group the men became members of the United Railroad Operating Crafts. They joined in good faith, the defense attorneys say, believing it was fully qualified to represent them under the railroad act. When they joined it, they ceased paying dues to the BRT.

The BRT claims the UROC is not national in scope and therefore not qualified as a bargaining representative for the workers. After learning about litigation on this point, the appellants promptly and in good faith applied for reinstatement in the BRT. The Brotherhood denied the men reinstatement, attorneys Avnet and Naughton state in their brief to the Appeals Court.

Chapter To Elect

The Western Maryland Chapter of the Penn State Alumni Association will elect officers for 1956-57 at a dinner meeting next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The nominating committee will submit selections for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and delegate to the Penn State University Alumni Council, according to George D. Hankins, president.

Membership in the chapter is open to all graduates, graduate students and any former student having two years of residence instruction at Penn State.

IOOF Will Hold State Rally Tomorrow

A statewide rally for all branches of Oddfellowship will be held at Odd Fellows Home, Frederick, at noon Saturday.

All members of the order, their families and friends, have been invited to attend this rally which will consist of degree work by all branches, a basket picnic and a religious service in the evening.

Degree work will be conferred by the Patriarch Militant, Encampment and Subordinate lodges, as well as Ladies Auxiliary, Patriarch Militant, Theta Rho Girls, and Rebekahs.

A program of entertainment and games has been arranged for non-members during the conferring of degrees, with lunch scheduled at 4 p. m. Rev. William E. Hall, Methodist minister, Frederick, will conduct the religious service at the home at 6 p. m.

A rabbit's nest is called a form.

HONG KONG, May 31 (AP)—Red Chinese newspapers say a Cambodian government delegation has arrived in Peiping to sign an economic aid agreement.

Sale Of Brandy Banned

VIENNA, Austria, May 31 (AP)—Hungary's Communist government has banned the sale of brandy in restaurants, refreshment stands and theater bars. Budapest newspapers said the order was issued to "reduce drunkenness and brawling."

Avocado Problem

MONTREAL, May 31 (AP) — Great avocados from little pips grow—at least in the living room of a Montreal professor, Dimitri Ter-Assatouroff.

After eating an avocado pear 16 years ago, the professor planted the pip in a pot instead of tossing it into the garbage. It grew and grew and finally reached the ceiling. This week, Ter-Assatouroff gave it to a friend with a greenhouse. Now the only problem is how to get it out of his third-floor apartment.

Asian Research Center

MANILA, May 31 (AP) — A U.S. atomic survey team says it expects an Asian nuclear research center will be established in the Philippines within a year. It will be set up under President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan.

WRECKED TRAIN—The air view (top photo) shows the wrecked engine and two cars of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's National Limited as they came to a stop yesterday after crashing into a giant boulder just outside a tunnel near Parkersburg, W. Va. White spot at the right is the point from which the rock broke loose, smashed the top of the tunnel and landed on the track. Boulder pieces are on both sides of the track and in the stream. The engineer and the fireman were killed. Lower photo shows wreck crane at lower left moving into position for attempt to lift smashed locomotive from creek bed where it came to stop. (AP Photofax)

Story About Mary And Little Lamb Revised, Doubled

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP)—The story about Mary and her little lamb was revised and doubled today.

Ida and Mary Lyons, 16-year-old farm twins from Oswego, Ill., and their brother, Billy, 11, helped plant 125 acres of corn over Memorial Day. As a reward their father said he would take them to Chicago to a movie.

The twins refused to go without taking their twin 6-week-old Hereford calves. Billy insisted on taking along his bantam rooster and chickens.

Their father loaded the children and the livestock into a truck and drove them to Chicago. At the movie the stock was penned in the lobby while the kids watched the show.

Freight Carloadings Reach High For 1956

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Railroad freight carloadings reached a 1956 high last week with a total handle of 788,297 cars, the Assn. of American Railroads reported today.

This total, largest for any single week since Nov. 12, 1955, was 9,300 cars or 1.2 per cent above the preceding week 2,708 cars or 0.3 per cent above the corresponding week last year, and 99,005 cars or 14.4 per cent above the same week two years ago.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Emily will pass! See what Mabel will do."

On The Line
by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, May 31—(INS)—The H-bomb, burly as six sticks of TNT each the size of the Washington Monument, has killed one man so far in Operation Redwing—and then only indirectly. His plane went out of control one day when test "Cherokee"—the H-bomb drop—almost was held.

The nation's automobiles, whose combined power wouldn't cause an H-bomb to sneeze, will kill hundreds of people between now and next Monday morning.

The difference, of course, is the approach. If the Atomic Energy Commission was in charge of the country's highways, and enforced the same precautions as we lived under in the Eniwetok proving ground, the road toll would be but a fraction of what it actually promises to be in the next few days.

They took us to the little islet called Runit one day, near Eniwetok, to see the hole dug by and the destruction parceled out by what some of the experts guessed was a peanut-sized H-bomb. About half a mile from what had been the shack where the gizzmo went off, our truck stopped and we were ordered out of it and into a tent. There we were fitted with coveralls, nehru-like caps to put on under our ordinary headgear if any, thick canvas boots to slip on over our shoes, and adhesive tape to lash the pants legs to the shoes.

Two fountain pen-like devices were stuck in our pockets to record the radioactivity on the ground over which we would then be taken.

The AEC people walked us to within about 75 yards of crater. A huge construction man from California with hands like hams refused to accompany us. "I've had my dosage for the month," he said rather grimly. From the looks of him he didn't seem vulnerable to anything short of a bazooka. The remnants of the test shack littered the ground for a mile around. Two 16-inch steel pipes (half-inch steel) had been crushed, battered and ripped to pieces for half a mile of their length. But that was nothing. The danger was still around and everybody knew it. Men looked at their dosimeters to see what radiation they were picking up. The wreckage was as impersonal as the battered hulk of a car seen along the road as one whips by at 80.

The danger was still on the road at Runit. But here it was known and appreciated. On the U. S. highway—"it can't happen to me."

Maybe we should have a form of dosimeter for every motorist. A device that sounds an alarm at excessive speeds or sets off a recording of "and sudden death" or something of that dire nature might take hold of the imagination of the motorist. Surely, he has an imagination. So many of his species believe sincerely they are Barney Oldfield.

Sometimes it seems to me we encourage the young driver to be squirrely. The other night at Asbury Park, N. J., the main thing the kids I took there wanted to ride on was the "bumper cars." A popular kids program in New York, on Channel 5, is a monstrosity called "Jalopy Races From Hollywood." It features "wreck of the week," and shows it in action.

The whole mood is that every red-blooded American boy in the audience should emulate the underpaid stiffs who make a living in a calling largely dependent on the quantity of the crashes.

Happy motoring. Wear your dosimeter.

Congressional Viewpoint
by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — The ceaseless struggle between freedom and communism came closer to grips last week with the recognition of Red China by Egypt. Thereby, it is widely believed that the stage is set for another attempt to gain admission to the United Nations for Communist China. It is anticipated that out of the shadows of the iron curtain other countries will join in supporting this new drive to obtain a cloak of respectability for an aggressor nation.

This development poses many crucial questions, not the least important of which are these two: (1) What is the true relationship between Soviet Russia and Red China? and (2) How can this campaign in deceit be repulsed?

As to the first question, U. S. News and World Report magazine has published a condensed version of a book, titled "At Last — The True Story of Red China," written by a businessman, released only recently after more than 30 years in that country, which includes these timely statements: "The fact is, China has been conquered almost as thoroughly as if there had been a direct Soviet military invasion, followed by the establishment of a Russian-model military government that could control the cumulative power of 580 million people . . ." Also, "Superficially it appears that the ties between the Soviet Union and Communist China are ones of partnership based on an identity of interest rather than domination of one by the other. But the evidence presented in this book demonstrates that China today is a giant slave state being exploited by the Soviet Union to conquer all of Asia as a major step toward world domination." Obviously, to admit Red China to the United Nations would be merely to extend and strengthen the tenacles of world communism.

To answer the second point, it may become necessary for the United States to exercise the much discussed "veto" in the United Nations. The alacrity and frequency with which the Russians have used, or misused, this unusual power should dispel any moral or procedural reservations held by many Americans. Significant here is the incontrovertible evidence that the United States, in shouldering the burden in Korea, lost 33,000 young men with another 110,000 wounded or maimed—a costly sacrifice for the cause of freedom which Egypt and a few other countries blithely ignore in their mad haste to do "the devil's bidding."

I shall continue to oppose, with all the vigor I can summon, the admission of Red China to the United Nations. The American people must face this issue squarely.

Bacon Dressing

With fresh spinach coming to the produce markets in larger quantities, here's a suggestion for a tempting dressing. Cook diced bacon until crisp, add 1 tablespoon vinegar for each 2 tablespoons bacon and drippings. Heat and pour over spinach.

Deaths And Funerals In Tri-State Area

MRS. JESSIE HUTCHESON

Mrs. Jessie R. Hutcheson, 84, of 133 Hanover Street, died yesterday morning at the Allegany County Infirmary where she had been a patient the past five years.

A native of Lonaconing, she was a daughter of the late John and Elizabeth (Jackson) Whitefield. Her husband, Montgomery Hutcheson, preceded her in death.

She was a member of First Baptist Church and had resided in Cumberland for more than 35 years.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth McNaught, Waterbury, Conn.; Mrs. Mary McKenna, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Nettie Lucas, this city, and Mrs. Margaret Enders, York, Pa.; a son, William J. Hutcheson, this city; eight grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Kight Funeral Home. The family requests that flowers be omitted.

MRS. MELVIN BUTLER

GRANTSVILLE — Mrs. Arminta Catherine Butler, 66, wife of Melvin Butler, died Tuesday in Meyersdale (Pa.) Community Hospital where she had been admitted the day before. She had been in failing health some time.

She was a daughter of the late Joshia and Jenny (Cramer) Durst. Mrs. Butler was a member of Grantsville Lutheran Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are seven sons, Lloyd Butler, Cumberland; Robert Butler, at home; Harold Butler, Grantsville; Arthur Butler, who is stationed with the Army at Fort Meade; Ray Butler, Meyersdale; Claude Butler, of Oklahoma, and Faye Butler, Baltimore; five daughters, Mrs. Beulah Merrbach, Grantsville; Mrs. Mary Brown, at home; Mrs. Fern Fitzpatrick, Baltimore; Mrs. Florence Thorp, Frostburg, and Mrs. Joann Resh, Accident. Two brothers, Arthur Durst, Pittsburgh, and Harry Durst, Acosta, Pa.; four sisters, Mrs. Anna Benson, Connellsville, Pa.; Mrs. Mary Beam, Somerset, Pa., and Mrs. Effie Ross and Mrs. Norah Ross, both of Bownton, Pa.; 33 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body will remain at the Newman Funeral Home until 1 p. m. Saturday when it will be taken to Grantsville Lutheran Church for services at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. Richarl Gambling. Interment will be in Grantsville Cemetery.

CLIFTON H. BILL

KEYSER—Clifton Howard Bill, 51, Wilmington, Del., died Tuesday at Potomac Valley Hospital where he had been a patient one week.

He had been visiting relatives here when he became ill.

A native of Keyser, he was a son of the late John and Elizabeth (Kerns) Bill. He was employed as a pipefitter at the Terminal Hotel in Wilmington. His wife, Mrs. Vera (Michael) Bill, preceded him in death.

Survivors include two sons, Charles H. Bill, Moorefield, and Harry H. Bill, Oldlyne, Conn.; two daughters, Mrs. Glendora E. Barr, Ft. Shafter, Hawaii, and Miss Virginia Bill, Clarksville, Tenn.; two brothers, John and William E. Bill, both of Keyser; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, Keyser, and six grandchildren.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home where services will be conducted today at 2 p. m. by Rev. Robert Yoemans, pastor of Moorefield Lutheran Church. Interment will be in Queens Point Cemetery here.

ANTHONY H. PHILLIPS

Anthony H. Phillips, 68, New Kensington, Pa., died Wednesday at Salamanca, N. Y.

He is survived by two daughters, Ruth and Evelyn Phillips, both of Salamanca; a son stationed with the Army at Fort Knox, Ky.; two sisters, Mrs. Lena Luzier, Lincoln Park, Mich., and Straudie Schemer, Salamanca, and four brothers, Owens Phillips, Whitacre, Va.; Howard G. Phillips, Elkins; C. J. Phillips, Ridgeley, and Roscoe Phillips, Cumberland.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in Salamanca. Interment will be in Lime Stone, N. Y.

ODILO BAUMANN

LONACONING—Odilo Baumann, 67, operator of Baumann's Restaurant, Main Street, died suddenly Wednesday while at work.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said death was due to a heart attack.

A native of Lonaconing, he was born on December 15, 1888, a son of the late Joseph and Amelia (Kimpel) Baumann. He was a veteran of World War I, a charter member of James P. Love Post 92, American Legion, and a member of Georges Creek Lodge 181, AF & AM.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Marie Evelyn (Kaefer) Baumann; two daughters, Mrs. John E. Lambert, College Park, and Mrs. Arthur P. Cosing Jr., Arlington; a brother, Joseph Baumann, Cleveland; and a sister, Mrs. William Fraelick, Dallas, Texas.

The body will remain at the Eichhorn Funeral Home.

ABRAHAM L. ROBERTS

LONACONING — Abraham L. Roberts died Wednesday morning at his home in Pekin. He had been in ill health for some time.

A native of Barton, he was a son of the late James and Hannah (Johnson) Roberts.

He was employed as a filter plant operator at the Luke Plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company. He retired from the company in 1947. He was a member of the Barton Presbyterian Church and the Eagles Lodge of Davis, W. Va.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Margaret (Kiddy) Roberts; a daughter, Mrs. Merele Schildmeyer, Baltimore; a son, John Roberts, Barton; a brother, William Roberts, Westernport; a sister, Mrs. Cora Johnson, Piedmont, and a granddaughter.

The body is at the residence where services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Ellwood Carey, pastor of Barton Presbyterian Church. Interment will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery at Moscow.

L. ELLIOTT TURNER

PARSONS—L. Elliott Turner, 59, died Tuesday in Broaddus Hospital, Philippi, following an illness of several months. He had been seriously ill since Sunday.

Born at Harman, he was a son of the late Joseph and Helen (Kisamore) Turner. Mr. Turner was a veteran of World War I and held membership in Parsons Lodge 804, LOO Moose.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Angia (Carr) Turner; three brothers, Carl and Jospeh Turner, both of Hendricks, and Delbert Turner, Baltimore, and a sister, Mrs. Floda Arnold, Thomas.

The body will remain at the Greenlief Funeral Home where services will be conducted today at 2 p. m. by Rev. Mrs. Lillie Plaugher. Interment will be in McNeely Cemetery, Hendricks.

EDWARD V. SMITH

PETERSBURG — Edward Vossler Smith, 86, a retired farmer, died Tuesday in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, where he had been a patient a few days.

A native of Grant County, he was a son of the late Sampson and Susan (Carr) Smith. He was a member of the Davis Baptist Church of Maysville.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Morrison, Charleston; three sons, Brooks Smith, Cumberland; Tracy Smith, of Arthur, with whom he resided, and Lester Smith, Detroit; four sisters, Mrs. Emma Harper, Biglerville, Pa.; Mrs. Orrie Haslocker, Washington; Mrs. Lucy Shobe, Keyser, and Mrs. Ann Hessie, Maysville, and five grandchildren.

The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home here.

Services will be conducted Saturday at 10:30 a. m. at Davis Baptist Church at Maysville by Rev. Dr. G. O. Young. Interment will be in the Smith Family Cemetery at Maysville.

GEORGE J. DONALD

LONACONING — George J. Donald, 73-year-old retired coal miner, of Castle Hill, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he had been a patient two weeks.

A native of Lonaconing, he was a son of the late John and Catherine (Hinebaugh) Donald. His wife, Mrs. Alice (Lee) Donald, preceded him in death.

Surviving are a son, George J. Donald Jr., at home; three daughters, Mrs. Robert Steele, with whom he resided, and Mrs. Leona Dye and Mrs. Mildred Cross, both of Lonaconing; a brother, William Donald, Lonaconing; a sister, Mrs. Thomas E. Green, Turtle Creek, Pa., three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MRS. MARION G. THOMPSON

Mrs. Marion Gordon Thompson, 73, native of Cumberland, and widow of Arthur Webster Thompson, died Sunday in Tucson, Ariz., following a brief illness.

Mrs. Thompson was a daughter of the late Capt. and Mrs. Robert H. Gordon. Her father, a prominent attorney here, was one of the early advocates of Cumberland's present water system and Lake Gordon was named for him.

Her husband, who died in 1930, served as Cumberland Division superintendent of the B. and O. at one time. He was one of the co-developers of the zipper industry, a director of Talon, Inc., vice president of the B & O, president of the United Gas Improvement Company of Philadelphia and a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Mrs. Thompson had resided in Ligonier, Pa., area since 1921, and spent her winters in Tucson. She was active in community affairs at both places. She founded the Ligonier Valley Child Health Center and Arts League of Ligonier Valley and donated land for the establishment of St. Michael's of the Valley Episcopal Church where a memorial service was held Wednesday. Interested in city and county planning it was because of her efforts

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Memorial Day is an occasion for special tribute to those who gave their lives in defense of their country. I am wondering if we ought not also use the day as an occasion for remembering the causes for which they died. Our wars have been fought to preserve our liberty and a way of life unique in the history of the world. We honor all Americans who steadfastly fought in peace and in war to preserve their identity as individuals while joining mightily in furthering their ideals.

The work of the Congress continues apace. Enactment of a revised farm bill has cleared the way for other legislative matters. I would like to point out that the farm measure comes nearer meeting the problems of the farmer than did the Congress' earlier attempt. But it falls short of a realistic solution to the needs of agriculture. I am hopeful the next Congress will provide legislation more nearly in line with a program of diversified production which will result in fairer prices to all.

Of interest to the business community is the bill to amend the Robinson-Patman Act with regard to the "good faith" defense in price discrimination. The pending legislation would make "good faith" a complete defense in price discrimination. The pending legislation would make "good faith" a complete defense in meeting the prices of a competitor unless such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or tends "to create a monopoly."

One of the difficulties presented the House Judiciary Committee in its consideration of the proposed amendment stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is a lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bill. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.

At the coming general election the new Maryland absentee voting law will be in effect. Persons absent from the state or disabled and absent from the ward or election district will be able to cast an absentee vote this year. For information write to me care of the House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

On My Calendar: On Wednesday June 6 I plan to drop by the Montgomery County Youth Opportunity Camp's dinner-dance at the Congressional Country Club. Mrs. Hyde and I plan to attend the Allied Civic Group of Silver Spring's Annual Banquet that evening. We also expect to attend the congressional reception given by the National Order of Women Legislators at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington on June 7.

Reunion In Vienna For Marylanders

VIENNA, Austria, May 31 (AP)—It was reunion in Vienna for Marylanders tonight.

Gov. Theodore McKeldin and his wife breezed in and met Massimo Freccia, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, here to conduct during the annual Vienna Music Festival (Wiener Festwochen), beginning Saturday.

Then the governor met Wilson Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, here on a European study tour of the University of Maryland courses.

The governor and his lady tonight went to the State Opera for Richard Strauss' Der Rosenkavalier.

Schools May Have Part-Time Classes

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Part time schedules for some Washington public school pupils next September are under study.

School Supt. Hobart M. Corning said such plans are being considered to relieve seriously oversized classes. He said the move would depend on the availability of teachers.

Officials Sign 25,000 Bond Certificates

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Baltimore's mayor and city treasurer stand a good chance of returning home with writer's cramp.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and Treasurer John Ghinger were in New York today to sign some 25 million dollars worth of new city bonds. The bonds are in $1,000 demoninations and it means 25,045 signatures.

To make it easier, the two used a special machine that permits 18 signatures at once but even at that rate the signing was to take two days.

After a linen garment or article has been washed, rinsed and partially dried, it should be pressed with a hot iron until thoroughly dry.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — Memorial Day is an occasion for special tribute to those who gave their lives in defense of their country. I am wondering if we ought not also use the day as an occasion for remembering the causes for which they died. Our wars have been fought to preserve our liberty and a way of life unique in the history of the world. We honor all Americans who steadfastly fought in peace and in war to preserve their identity as individuals while joining mightily in furthering their ideals.

The work of the Congress continues apace. Enactment of a revised farm bill has cleared the way for other legislative matters. I would like to point out that the farm measure comes nearer meeting the problems of the farmer than did the Congress' earlier attempt. But it falls short of a realistic solution to the needs of agriculture. I am hopeful the next Congress will provide legislation more nearly in line with a program of diversified production which will result in fairer prices to all.

Of interest to the business community is the bill to amend the Robinson-Patman Act with regard to the "good faith" defense in price discrimination. The pending legislation would make "good faith" a complete defense in price discrimination. The pending legislation would make "good faith" a complete defense in meeting the prices of a competitor unless such pricing leads to "a substantial lessening of competition" or tends "to create a monopoly."

One of the difficulties presented the House Judiciary Committee in its consideration of the proposed amendment stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition" or tends "to create a monopoly."

One of the difficulties presented the House Judiciary Committee in its consideration of the proposed amendment stems from the phrase "a substantial lessening of competition." There is a lack of agreement as to the meaning of the words as used in the bill. Another difficulty encountered is the possible harmful effects on a small manufacturer in his attempt to compete with big industry.

At the coming general election the new Maryland absentee voting law will be in effect. Persons absent from the state or disabled and absent from the ward or election district will be able to cast an absentee vote this year. For information write to me care of the House Office Building, Washington 25, D. C.

On My Calendar: On Wednesday June 6 I plan to drop by the Montgomery County Youth Opportunity Camp's dinner-dance at the Congressional Country Club. Mrs. Hyde and I plan to attend the Allied Civic Group of Silver Spring's Annual Banquet that evening We also expect to attend the congressional reception given by the National Order of Women Legislators at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington on June 7.

Reunion In Vienna For Marylanders

VIENNA, Austria, May 31 (AP)—It was reunion in Vienna for Marylanders tonight.

Gov. Theodore McKeldin and his wife breezed in and met Massimo Freccia, conductor of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, here to conduct during the annual Vienna Music Festival (Wiener Festwochen), beginning Saturday.

Then the governor met Wilson Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, here on a European study tour of the University of Maryland courses.

The governor and his lady tonight went to the State Opera for Richard Strauss' Der Rosenkavalier.

Schools May Have Part-Time Classes

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Part time schedules for some Washington public school pupils next September are under study.

School Supt. Hobart M. Corning said such plans are being considered to relieve seriously oversized classes. He said the move would depend on the availability of teachers.

Officials Sign 25,000 Bond Certificates

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Baltimore's mayor and city treasurer stand a good chance of returning home with writer's cramp.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro and Treasurer John Ghinger were in New York today to sign some 25 million dollars worth of new city bonds. The bonds are in $1,000 demoninations and it means 25,045 signatures.

To make it easier, the two used a special machine that permits 18 signatures at once but even at that rate the signing was to take two days.

After a linen garment or article has been washed, rinsed and partially dried, it should be pressed with a hot iron until thoroughly dry.

Congress Gets Many Demands For "Redress Of Grievances"

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The people have a right, the Constitution says, "to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

And almost every day Congress is in session, a surprisingly large batch of petitions arrives, listing grievances somebody wants redressed promptly.

The latest delivery probably is typical.

Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives lead off, angrily declaring that dirty work has been done to John Adams and his boy, John Quincy, the only father-son combination ever to become U.S. presidents.

The grievance: No longer do the faces of John and John Q. appear on the two-and six-cent postage stamps respectively.

"It is unthinkable," say the successors to the men who staged the Boston Tea Party, "that this great nation should banish from the face of its stamps the man who carried the fight for the Declaration of Independence through the Continental Congress, nominated Washington as commander in chief, and appointed John Marshall chief justice of the United States.

"And it is equally unthinkable that it should banish his brilliant son, who beginning his diplomatic career at the age of 17, served his country with unequaled integrity as secretary of state, president and as congressman, dying at his post defending the rights of the least of his fellow citizens to be heard."

A check with Robert E. Fellers, head of the post office's philately division, shows that the Adamses were crowded out of the new so-called Liberty series.

This includes 18 stamps, six devoted to wartime presidents, six to other American patriots and six to historic shrines. Jefferson now is on the two-center, Teddy Roosevelt is on the six.

As for the Adamses, "I'm sure they'll be back on a future issue," Fellers said.

Such as the one Rep. Alvin R. Bush (R) of Muncy, Pa., has put before Congress. The motion picture machine operators in Williamsport, Pa., want the 20 per cent tax on amusements repealed.

Now a final note, not on grievances, but on stamps, as supplied by Fellers:

How many men have been on every regular issue of stamps from the beginning?

"Only two," Fellers said. "Washington and Ben Franklin."

Congress Gets Many Demands For "Redress Of Grievances"

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—The people have a right, the Constitution says, "to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

And almost every day Congress is in session, a surprisingly large batch of petitions arrives, listing grievances somebody wants redressed promptly.

The latest delivery probably is typical.

Members of the Massachusetts House of Representatives lead off, angrily declaring that dirty work has been done to John Adams and his boy, John Quincy, the only father-son combination ever to become U.S. presidents.

The grievance: No longer do the faces of John and John Q. appear on the two-and six-cent postage stamps respectively.

"It is unthinkable," say the successors to the men who staged the Boston Tea Party, "that this great nation should banish from the face of its stamps the man who carried the fight for the Declaration of Independence through the Continental Congress, nominated Washington as commander in chief, and appointed John Marshall chief justice of the United States.

"And it is equally unthinkable that it should banish his brilliant son, who beginning his diplomatic career at the age of 17, served his country with unequaled integrity as secretary of state, president and as congressman, dying at his post defending the rights of the least of his fellow citizens to be heard."

A check with Robert E. Fellers, head of the post office's philately division, shows that the Adamses were crowded out of the new so-called Liberty series.

This includes 18 stamps, six devoted to wartime presidents, six to other American patriots and six to historic shrines. Jefferson now is on the two-center, Teddy Roosevelt is on the six.

As for the Adamses, "I'm sure they'll be back on a future issue," Fellers said.

Such as the one Rep. Alvin R. Bush (R) of Muncy, Pa., has put before Congress. The motion picture machine operators in Williamsport, Pa., want the 20 per cent tax on amusements repealed.

Now a final note, not on grievances, but on stamps, as supplied by Fellers:

How many men have been on every regular issue of stamps from the beginning?

"Only two," Fellers said, "Washington and Ben Franklin."

Finally, A Surplus For Uncle Sam

Present prospects of a federal surplus of $1.8 billion at the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, instead of the $200 million estimated by the administration last January, do not offer much hope of an early cut in taxes. Administration officials had said they would lean toward a tax reduction only if the year-end surplus were in the area of $2.5 billion to $3 billion.

The new forecast by the administration is based not on any new economies in government—disbursements actually are running higher than had been estimated—but rather upon receipts that have more than kept pace with rising expenditures.

Some observers believe the present improvement in the government's financial affairs will extend into the next fiscal year and that, combined with the surplus envisioned for this year, the total improvement might—in ordinary circumstances—justify a tax reduction. But before that prospect could become clear enough for Congress to act, the lawmakers will be in recess for the political battles.

The outlook now is that with his budget in balance for only the fourth time in the last 25 years, Uncle Sam will relieve himself of some of his debts.

Actually the surplus in prospect for the fiscal year now nearing a close—large as it may seem—would allow only a very small tax reduction. It wouldn't even cover an increase of the personal exemption figure from $600 to $700.

The economic conditions that are pushing federal receipts beyond all expectations should offset in part any regrets the average citizens may have because his taxes continue at their present level.

The flow of money to the federal coffers seems to support the belief that the areas where business is slow actually are mere temporary "flat" places in a "rolling adjustment" and that the American economy as a whole is in rugged health.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Point Of View

I got talking to a window washer—you know, a fellow who stands on a window ledge a dozen or two stories above the street, hooked on to a leather strap, washing windows, hopping from window ledge to window ledge, and causing a sensitive person to look away for fear that he might drop.

This was a rather good-looking fellow who somehow made one feel that he ought to be in an office. I asked a girl in my office why she thought he risked his life washing windows and she was sure it was for the pay. But how much pay could he get? I doubted whether he was paid as much as the young lady.

So we finally got the story. The fellow had been in the Marines. And he went to college and learned some kind of stuff under the GI Bill of Rights which required him to work indoors, at a desk, in an office. It made him nervous.

He could not eat. He could not sleep nights. He smoked too much. He became a nervous wreck. Inside work was not for an ex-Marine.

So he got a job as a window washer and he lost all his nervousness. He can stand on a ledge, 20 stories or more above the sidewalk, washing a window and he feels fine.

He now eats well. He sleeps well. Everything is O.K.

So it only goes to show that what is one man's meat is another man's poison and that nobody can set up rules that hold for everybody. That is one of the troubles with the world today. Every government is trying to fit all its people into molds.

For instance, even in this country, we now have a propaganda to turn out more scientists and engineers and the college boys are being majored and minored until they get not an education but a training which is a very different thing. That jockey, Bill Pearson, on "The $64,000 Question," seems to me to be an educated man, but I have met many important engineers and scientists and businessmen who are regarded as wonders in their fields but who know no history, no art, no philosophy, no music. In a word, they have lived long and prosperously but without education. They have college degrees but no culture.

Perhaps we need to become a nation of chess players to develop realistic, competent minds that can think beyond the advertiser's slogans to the components of a problem and the facts that challenge human conduct. In a word, here we face a coldly statistical fact that two nations, Soviet Russia and Red China, which were of slight significance a decade ago, now are strong enough to challenge our existence and we still live in a realm of rocknroll concepts. It is not only scientists and engineers that we need but men of independent thought and imaginative action. We need more educated men and women who can think for the doers.

Teachers and professors are very touchy people and they get very excited if one criticizes their little realms. But the question at issue is what has happened to that brilliant, initiating, competent, go-getting American mind that developed our great industrial base not by the routines of unimaginative, over-organized, apple-polishing management that concerns itself principally with security and seniority and fringe benefits, but that took chances and risks and built a private, personal fortune to be used at will and left after death to a family? There was ambition in that process and a tremendous excitement over life.

The window washer who left the fringe benefits of an office to stand on a ledge and wash windows because that is what he wants to do seems to me to be a smart man who is doing what he chooses to do, for himself and for his own satisfaction. He will not die of ulcers or a nervous breakdown even if he never gets any fringe benefits. He has the courage of his convictions and risks his neck for them which he finds a more interesting life experience than shining his trousers on a swivel chair waiting for a pension.

And after the pension—what comes? Surely after retirement and a pension must either come another job of work or decay and death.

Russians Outmaneuver America Psychologically

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When the Soviet government wants to make a psychological move and weigh the probable impact on the people of Britain or America, they call in Messrs, Burgess and Maclean, who know intimately the Western democracies—their gullibility and their political weaknesses.

But when the United States is confronted with a move that could affect the psychology of the peoples behind the iron curtain, nobody with a knowledge of the processes of reasoning of the Russians sits in at the top councils. Decisions usually are made here on the basis of what American officials think is or will be the Russian reaction.

Potential Trouble For Reds

Thus, today there is a big problem facing decision by the United States Government. It is whether to open the way for the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff to visit Moscow and to let the highest military commanders of the Soviet regime come here.

On the face of it, the American mind sees nothing wrong with it—just another means of creating a better "climate for peace."

But the men who have knowledge of the Russian underground—the emigres who have fled from behind the iron curtain—are constantly warning that the United States must not appear to be giving sanction to permanent rule by the Moscow tyrants over the satellite states and a continued enslavement of the people of Soviet Russia.

Ever since the Geneva Conference of 1954, the Moscow government has been playing up the idea that the United States accepts the "status quo" in Eastern Europe. Many Americans, including George Kennan of the Truman administration's policy-making group and now an adviser to Adlai Stevenson, think it's all right to abandon the peoples behind the iron curtain.

Potential trouble for the Moscow regime, however, is imbedded in the satellite states and among the people inside Soviet Russia who still believe the United States will not forsake them.

Dr. Vladimir Poremsky, president of the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists — an organization that carries on underground activities in the Soviet Union—flew to America a few days ago and, in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report this week, he discusses the recent visit of Khrushchev and Bulganin to England. He says:

Have Double Aim

"I think Khrushchev and Bulganin have a double aim. The first aim, which we consider the main one, is to consolidate their prestige within their own country by showing their people that they are being well received abroad, and to use this prestige to stifle domestic opposition. They strive particularly to deprive their people of the hope of support from the free world.

"Their second aim, which we regard as secondary, is to try once more to deceive the West, in accordance with the Leninist line to which they have now returned. Lenin was very optimistic concerning the possibility of fooling people in the West, because he thought that there were many fools there."

"What is your opinion concerning the wisdom or the unwisdom of the Geneva Conference?" he was asked. Here is his reply:

"I think that, because of the prevailing atmosphere in the world today, because of everyone's fear of war, it would have been difficult to avoid the meeting at Geneva. Personally, I would rather it had not taken place. Whether or not such meetings can be avoided in the future will depend on public opinion in the West. Only public opinion can give the Western governments solid ground to stand upon in refusing to participate in such meetings."

General Twining, chief of the U.S. Air Force, probably will go to Moscow for the air show next month along with air generals from Britain and France. But if the Russians invite the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff as a whole and the invitation is accepted, then the Russian chiefs will want to come here, too. It would mean also that Khrushchev and Bulganin would feel that the United States could not fail to invite them. A number of military missions from Soviet Russia then would probably go to the Latin American capintals. This would aid the infiltration propaganda of the Soviets.

America Outmaneuverd

All this is in the face of the fact that 16 nations which made military sacrifices to support the United Nations in Korea cannot even get permission for a general or any other military officer to visit North Korean camps where the armistice has been violated, especially in building up airfields. The neutral supervisory commission of the U.N. has given up all hope of being able to go into North Korea. Yet visits by American military men to Moscow are applauded in free America in certain quarters and there is a steady drive encouraged by many well-meaning persons to invite Khrushchev and Bulganin to come here.

In propaganda the Soviets are outmaneuvering America largely because they have men in Moscow who understand the Western democracies. But in Washington evidently the Russians who have turned on the Kremlin and who understand Russia are not consulted when policy decisions are being made that could vitally affect the psychology of the peoples behind the iron curtain. Small wonder the "cold war" is going against us.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

One of our political campaigns may be tabbed as a beautiful marble swimming pool with a mud bottom.

We do go overboard at graduated intervals and come up with seaweed in our hair. Once every four seasons we let out enough latchstring for our guests to hang themselves.

But on the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday in November we pump out the echo chamber and break in a new set of acoustics.

The American voter may swallow some black innuendo. But he has never gone for the big lie.

Which, by the via, was not invented by Shickelgruber, Stalin or Mussolini. It was the French philosopher Beaumarchais who advised, "Calumniate, calumniate, caluniate, some of it will always stay."

If a fellow wasn't too educated he might be caluniated and not even know it.

Thumbsucking Is A Sign Babies Are Resourceful

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Thumbsucking is a source of gratification to the infant and of concern to the parents. If the tyke could talk he might say that the practice adds to his pleasure and relaxation. "After all, Dad enjoys his pipe and Mom loves to nibble on candy. What's wrong with a good thumbsuck before going to sleep?"

Parents take a different attitude. They have been told or have read about the gruesome results and are concerned that Junior may not know when to stop. Mothers feel guilty because they believe the habit is evidence of some unfulfilled need. It may help them to know that thumbsucking is common in healthy and contented babies who are fed properly and receive enough love and affection.

I'm willing to bet that many leaders in business, industry, politics, and the professions tugged away on their thumb or fist during infancy. After all, it is a sign that the baby is resourceful and has found a way to meet problems that occur at his age level without help from mom or dad.

Doctors Gesell and Ilg found that these children generally were good sleepers and the night feeding could be omitted sooner than usual. The tots were more sociable and active but tired easily.

Most authorities believe thumbsucking is a normal phase of development. Babies get their exercise by moving their extremities and the hand and mouth are bound to meet during the first weeks of life. It is only natural for the youngster to begin to suck when the thumb or fist touches the lips.

The thumb is favored because of its position on the hand and, in size and shape, is similar to the nipple. As soon as the thumb pops into the mouth, the sucking response goes into action. The flow of saliva increases and in no time the child has something to swallow. From the begnning the tot finds he can satisfy his hunger drive temporarily, without mother's help.

Most children quit the habit durthe first two or three years of life. It often persists in youngsters who remain immature emotionally because of parental attitudes.

At any rate, current opinion is that finger sucking does not affect mouth or teeth, provided the boy or girl stops by age 6, when the permanent teeth start erupting.

TOMORROW: Reactions to insects.

GROWING OLD

V. T. writes: What is meant by an aging colon?

REPLY

The colon ages with the rest of the body. Constipation may result from decreased muscular tone or the colon may become studded with tiny pockets (diverticula). These sacs cause no trouble unless they become irritated or infected.

QUICKLY SATED

F. L. writes: What causes an overstuffed feeling even after a light meal?

REPLY

This symptom occurs in a variety of gastrointestinal ailments of functional or organic nature. When it persists, thorough examination is in order. The last patient I saw with this complaint was found to have a lesion of the pancreas.

FUTURE LONGEVITY

M. M. D. writes: Fifty years ago, 38 was not considered too young to die. Now that medical science has increased the life span so much, do you think the time will come when people will live to be 150?

REPLY

Yes. Many animals live eight to ten times the number of years it takes for them to become mature. If this is applicable to man, we might be able to do the same, provided we discover a way to discourage hardening of the arteries.

UNRELATED CONDITIONS

Mrs. R. J. writes: Is there any connection between the menopause and Meniere's disease?

REPLY

No, except that they both start with M.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

Mrs. T. writes: Can the new tranquilizing products be bought in a drug store without a prescription?

REPLY

No.

WEIGHTY MEMBERS

C. M. writes: What causes a feeling of great weight in the feet and legs, making it hard to lift them?

REPLY

Besides fatigue, the list of possibilities includes dropsy, rheumatism, and neurological disorders.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Servant problems are pressing the country over, but Las Vegas housewives (sure, there are some!) have something extra to contend with. One of them told a new cook to dice some beets for dinner. Two hours later the cook reported, "Ma'am, cutting up them beets was no trouble at all, but putting all those black dots on them is plumb driving me crazy."

Author Harry Kurnitz achieved the impossible: he happened upon a restaurant in Paris where the food was positively terrible. What's more, the waiter cheerfully admitted the fact. "Monsieur would be wise," he whispered, "to get out of here fast. There's a really fine little restaurant right across the boulevard."

"Are you sure?" asked Kurnitz. "Sure? Certainement," said the waiter vehemently. "I own it." Then he added, "This miserable place is where I find my customers."

Sen. McClellan's Committee Appears Ready To Get Tough With Chotiner

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas, who can be an awfully tough prosecuting attorney, seems to be on the way to getting tough with Vice President Nixon's so-called "anchor man," Murray Chotiner. He has subpoenaed Chotiner's records, books and bank accounts.

This came about after Chotiner refused to turn his records over to Bob Kennedy, brother of Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts, who is counsel of the Senate Investigating Committee. Kennedy had phoned Chotiner to ask a question about his activities on behalf of a West Coast airline case. Chotiner refused to tell him anything.

"Why, this is nothing but a political fishing expedition," exclaimed the close frieind and campaign manager of Vice President Nixon. "I'm not going to tell you anything."

Actually, the McClellan Committee has leaned over backward to treat Chotiner with kid gloves. Though this same committee rode roughshod over Gen. Harry Vaughan and John Maragon—with some justice—and though a long list of witnesses were cross-examined and sometimes browbeaten by the same committee when Joe McCarthy was chairman, McCarthy et al were almost obsequious when Chotiner appeared before it.

Chotiner's Influence

Chotiner of course not only managed Nixon's campaign for the Senate in 1950, but his campaign for vice president, plus the campaign of several GOP congressmen in California. More recently he has been a member of the GOP National Committee campaign school. Chotiner has also represented several criminals with cases before the federal government, plus airlines, a debt-collecting agency, and other clients in need of an attorney with influence.

All this caused counsel Kennedy to get tough. After Chotiner refused to give him any information, Kennedy wrote Chotiner a letter asking in black and white for the information requested, also about others matters. Chotiner replied with a flat refusal. He claimed that Kennedy's request involved matters pertaining to his clients.

Kennedy then went to McClellan and explained the situation. McClellan promptly authorized Kennedy to subpoena Chotiner's papers. This was done.

NOTE—It will be interesting to see how much influence Chotiner will be able to muster in his own defense. He has been able to muster quite a bit for others, so should have no trouble getting such powerful figures as the vice president of the United States and Joe McCarthy to go to bat for him now.

Conflict Of Interest

GOP Sen. John Bricker of Ohio, whose Columbus law firm collects legal fees from the Pennsylvania Railroad, has taken an interesting stand regarding freight-car shortage.

As of today, more freight rolls toward New York than rolls away from it. As a result eastern railroads have made money by retaining boxcars owned by western lines. They can do this provided they pay the owners a mere $2.40 a day, as required by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

As a result, Sens. Andrew Schoeppel (R., Kans.) and Warren Magnuson (D., Wash.) have proposed that the ICC be given the power to penalize a railroad which fails to return the freight cars of another line. Their proposal would allow the ICC to boost the $2.40 rate to a penalty level whenever a freight-car shortage develops, as for example, during the wheat harvest.

However, the Pennsylvania Railroad, client of the Bricker law firm, is opposed to this change. And Bricker has become quite diligent about attending meetings of the Senate Commerce Committee, though previously his attendance was spotty.

When the subject of freight-car penalities came up in a secret committee session the other day, Bricked stalled for time.

"The eastern railroads are opposed to this bill," he insisted. "It's going to be expensive for them if they have to pay a higher per diem rate.

"In order that I can consider the matter further, I'd like to read the record and would like to have this put over until the next session two weeks from now," he requested, though he had already had considerable time to study the case.

"The boxcar shortage is serious, and we've got to do something," repeated Magnuson.

In the end, the committee deferred to senatorial courtesy and granted Bricker's request.

Reds And Nationalists

By Joseph Alsop

DAMASCUS, Syria

Here in Syria, which is a small country, the diverse elements that make up Soviet Middle Eastern policy stand out in sharp relief. Since this policy appears to be completely misunderstood at home, it is worth listing the elements, item by item, and then seeing what they add up to.

ITEM: Damascus is still agog over the aftermath of the Khrushchev-Bulganin visit to London. This was the revelation to the Syrian and Egyptian governments, by the Soviet ambassadors here and in Cairo, of the alleged main theme of the Soviet leaders in the Downing Street talks. According to the ambassadors, Khruschev and Bulganin flatly declared that the "progressive and peace loving bloc" would be squarely behind the Arab states in the event of a renewal of the Arab-Israeli war.

Probably Misrepresented

The Soviet diplomatists almost certainly misrepresented what passed in London. But their version of the London talks has of course been delightedly accepted here, and is reportedly credited in Cairo as well.

ITEM: In the last month, Soviet diplomats here, in Cairo and in other Arab capitals have begun to talk with Arab leaders about the possible terms of a settlement with Israel. The Arab response may be easily imagined. It is a fair bet that these Soviet feelers are a prelude to a solid endorsement by Moscow of the United Nations 1947 plan for the partition of Palestine, as the only fair solution of the Arab-Israeli problem.

A return to the U.N. plan of 1947, which was put forward, remember, before the Israeli victory over the Arabs, would mean reducing the area now held by Israel by almost 40 per cent. It is what the Arabs have been asking for. Any such Soviet move in the U.N. Security Council will leave the American and British governments as gasping and helpless as hopelessly beached salmon. We shall be made to seem the enemies; the Soviets will appear as the special friends and protectors of Arab nationalism.

ITEM: On the sub-diplomatic level three kinds of activity are being carried on concurrently. The local Communist parties have been given a very special mission, not to increase their own strength, but to reinforce in all ways possible the strength of the non-Communist, anti-Western forces here. The Syrian Communist leader, Khaled Baqdash, has been using all his considerable charm to convince the more conservative elements in Syria that he is just another nationalist bourgeois at heart. His organizers, in similar false whiskers, are being sent out to assist any political grouping or movement with an anti-Western tendency.

Lower Than Western Bids

ITEM: The nationalist apparatus is being powerfully backed up, in turn, by a commercial appeal. All sorts of Soviet and satellite trade missions are swarming through this country and the other Arab lands, making tenders on locally important projects of every sort. Because of the wages paid the workers in the workers' paradise, it is possible that many of these bids are quite honest. In any case, they are almost invariably much lower than bids by Western firms. Meanwhile, great efforts are also being made to persuade local business, political and cultural leaders to visit the Soviet Union and the satellite states for the full red carpet treatment.

ITEM: The desire of the Arabs for more and more arms against Israel is constantly being exploited. Besides the new arms deal that seems to be in the making with the Chinese in Cairo, the Syrians here are completing negotiations to purchase another $25,000,000 worth of surplus Soviet arms through the Czechs.

What, then, is one to make of the complex pattern of diplomatic, economic, propagandistic and underground action? The first point that sticks out a mile is that, for the present, the Kremlin is making no serious effort whatever to promote communism as communism in this part of the world. Gamal Abdel Nasser has sternly suppressed the Communist party in Egypt, but here in Syria the local Communists are more pro-Nassar than Nasser himself.

The second point that also stands out a mile is that the Kremlin is making the most desperate efforts to capture the Arab nationalist movement which Col. Nasser symbolizes and effectively leads. The aim, of course, is to use Arab nationalism to destroy every Western position in the Middle East, and to substitute Soviet influence for Western influence everywhere throughout this strategically vital region.

Finally, A Surplus For Uncle Sam

Present prospects of a federal surplus of $1.8 billion at the end of the current fiscal year on June 30, instead of the $200 million estimated by the administration last January, do not offer much hope of an early cut in taxes. Administration officials had said they would lean toward a tax reduction only if the year-end surplus were in the area of $2.5 billion to $3 billion.

The new forecast by the administration is based not on any new economies in government—disbursements actually are running higher than had been estimated—but rather upon receipts that have more than kept pace with rising expenditures.

Some observers believe the present improvement in the government's financial affairs will extend into the next fiscal year and that, combined with the surplus envisioned for this year, the total improvement might—in ordinary circumstances—justify a tax reduction. But before that prospect could become clear enough for Congress to act, the lawmakers will be in recess for the political battles.

The outlook now is that with his budget in balance for only the fourth time in the last 25 years, Uncle Sam will relieve himself of some of his debts.

Actually the surplus in prospect for the fiscal year now nearing a close—large as it may seem—would allow only a very small tax reduction. It wouldn't even cover an increase of the personal exemption figure from $600 to $700.

The economic conditions that are pushing federal receipts beyond all expectations should offset in part any regrets the average citizens may have because his taxes continue at their present level.

The flow of money to the federal coffers seems to support the belief that the areas where business is slow actually are mere temporary "flat" places in a "rolling adjustment" and that the American economy as a whole is in rugged health.

Russians Outmaneuver America Psychologically

By David Lawrence

WASHINGETON—When the Soviet government wants to make a psychological move and weigh the probable impact on the people of Britain or America, they call in Messrs, Burgess and Maclean, who know intimately the Western democracies—their gullibility and their political weaknesses.

But when the United States is confronted with a move that could affect the psychology of the peoples behind the iron curtain, nobody with a knowledge of the processes of reasoning of the Russians sits in at the top councils. Decisions usually are made here on the basis of what American officials think is or will be the Russian reaction.

Potential Trouble For Reds

Thus, today there is a big problem facing decision by the United States Government. It is whether to open the way for the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff to visit Moscow and to let the highest military commanders of the Soviet regime come here.

On the face of it, the American mind sees nothing wrong with it—just another means of creating a better "climate for peace."

But the men who have knowledge of the Russian underground—the emigres who have fled from behind the iron curtain—are constantly warning that the United States must not appear to be giving sanction to permanent rule by the Moscow tyrants over the satellite states and a continued enslavement of the people of Soviet Russia.

Ever since the Geneva Conference of 1954, the Moscow government has been playing up the idea that the United States accepts the "status quo" in Eastern Europe. Many Americans, including George Kennan of the Truman administration's policy-making group and now an adviser to Adlai Stevenson, think it's all right to abandon the peoples behind the iron curtain.

Potential trouble for the Moscow regime, however, is imbedded in the satellite states and among the people inside Soviet Russia who still believe the United States will not forsake them.

Dr. Vladimir Poremsky, president of the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists — an organization that carries on underground activities in the Soviet Union—flew to America a few days ago and, in a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report this week, he discusses the recent visit of Khrushchev and Bulganin to England. He says:

Have Double Aim

"I think Khrushchev and Bulganin have a double aim. The first aim, which we consider the main one, is to consolidate their prestige within their own country by showing their people that they are being well received abroad, and to use this prestige to stifle domestic opposition. They strive particularly to deprive their people of the hope of support from the free world.

"Their second aim, which we regard as secondary, is to try once more to deceive the West, in accordance with the Leninist line to which they have now returned. Lenin was very optimistic concerning the possibility of fooling people in the West, because he thought that there were many fools there."

"What is your opinion concerning the wisdom or the unwisdom of the Geneva Conference?" he was asked. Here is his reply:

"I think that, because of the prevailing atmosphere in the world today, because of everyone's fear of war, it would have been difficult to avoid the meeting at Geneva. Personally, I would rather it had not taken place. Whether or not such meetings can be avoided in the future will depend on public opinion in the West. Only public opinion can give the Western governments solid ground to stand upon in refusing to participate in such meetings."

General Twining, chief of the U.S. Air Force, probably will go to Moscow for the air show next month along with air generals from Britain and France. But if the Russians invite the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff as a whole and the invitation is accepted, then the Russian chiefs will want to come here, too. It would mean also that Khrushchev and Bulganin would feel that the United States could not fail to invite them. A number of military missions from Soviet Russia then would probably go to the Latin American capintals. This would aid the infiltration propaganda of the Soviets.

America Outmaneuverd

All this is in the face of the fact that 16 nations which made military sacrifices to support the United Nations in Korea cannot even get permission for a general or any other military officer to visit North Korean camps where the armistice has been violated, especially in building up airfields. The neutral supervisory commission of the U.N. has given up all hope of being able to go into North Korea. Yet visits by American military men to Moscow are applauded in free America in certain quarters and there is a steady drive encouraged by many well-meaning persons to invite Khrushchev and Bulganin to come here.

In propaganda the Soviets are outmaneuvering America largely because they have men in Moscow who understand the Western democracies. But in Washington evidently the Russians who have turned on the Kremlin and who understand Russia are not consulted when policy decisions are being made that could vitally affect the psychology of the peoples behind the iron curtain. Small wonder the "cold war" is going against us.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Point Of View

I got talking to a window washer—you know, a fellow who stands on a window ledge a dozen or two stories above the street, hooked on to a leather strap, washing windows, hopping from window ledge to window ledge, and causing a sensitive person to look away for fear that he might drop.

This was a rather good-looking fellow who somehow made one feel that he ought to be in an office. I asked a girl in my office why she thought he risked his life washing windows and she was sure it was for the pay. But how much pay could he get? I doubted whether he was paid as much as the young lady.

So we finally got the story. The fellow had been in the Marines. And he went to college and learned some kind of stuff under the GI Bill of Rights which required him to work indoors, at a desk, in an office. It made him nervous.

He could not eat. He could not sleep nights. He smoked too much. He became a nervous wreck. Inside work was not for an ex-Marine.

So he got a job as a window washer and he lost all his nervousness. He can stand on a ledge, 20 stories or more above the sidewalk, washing a window and he feels fine.

He now eats well. He sleeps well. Everything is O.K.

So it only goes to show that what is one man's meat is another man's poison and that nobody can set up rules that hold for everybody. That is one of the troubles with the world today. Every government is trying to fit all its people into molds.

For instance, even in this country, we now have a propaganda to turn out more scientists and engineers and the college boys are being majored and minored until they get not an education but a training which is a very different thing. That jockey, Bill Pearson, on "The $64,000 Question," seems to me to be an educated man, but I have met many important engineers and scientists and businessmen who are regarded as wonders in their fields but who know no history, no art, no philosophy, no music. In a word, they have lived long and prosperously but without education. They have college degrees but no culture.

Perhaps we need to become a nation of chess players to develop realistic, competent minds that can think beyond the advertiser's slogans to the components of a problem and the facts that challenge human conduct. In a word, here we face a coldly statistical fact that two nations, Soviet Russia and Red China, which were of slight significance a decade ago, now are strong enough to challenge our existence and we still live in a realm of rocknroll concepts. It is not only scientists and engineers that we need but men of independent thought and imaginative action. We need more educated men and women who can think for the doers.

Teachers and professors are very touchy people and they get very excited if one criticizes their little realms. But the question at issue is what has happened to that brilliant, initiating, competent, go-getting American mind that developed our great industrial base not by the routines of unimaginative, over-organized, apple-polishing management that concerns itself principally with security and seniority and fringe benefits, but that took chances and risks and built a private, personal fortune to be used at will and left after death to a family? There was ambition in that process and a tremendous excitement over life.

The window washer who left the fringe benefits of an office to stand on a ledge and wash windows because that is what he wants to do seems to me to be a smart man who is doing what he chooses to do, for himself and for his own satisfaction. He will not die of ulcers or a nervous breakdown even if he never gets any fringe benefits. He has the courage of his convictions and risks his neck for them which he finds a more interesting life experience than shining his trousers on a swivel chair waiting for a pension.

And after the pension—what comes? Surely after retirement and a pension must either come another job of work or decay and death.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

One of our political campaigns may be tabbed as a beautiful marble swimming pool with a mud bottom.

We do go overboard at graduated intervals and come up with seaweed in our hair. Once every four seasons we let out enough latchstring for our guests to hang themselves.

But on the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday in November we pump out the echo chamber and break in a new set of acoustics.

The American voter may swallow some black innuendo. But he has never gone for the big lie.

Which, by the via, was not invented by Shickelgruber, Stalin or Mussolini. It was the French philosopher Beaumarchais who advised, "Calumniate, calumniate, caluniate, some of it will always stay."

If a fellow wasn't too educated he might be caluniated and not even know it.

Thumbsucking Is A Sign Babies Are Resourceful

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Thumbsucking is a source of gratification to the infant and of concern to the parents. If the tyke could talk he might say that the practice adds to his pleasure and relaxation. "After all, Dad enjoys his pipe and Mom loves to nibble on candy. What's wrong with a good thumbsuck before going to sleep?"

Parents take a different attitude. They have been told or have read about the gruesome results and are concerned that Junior may not know when to stop. Mothers feel guilty because they believe the habit is evidence of some unfulfilled need. It may help them to know that thumbsucking is common in healthy and contented babies who are fed properly and receive enough love and affection.

I'm willing to bet that many leaders in business, industry, politics, and the professions tugged away on their thumb or fist during infancy. After all, it is a sign that the baby is resourceful and has found a way to meet problems that occur at his age level without help from mom or dad.

Doctors Gesell and Ilg found that these children generally were good sleepers and the night feeding could be omitted sooner than usual. The tots were more sociable and active but tired easily.

Most authorities believe thumbsucking is a normal phase of development. Babies get their exercise by moving their extremities and the hand and mouth are bound to meet during the first weeks of life. It is only natural for the youngster to begin to suck when the thumb or fist touches the lips.

The thumb is favored because of its position on the hand and, in size and shape, is similar to the nipple. As soon as the thumb pops into the mouth, the sucking response goes into action. The flow of saliva increases and in no time the child has something to swallow. From the begnning the tot finds he can satisfy his hunger drive temporarily, without mother's help.

Most children quit the habit durthe first two or three years of life. It often persists in youngsters who remain immature emotionally because of parental attitudes.

At any rate, current opinion is that finger sucking does not affect mouth or teeth, provided the boy or girl stops by age 6, when the permanent teeth start erupting.

TOMORROW: Reactions to insects.

GROWING OLD

V. T. writes: What is meant by an aging colon?

REPLY

The colon ages with the rest of the body. Constipation may result from decreased muscular tone or the colon may become studded with tiny pockets (diverticula). These sacs cause no trouble unless they become irritated or infected.

QUICKLY SATED

F. L. writes: What causes an overstuffed feeling even after a light meal?

REPLY

This symptom occurs in a variety of gastrointestinal ailments of functional or organic nature. When it persists, thorough examination is in order. The last patient I saw with this complaint was found to have a lesion of the pancreas.

FUTURE LONGEVITY

M. M. D. writes: Fifty years ago, 38 was not considered too young to die. Now that medical science has increased the life span so much, do you think the time will come when people will live to be 150?

REPLY

Yes. Many animals live eight to ten times the number of years it takes for them to become mature. If this is applicable to man, we might be able to do the same, provided we discover a way to discourage hardening of the arteries.

UNRELATED CONDITIONS

Mrs. R. J. writes: Is there any connection between the menopause and Meniere's disease?

REPLY

No, except that they both start with M.

PRESCRIPTION DRUGS

Mrs. T. writes: Can the new tranquilizing products be bought in a drug store without a prescription?

REPLY

No.

WEIGHTY MEMBERS

C. M. writes: What causes a feeling of great weight in the feet and legs, making it hard to lift them?

REPLY

Besides fatigue, the list of possibilities includes dropsy, rheumatism, and neurological disorders.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Servant problems are pressing the country over, but Las Vegas housewives (sure, there are some!) have something extra to contend with. One of them told a new cook to dice some beets for dinner. Two hours later the cook reported, "Ma'am, cutting up them beets was no trouble at all, but putting all those black dots on them is plumb driving me crazy."

Author Harry Kurnitz achieved the impossible: he happened upon a restaurant in Paris where the food was positively terrible. What's more, the waiter cheerfully admitted the fact. "Monsieur would be wise," he whispered, "to get out of here fast. There's a really fine little restaurant right across the boulevard."

"Are you sure?" asked Kurnitz. "Sure? Certainement," said the waiter vehemently. "I own it." Then he added, "This miserable place is where I find my customers."

Reds And Nationalists

By Joseph Alsop

DAMASCUS, Syria

Here in Syria, which is a small country, the diverse elements that make up Soviet Middle Eastern policy stand out in sharp relief. Since this policy appears to be completely misunderstood at home, it is worth listing the elements, item by item, and then seeing what they add up to.

ITEM: Damascus is still agog over the aftermath of the Khruschev-Bulganin visit to London. This was the revelation to the Syrian and Egyptian governments, by the Soviet ambassadors here and in Cairo, of the alleged main theme of the Soviet leaders in the Downing Street talks. According to the ambassadors, Khruschev and Bulganin flatly declared that the "progressive and peace loving bloc" would be squarely behind the Arab states in the event of a renewal of the Arab-Israeli war.

Probably Misrepresented

The Soviet diplomatists almost certainly misrepresented what passed in London. But their version of the London talks has of course been delightedly accepted here, and is reportedly credited in Cairo as well.

ITEM: In the last month, Soviet diplomats here, in Cairo and in other Arab capitals have begun to talk with Arab leaders about the possible terms of a settlement with Israel. The Arab response may be easily imagined. It is a fair bet that these Soviet feelers are a prelude to a solid endorsement by Moscow of the United Nations 1947 plan for the partition of Palestine, as the only fair solution of the Arab-Israeli problem.

A return to the U.N. plan of 1947, which was put forward, remember, before the Israeli victory over the Arabs, would mean reducing the area now held by Israel by almost 40 per cent. It is what the Arabs have been asking for. Any such Soviet move in the U.N. Security Council will leave the American and British governments as gasping and helpless as hopelessly beached salmon. We shall be made to seem the enemies; the Soviets will appear as the special friends and protectors of Arab nationalism.

ITEM: On the sub-diplomatic level three kinds of activity are being carried on concurrently. The local Communist parties have been given a very special mission, not to increase their own strength, but to reinforce in all ways possible the strength of the non-Communist, anti-Western forces here. The Syrian Communist leader, Khaled Baqdash, has been using all his considerable charm to convince the more conservative elements in Syria that he is just another nationalist bourgeois at heart. His organizers, in similar false whiskers, are being sent out to assist any political grouping or movement with an anti-Western tendency.

Lower Than Western Bids

ITEM: The nationalist apparatus is being powerfully backed up, in turn, by a commercial appeal. All sorts of Soviet and satellite trade missions are swarming through this country and the other Arab lands, making tenders on locally important projects of every sort. Because of the wages paid the workers in the workers' paradise, it is possible that many of these bids are quite honest. In any case, they are almost invariably much lower than bids by Western firms. Meanwhile, great efforts are also being made to persuade local business, political and cultural leaders to visit the Soviet Union and the satellite states for the full red carpet treatment.

ITEM: The desire of the Arabs for more and more arms against Israel is constantly being exploited. Besides the new arms deal that seems to be in the making with the Chinese in Cairo, the Syrians here are completing negotiations to purchase another $25,000,000 worth of surplus Soviet arms through the Czechs.

What, then, is one to make of the complex pattern of diplomatic, economic, propagandistic and underground action? The first point that sticks out a mile is that, for the present, the Kremlin is making no serious effort whatever to promote communism as communism in this part of the world. Gamal Abdel Nasser has sternly suppressed the Communist party in Egypt, but here in Syria the local Communists are more pro-Nassar than Nasser himself.

The second point that also stands out a mile is that the Kremlin is making the most desperate efforts to capture the Arab nationalist movement which Col. Nasser symbolizes and effectively leads. The aim, of course, is to use Arab nationalism to destroy every Western position in the Middle East, and to substitute Soviet influence for Western influence everywhere throughout this strategically vital region.

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

A U. S. Rodeo visiting Paris is thrilling French folk. Especially, no doubt, the bronco busting which must remind them of their own politics—tough to stay in the saddle.

Though Adlai permitted Estes to pin a Kefauver-for-President button on this lapel we doubt whether it will get much wear.

Britain plans to spend two billion, 800 million dollars in the next 10 years to "reconstruct" its coal industry. Apparently that nation has decided not to sit around and wait for atomic energy.

In Berlin cops sometimes give good drivers "traffic tickets" in the form of candy bars. It's a sweet idea.

Meat Shortcake

A new way to serve liver is a "find" for any homemaker. Cook ½ pound sliced liver for about 5 minutes in 1 tablespoon melted lard or drippings. Grind liver with one small onion. Cook ½ pound ground beef until brown but not hard. Combine liver and cooked ground beef. Season with 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Cover and cook slowly for 10 to 15 minutes. Stir in 3 tablespoons flour. Add 1½ cups of either milk, water or vegetable juice and stir constantly until thickened. Serve piping hot on corn bread or biscuits. Yield: 4 servings.

Sandwich With Flavor

To most Americans, sandwich is a word that means good eating. If there is any doubt about it, look to restaurant menus and the numbers of books devoted solely to the many enticing combinations. All families have their favorites and from lunchbox content to after-school snack, the sandwich, with milk to drink, has its place of importance.

A few simple and unusual steps of preparation and the sandwich can be turned into a really fine production. Such is the case with Chicken Rabbit Sandwich. Slices of chicken are placed on toast and covered with a delicious cheese sauce, and is then popped under the broiler for a matter of minutes and is ready to serve.

Cheese is almost synonomous with sandwich. It can be used in so many ways and with so many types of bread and crackers. In any case, whether served as a sauce or as is, cheese adds its high quality protein to the sandwich and makes it not only a tasty combination but a nutritious one as well. Most homemakers know that with cheese always available in the home, many sandwiches and other flavorful dishes can be prepared with little or no effort, at small cost.

CHICKEN RABBIT SANDWICH

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ pound American cheese
½ teaspoon prepared yellow mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt to taste
6 slices crisp toast
Sliced, cooked chicken
Paprika

Melt butter in a saucepan, add flour and blend. Add milk and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Add cheese, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, and salt to taste, and stir over very low heat only until cheese is melted. Arrange toast in individual custard cups, or one shallow baking pan; top with thick slices of chicken. Cover with cheese sauce and sprinkle lightly with paprika. Heat under broiler only until cheese sauce begins to brown lightly. Serve at once with a lettuce cup of crisp cole slaw or assorted relishes. Makes 6 servings. Sliced ham, veal, turkey, or canned luncheon meat may be used instead of chicken for variation. Garnish as desired.

Jumbo Sandwiches

The trick is how you slice this Jumbo Sandwich so that each serving is a picnic meal—tasty salmon salad between generous slices of crusty Vienna bread. Cut bread in half, lengthwise and butter both halves. Place lettuce leaves on bottom half and cover with salmon salad. Arrange 6 tomato slices over salad. Top with upper half of loaf. To serve: Cut the loaf into 6 portions, cutting between the tomato slices.

Shrimp Soup Inspires Luncheon Dish

Just because it's spring, serve this delightful luncheon dish of shrimp and lobster. It's a sure cure for jaded appetites. From the freezer take 1 can (10-ounce size) of frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup. In a saucepan or chafing dish, combine the soup, ½ cup milk and 1 cup flaked, cooked lobster (a 6-ounce can, drained). Heat slowly, stirring frequently. Serve on toast with fresh asparagus spears, and you'll have a party for 4.

Spanish Sauce

A wonderful sauce for omelets, fritters, frankfurters and hamburgers is made by sauteeing a cup of sliced onions in a quarter cup of Spanish olive oil. Then add a cup of tomato paste or two cups of tomatoes, a chopped green pepper, a bay leaf, and a pinch of oregano or thyme along with salt and pepper. The sauce should simmer for fifteen minutes, or longer, depending on the consistency you want.

Its Goodness Is Saved

The goodness of the meat is saved by the method by which it's cooked. Regardless of the method used, always cook meat at a low temperature. This gives a more tender and juicy cut of meat. When preparing to panfry meat, fry the meat slowly in lard or drippings. Do not allow the fat to smoke. If you are deep-fat frying, use a deep-fat frying thermometer and do not allow the temperature of the lard to go beyond 360° F.

French Tip For Meaty June Treat

Ham En Panier in English means ham served in a basket, such as a basket shaped food or a hollowed out roll.

It acts as a perfect meaty June treat for early picnics or just a plain late evening snack.

Made with ground, cooked ham, this recipe is a perfect way to use ham leftovers, states Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Ham En Panier

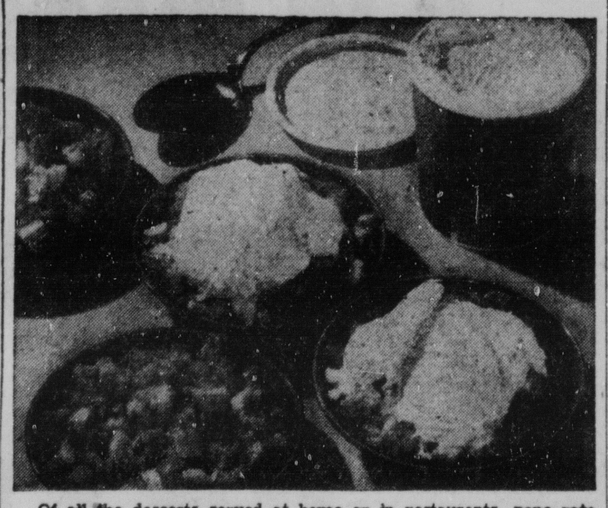
1½ cups ground cooked ham
6 large hard rolls
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
¼ easpoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons prepared mustard
Pimiento, if desired

Cut a slice from the top of each roll. Scoop out the center of the rolls. Combine cooked ham, hard-cooked eggs and parsley. Melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk stirring constantly until thickened. Add mustard. Add ham and egg mixture to mustard sauce. Fill buns with cream mixture. Heat rolls in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 10 minutes. Garnish with chopped pimiento, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Sandwich Filler

Chop together cooked veal, raw carrot and a sprig of parsley. Season with your favorite spices and moisten with mayonnaise and lemon juice. This is the answer when hunting for variety for your children's lunch box.

A Winning Combination



Of all the desserts served at home or in restaurants, none rate higher than fruit desserts with ice cream. From apple pie a la mode, the all time favorite, to ice cream with a fruit sundae sauce, everyone likes the combination of flavors.

The contrast of tart fruit and creamy, smooth ice cream is at its best when you serve Rhubarb Pudding a la Mode. The pudding itself is easy to make, and is a combination of colorful rhubarb, toasty bread crumbs and spices, and it is perfect when topped with a generous serving of vanilla ice cream.

Ice cream contains most of the food nutrients of milk, and should be included as supplying part of the daily milk requirements. Fruit too, is another important food to be included in daily meals. When you have a combination like Rhubarb Pudding a la Mode, you not only get a taste treat, but food nutrients that are important to the well being of all members of the family.

RHUBARB PUDDING WITH ICE CREAM

2 cups soft bread crumbs
⅓ cup melted butter
1 pound rhubarb, diced
¾ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup hot water
Vanilla ice cream

Combine bread crumbs and butter. Arrange ⅓ of the mixture in the bottom of 1½ quart buttered casserole or individual casseroles. Cover with half the diced rhubarb and with half the remaining ingredients which have been blended together. Cover with ⅓ crumbs, remainder of rhubarb and remainder of sugar mixture. Top with rest of crumb mixture. Bake, covered, in a moderately hot oven 375°F., for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake about 10 minutes longer. Serve with ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Cookies That Stand Up To Hearty Appetites

Homemakers who like to surprise and delight their children will love this brand new idea for making cookies. The cookies are three dimensional, so they stand on their own two feet. They're made with a special type of cookie cutter that comes in parts like a puzzle. After the cookies are baked they're fitted together to make "Katie the Kangaroo," "Baxter the Bunny" and other happy little animals that will delight both the sense of fun and the hearty appetites of all who see them.

A special firm dough was developed for these cookies, to minimize breakage during the assembling of the various parts. It's rich tasting, crisp, and it's a simple recipe which takes little time to prepare. Baking time is a fast 7-10 minutes.

3-D Cookies
(makes 12-14 animals)

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon flavoring
2 cups sifted enriched flour

Blend shortening sugar and egg. Add mixed dry ingredients alternately with milk and flavoring. Mix thoroughly. Roll small portions of dough to ⅛ inch thickness on cookie sheets. Cut with 3-D cookie cutters, repeating with each cutter as many times as necessary to make the different animals.

Remove excess dough from cookie sheet. Bake cookies on ungreased cookie sheet at 400°F. for 7-10 minutes or until browned. Remove from baking sheets immediately.

Helpful Hints:

1. Press firmly on all edges of cutter to be sure all edges are completely cut through.
2. Use a sharp knife to cut away all excess dough surrounding the animal forms. This makes it easier to fit them together after they're baked and to keep the animals well balanced.

If the dough tends to stick to the cutter, dip the cutter in water or flour before cutting.

After baking and assembling animals, frost them with colored frosting to make them more life-like. You can do this with a knife, or spread the frosting from a pastry bag. If you haven't a pastry bag, it's easy to make one of brown paper. Just shape a sheet of brown paper like a cornucopia and fasten it with a pin or gummed tape. Fill the cone with frosting, and close the upper end by folding the edges together and over. Cut a small opening at the tip of the cone. Then when you squeeze it the frosting will come out making it easy to decorate your cookies in any design.

Half-Size Style

SIZES
14½—24½

by Marian Martin

Here's a pretty twosome — designed especially to flatter the shorter, fuller figure. You'll look inches taller, sizes slimmer in the cool, smart cut of the sundress; add the little bolero for town, travel, chilly weather!

Pattern 9193: Half Sizes 14½, 16½, 18½, 20½, 22½, 24½. Size 16½ dress requires 3⅞ yards 35-inch fabric; bolero, 1⅝ yards.

Send Thirty-five cents in coins for this pattern—add 5 cents for each pattern for 1st-class mailing. Send to Marian Martin, care of Cumberland News, 39 Pattern Dept., 232 West 18th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print plainly NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, SIZE and STYLE NUMBER.

Pointers On Meat

Smoked meats such as ham, bacon, sausage, and frankfurters should be wrapped for storage. Fresh meat will keep better in the refrigerator when loosely wrapped.

A Change Of Dress

Meat pie is a stew with a top on it. So whenever stew is leftover from dinner, make it into a meat pie for another meal. Tamale pie always has corn meal topping.

Canned apple sauce is an ideal dessert for baby since it is smooth, slides down easily and is wholesomely delicious. Babies take naturally to the honest apple flavor, too, thereby demonstrating once again that the liking for apples starts early and is common to all ages.

French Tip For Meaty June Treat

Ham En Panier in English means ham served in a basket, such as a basket shaped food or a hollowed out roll.

It acts as a perfect meaty June treat for early picnics or just a plain late evening snack.

Made with ground, cooked ham, this recipe is a perfect way to use ham leftovers, states Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Ham En Panier

1½ cups ground cooked ham
6 large hard rolls
3 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
¼ easpoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons prepared mustard
Pimiento, if desired

Cut a slice from the top of each roll. Scoop out the center of the rolls. Combine cooked ham, hard-cooked eggs and parsley. Melt butter or margarine. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk stirring constantly until thickened. Add mustard. Add ham and egg mixture to mustard sauce. Fill buns with cream mixture. Heat rolls in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 10 minutes. Garnish with chopped pimiento, if desired. Yield: 6 servings.

Sandwich Filler

Chop together cooked veal, raw carrot and a sprig of parsley. Season with your favorite spices and moisten with mayonnaise and lemon juice. This is the answer when hunting for variety for your children's lunch box.

A Winning Combination

Pre-Packaged Ice Cream As Dessert Or In Punch

Wedding parties are fun with everyone beaming a smile of good will at the newly married couple. And whether there is to be a family dinner or buffet service for a large reception, ice cream fits into the party happiness. Here scoops of pre-packaged ice cream in flavor assortment will accompany a slice of wedding cake. Recipe for an ice cream punch as reception treat given elsewhere on this page.

Ice cream, because of its flavor variety and popular reputation, continues the dessert supreme at wedding receptions. With the half-gallon carton providing 16 servings, one can easily determine the amount of ice cream needed for the guest list.

Scoops of pre-packaged ice cream, served in a flavor assortment, or individual scoops topped with a fruit sauce make an appropriate dessert to end a family wedding dinner. Or ice cream and cake may be served following hors d'oeuvers and beverages at a large reception.

Coffee Wedding Punch ... served from a large glass or silver bowl... would be an excellent choice for an afternoon wedding reception at home. The basic mixture for the punch...instant coffee, sugar, water and evaporated milk... can be made ahead of serving time and stored in the refrigerator. Then, at refreshment time, it only need be poured into the punch bowl and carbonated water and scoops of ice cream added. Serve the wedding punch with chicken salad and hot rolls.

Coffee Wedding Punch

6 tablespoons instant coffee; 1 cup sugar; 1 cup water; 5 cups (3 large cans) evaporated milk, chilled; 2 pints pre-packaged vanilla ice cream; 1 quart carbonated water, chilled.

Combine instant coffee, sugar and water in saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until blended. Remove from heat; chill, then stir in milk. To serve, pour into punch bowl. Spoon in ice cream; stir until partially melted. Pour in carbonated water.

YIELD: 24½ cup servings.

Fruit Pies Are Party-Minded

Individual frozen cherry pies take on party airs when topped with crunchy almonds. Sprinkle the chopped blanched almonds, coated with melted butter, on top of frozen pies. Bake as directed on the package. Each pie is a generous 5-ounce serving.

Frozen peach pies favor a topping of cinnamon, sugar and grated lemon rind, blended together in equal portions. Bake as usual. Both cherry and peach go for a dollop of sour cream served on the side.

There are an estimated 10,000 uses for paper, ranging from kindling a fire to dressing wounds.

New Cherry Rhubarb Pie Is Union Of Old Favorites

If you had your druthers, would you druther have fresh rhubarb pie or canned sweet cherry pie? It's a tough decision to make and there's no need to make it, for if you combine the two then you've a pie so extraordinary that even friend husband's most nostalgic dreams of the pie "Mom used to make" will not begin to compare. Yes, the sweet, rich juicy canned cherries are the perfect complement, both flavorwise and texturewise, to the pink, tangy rhubarb.

In case you've never tried a pie made with canned SWEET cherries rather than the tart pie cherries, you're in for a real eating experience. Once your family has experienced that thrill you can get them to do anything with the promise of a canned sweet cherry pie.

Of course, canned dark sweet cherries are delicious any way they're served as a simple sauce, in cocktails, salads—both molded and tossed—and in all sorts of pastries from sweet rolls and coffee cakes to delightful cobblers, upside - down cakes and puddings.

If you pride yourself on being prepared for any emergency, keep a few cans of sweet cherries on hand, and you'll never be caught without a scrumptious dessert that everybody loves!

CHERRY RHUBARB PIE

1 No. 2½ can dark sweet cherries
1 No. 303 can or 1 lb. package frozen rhubarb
½ cup cherry syrup
⅓ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
Pastry for double crust 9-inch pie

Drain and pit cherries, save ½ cup syrup. Drain rhubarb, add ½ cup liquid to cherry syrup. Mix together sugar and cornstarch, stir in small amount of fruit liquid until smooth, then add remaining liquid and salt. Cook until thick and clear. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Combine cherries and rhubarb. Pour syrup over and mix lightly. Pour into prepared pan and cover top with lattice crust. Press edges together. Bake in hot oven 425° F. for 30-35 minutes or until crust is done. Makes 6-8 servings.

Introducing Lever Brothers' new non-dairy spread for bread!

Keep in refrigerator to protect perfect flavor

THE FIRST MARGARINE UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED TO TASTE LIKE THE HIGH-PRICED SPREAD!

You're going to be seeing a brand new and exciting product at your grocer's today . . . a product so superior that it carries a guarantee never before made in all of margarine history. But then, there's never been a margarine like it. Imperial is the first margarine unconditionally guaranteed to bring you the tantalizing flavor formerly found only in the expensive spread for bread.

IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR

Flavor is what's been missing in margarine. And that flavor is what Lever Brothers devoted seven years to achieve . . . seven years of testing formula after formula to bring you the incomparable flavor of the expensive spread for bread. It wasn't hard to make Imperial spread easier than any other margarine. And it wasn't hard to make Imperial as nutritious as even the most expensive spread you can buy.

The trick was flavor. And Imperial is the first margarine to capture and hold that unmistakable flavor everybody loves.

YOU AGREE—OR WE'LL RETURN YOUR MONEY!

We know you may find it hard to believe that a margarine could live up to all we claim for Imperial. So, we want you to give Imperial the toughest tests you know. Spread Imperial on bread or toast . . . use it for seasoning vegetables . . . plop a generous chunk of Imperial in your frying pan and set it sizzling with eggs for your fussy husband. Any way, and every way, Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees Imperial will taste like the high-priced spread to you, or they'll return every penny you spent to try it! P.S. Like the high-priced spread, Imperial is delicate and perishable. So to protect its perfect flavor, always keep Imperial in your refrigerator!

DON'T CHANGE YOUR TASTE! JUST CHANGE TO IMPERIAL! IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR!

New Cherry Rhubarb Pie Is Union Of Old Favorites

If you had your druthers, would you druther have fresh rhubarb pie or canned sweet cherry pie? It's a tough decision to make and there's no need to make it, for if you combine the two then you've a pie so extraordinary that even friend husband's most nostalgic dreams of the pie "Mom used to make" will not begin to compare. Yes, the sweet, rich juicy canned cherries are the perfect complement, both flavorwise and texturewise, to the pink, tangy rhubarb.

In case you've never tried a pie made with canned SWEET cherries rather than the tart pie cherries, you're in for a real eating experience. Once your family has experienced that thrill you can get them to do anything with the promise of a canned sweet cherry pie.

Of course, canned dark sweet cherries are delicious any way they're served as a simple sauce, in cocktails, salads—both molded and tossed—and in all sorts of pastries from sweet rolls and coffee cakes to delightful cobblers, upside - down cakes and puddings.

If you pride yourself on being prepared for any emergency, keep a few cans of sweet cherries on hand, and you'll never be caught without a scrumptious dessert that everybody loves!

CHERRY RHUBARB PIE

1 No. 2½ can dark sweet cherries
1 No. 303 can or 1 lb. package frozen rhubarb
½ cup cherry syrup
⅓ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter
Pastry for double crust 9-inch pie

Drain and pit cherries, save ½ cup syrup. Drain rhubarb, add ½ cup liquid to cherry syrup. Mix together sugar and cornstarch, stir in small amount of fruit liquid until smooth, then add remaining liquid and salt. Cook until thick and clear. Remove from heat and stir in butter. Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Combine cherries and rhubarb. Pour syrup over and mix lightly. Pour into prepared pan and cover top with lattice crust. Press edges together. Bake in hot oven 425° F. for 30-35 minutes or until crust is done. Makes 6-8 servings.

Introducing Lever Brothers' new non-dairy spread for bread!

Keep in refrigerator to protect perfect flavor

THE FIRST MARGARINE UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEED TO TASTE LIKE THE HIGH-PRICED SPREAD!

You're going to be seeing a brand new and exciting product at your grocer's today . . . a product so superior that it carries a guarantee never before made in all of margarine history. But then, there's never been a margarine like it. Imperial is the first margarine unconditionally guaranteed to bring you the tantalizing flavor formerly found only in the expensive spread for bread.

IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR

Flavor is what's been missing in margarine. And that flavor is what Lever Brothers devoted seven years to achieve . . . seven years of testing formula after formula to bring you the incomparable flavor of the expensive spread for bread. It wasn't hard to make Imperial spread easier than any other margarine. And it wasn't hard to make Imperial as nutritious as even the most expensive spread you can buy. The trick was flavor. And Imperial is the first margarine to capture and hold that unmistakable flavor everybody loves.

YOU AGREE—OR WE'LL RETURN YOUR MONEY!

We know you may find it hard to believe that a margarine could live up to all we claim for Imperial. So, we want you to give Imperial the toughest tests you know. Spread Imperial on bread or toast . . . use it for seasoning vegetables . . . plop a generous chunk of Imperial in your frying pan and set it sizzling with eggs for your fussy husband. Any way, and every way, Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees Imperial will taste like the high-priced spread to you, or they'll return every penny you spent to try it! P.S. Like the high-priced spread, Imperial is delicate and perishable. So to protect its perfect flavor, always keep Imperial in your refrigerator!

DON'T CHANGE YOUR TASTE! JUST CHANGE TO IMPERIAL! IMPERIAL'S GOT THAT FLAVOR!

It's Time For A Refresher!

It's always time for a refreshing drink. From the everyday requests from the children for drinks after school and the afternoon pick-up you need for yourself, to the planned party occasions, there's always a time for drinks in variety.

And to please the whims of all members of the family, it is well to have an assortment of bottled carbonated beverages chilling in your refrigerator. Small-sized bottles are just right for a single drink and a selection of ginger ale and orange, grape, black cherry, and raspberry among the fruit flavors should suit everybody for a quick thirst-quencher. Of course, the large bottles are more economical for making sodas or other mixed drinks for a crowd, or for those times when unexpected guests drop in.

This drink, made with fresh orange juice and grape soda, is a fine one for the youngsters and equally as good for informal parties.

VINEYARD DELIGHT

Juice of 2 oranges
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 pint orange ice
1 28-oz. bottle grape soda

Divide orange juice, grated peel and orange ice between 4 tall glasses. Fill glasses with ice cold grape soda. Stir gently to mix.

Unflavored Gelatine Basis Of Low Calorie Desserts

Desserts belonging to the snow, chiffon and whip categories are as light and frothy as their names imply. They can also be very low in calories when fruit and unflavored gelatine are the principal ingredients. Elsewhere on this page are the three treats, Orange Whip, Lemon Snow and Peach Chiffon, to enjoy while keeping the waistline trim.

On a reducing diet or after a hearty meal, the choice of a dessert frequently poses a problem. An ideal selection is a dessert of refreshing flavor, lightness and low calorie count. To these specifications are Orange Whip, Lemon Snow and Peach Chiffon. All, made with fresh fruit, unflavored gelatine, egg and sugar, have unusually low calorie totals for a dessert . . . ranging from 80 to 114 calories per serving.

These gelatine desserts are easy to make and can be served festively in sherbet glasses, without unmolding, at mealtime.

ORANGE WHIP

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
⅓ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups very hot orange juice

Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt. Add hot orange juice and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat with a rotary beater until light and fluffy and double in volume. Spoon into dessert dishes, or turn into a 4-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 4 servings. 118 calories per serving.

LEMON SNOW

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups very hot water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
2 unbeaten egg whites

Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt. Add hot water and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Add lemon rind and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add egg whites; beat with electric or rotary beater until mixture begins to hold its shape. Spoon into dessert dishes or turn into a 6-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 8 servings. 82 calories per serving.

PEACH CHIFFON

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup sugar, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
½ cup water
1 10-ounce package frozen peach slices
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 teaspoon lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Mix together gelatine, 2 tablespoons of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and water; add to gelatine mixture. Place over boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in peaches, almond flavoring, lemon rind and juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat with a rotary beater until light and peaches are blended. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Spoon into dessert dishes or turn into a 3-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 6 servings. 100 calories per serving.

Meat At Its Best

To panbroil meat correctly, place the meat in a heavy frying-pan. Do not add water and fat and do not cover. Cook the meat slowly, turning occasionally. Pour off the fat as it accumulates. Brown the meat on both sides and then season and serve immediately.

Potato Cheese Puffs

Is gardening competing with time in the kitchen? Try cooking extra on purpose, such as enough extra potatoes for Potato Cheese Puffs. Combine 2 cups left-over mashed potatoes with one beaten egg. Form into 8 patties and insert a ¼-inch cube of cheese into each patty. Roll generously in bread crumbs and French fry in deep fat (375° F.) until light brown.

It's Time For A Refresher!

It's always time for a refreshing drink. From the everyday requests from the children for drinks after school and the afternoon pick-up you need for yourself, to the planned party occasions, there's always a time for drinks in variety.

And to please the whims of all members of the family, it is well to have an assortment of bottled carbonated beverages chilling in your refrigerator. Small-sized bottles are just right for a single drink and a selection of ginger ale and orange, grape, black cherry, and raspberry among the fruit flavors should suit everybody for a quick thirst-quencher. Of course, the large bottles are more economical for making sodas or other mixed drinks for a crowd, or for those times when unexpected guests drop in.

This drink, made with fresh orange juice and grape soda, is a fine one for the youngsters and equally as good for informal parties.

VINEYARD DELIGHT

Juice of 2 oranges
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 pint orange ice
1 28-oz. bottle grape soda

Divide orange juice, grated peel and orange ice between 4 tall glasses. Fill glasses with ice cold grape soda. Stir gently to mix.

"I never saw anything like it!"

Today is Wisk day!

Unflavored Gelatine Basis Of Low Calorie Desserts

Desserts belonging to the snow, chiffon and whip categories are as light and frothy as their names imply. They can also be very low in calories when fruit and unflavored gelatine are the principal ingredients. Elsewhere on this page are the three treats, Orange Whip, Lemon Snow and Peach Chiffon, to enjoy while keeping the waistline trim.

On a reducing diet or after a hearty meal, the choice of a dessert frequently poses a problem. An ideal selection is a dessert of refreshing flavor, lightness and low calorie count. To these specifications are Orange Whip, Lemon Snow and Peach Chiffon. All, made with fresh fruit, unflavored gelatine, egg and sugar, have unusually low calorie totals for a dessert . . . ranging from 80 to 114 calories per serving.

These gelatine desserts are easy to make and can be served festively in sherbet glasses, without unmolding, at mealtime.

ORANGE WHIP

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
⅓ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1¾ cups very hot orange juice

Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt. Add hot orange juice and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat with a rotary beater until light and fluffy and double in volume. Spoon into dessert dishes, or turn into a 4-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 4 servings. 118 calories per serving.

LEMON SNOW

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¾ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups very hot water
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
2 unbeaten egg whites

Mix together gelatine, sugar and salt. Add hot water and stir until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved. Add lemon rind and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add egg whites; beat with electric or rotary beater until mixture begins to hold its shape. Spoon into dessert dishes or turn into a 6-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 8 servings. 82 calories per serving.

PEACH CHIFFON

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup sugar, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
½ cup water
1 10-ounce package frozen peach slices
¼ teaspoon almond flavoring
1 teaspoon lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Mix together gelatine, 2 tablespoons of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks and water; add to gelatine mixture. Place over boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine is thoroughly dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in peaches, almond flavoring, lemon rind and juice. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat with a rotary beater until light and peaches are blended. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Spoon into dessert dishes or turn into a 3-cup mold; chill until firm. YIELD: 6 servings. 100 calories per serving.

Meat At Its Best

To panbroil meat correctly, place the meat in a heavy frying-pan. Do not add water and fat and do not cover. Cook the meat slowly, turning occasionally. Pour off the fat as it accumulates. Brown the meat on both sides and then season and serve immediately.

Potato Cheese Puffs

Is gardening competing with time in the kitchen? Try cooking extra on purpose, such as enough extra potatoes for Potato Cheese Puffs. Combine 2 cups left-over mashed potatoes with one beaten egg. Form into 8 patties and insert a ¼-inch cube of cheese into each patty. Roll generously in bread crumbs and French fry in deep fat (375° F.) until light brown.

Social Welfare Meeting Slated

The Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare will hold its annual meeting in Gilman School, Baltimore, June 7 and 8, according to Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities.

A number of Cumberland area people engaged in social welfare activities plan to attend, she said.

Theme of the two-day meeting is "Social Welfare, a Community Problem." The program will explore the relation of religion, business, education, government, health and labor organizations to social welfare.

Jonathan Daniels of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, and Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin are among the speakers.

Thomas J. S. Waxter, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, has been nominated as president for the election slated June 8.

Fun Night Slated At East Side Playlot

Fun Night will be held this evening at East Side Playground and will be sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association.

A picnic supper will be served by the PTA at 5 p. m. Mrs. Paul Keller, general chairman, said last night there will be games, pony rides and square dancing at the public event.

A fancy work booth, white elephant gifts and a bake table will be part of the program.

City Police Officer James Morris was on duty Wednesday evening when a passerby asked him to kill a snake which was lying in a doorway on Baltimore Street near the Western Maryland Railway.

So he cautiously proceeded to the scene and with his night club killed a three or four-foot snake. Officer Morris said he thought it was a copperhead but didn't take too much time to examine it before tossing it into Wills Creek.

Area Minister To Speak Here

Rev. Donald I. Martin, pastor of Grace Independent Chapel, Shamokin, Pa., will be the guestspeaker at the Tri-State Youth of Christ Rally tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Mr. Martin, a graduate of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, has been in pastoral work since 1941, principal of the Shamokin Christian Day School since 1947, and actively associated with the Shamokin Youth for Christ for the past 12 years, presently serving as director.

His ministry also includes radio broadcasting, summer camp work, Bible conferences and evangelistic campaigns.

The program will include group singing, special music, a quiz program and the Bible message by Rev. Martin, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Welfare Fund Office Set Up

The office for the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland was set up Monday in the Allegany Labor Temple.

The office was established in Room 24 of the AFL building with Mrs. Sarah Kelley, 206 Beall Street, as secretary.

The health and welfare program was set up under provisions of last year's two-year contract of the Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council. Road and bridge workers were added during negotiations this year.

Health and accident protection will be provided by payments of 7½ cents an hour, retroactive to May 1, by contractors.

Sheriff Receives Extradition Papers

Sheriff Edward R. Muir yesterday received extradition papers signed by Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio and by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in the case concerning John J. Field, 70, of Pocatello, Idaho, who has been in custody here since May 18.

The document signed by Governor Lausche authorizes Sheriff Dean D. Ellis of Washington County, Ohio, to act as his agent in returning Field to Marietta, Ohio, to face a charge of drawing a check without sufficient credit and with intent to defraud. Governor McKeldin's paper authorizes Sherif Ellis to come into Maryland to get Field.

An extradition hearing will have to be conducted by Governor McKeldin in Annapolis because Field refuses to waive extradition.

Holiday Mishaps Reported Few

There were no serious highway accidents over the Memorial Day holiday, police in the Tri-State area reported.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported that one minor accident occurred on U.S. Route 220 near Rawlings. No one was reported injured in the one-car crash.

Pennsylvania Turnpike Police at Bedford yesterday reported one minor accident about 20 miles east of the Bedford substation. Police said the accident involved a family from New York, and that all escaped injury.

West Virginia State Police at Keyser reported one minor accident on Allegheny Front. No one was injured.

City Gets Final Bill For Bridge Approach

The City of Cumberland has been advised by the State Roads Commission that it owes an additional $259.02 toward the construction of the approach to the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

At the time the contract for the approach was let last year, the SRC advised the city's share of the federal-aid work would be $36,286 37.

The final bill represents the increase in final costs over the estimate and brings the city's cost to $36,545.39.

The approach was built by the SRC for the city and the Bureau of Public Roads, which shared about 50 per cent of most of the items involved in the work.

Area Minister To Speak Here

Rev. Donald I. Martin, pastor of Grace Independent Chapel, Shamokin, Pa., will be the guestspeaker at the Tri-State Youth of Christ Rally tomorrow at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Mr. Martin, a graduate of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, has been in pastoral work since 1941, principal of the Shamokin Christian Day School since 1947, and actively associated with the Shamokin Youth for Christ for the past 12 years, presently serving as director.

His ministry also includes radio broadcasting, summer camp work, Bible conferences and evangelistic campaigns.

The program will include group singing, special music, a quiz program and the Bible message by Rev. Martin, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Dope Death Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP) — A bill to allow the death penalty for the peddling of heroin passed the Senate by voice vote today.

"THERE IS A SUCKER BORN EVERY MINUTE"

There is a growing effort, by get-rich-quicks, to devise methods of selling vitamins and other medicines in places that do not have a pharmacy license.

There are many laws, that we pharmacists gladly observe, which protect you. We had to attend a College of Pharmacy, where we were also taught how best to preserve the potency of any medicine. Judge carefully the claims of glib door-to-door salesman, here today, and gone tomorrow. Be Wise! Be Safe! Let our pharmacy license and reputation protect you.

Welfare Fund Office Set Up

The office for the Construction Industry Insurance Fund of Western Maryland was set up Monday in the Allegany Labor Temple.

The office was established in Room 24 of the AFL building with Mrs. Sarah Kelley, 206 Beall Street, as secretary.

The health and welfare program was set up under provisions of last year's two-year contract of the Cumberland Building and Construction Trades Council. Road and bridge workers were added during negotiations this year.

Health and accident protection will be provided by payments of 7½ cents an hour, retroactive to May 1, by contractors.

Sheriff Receives Extradition Papers

Sheriff Edward R. Muir yesterday received extradition papers signed by Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio and by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin in the case concerning John J. Field, 70, of Pocatello, Idaho, who has been in custody here since May 18.

The document signed by Governor Lausche authorizes Sheriff Dean D. Ellis of Washington County, Ohio, to act as his agent in returning Field to Marietta, Ohio, to face a charge of drawing a check without sufficient credit and with intent to defraud. Governor McKeldin's paper authorizes Sherif Ellis to come into Maryland to get Field.

An extradition hearing will have to be conducted by Governor McKeldin in Annapolis because Field refuses to waive extradition.

Holiday Mishaps Reported Few

There were no serious highway accidents over the Memorial Day holiday, police in the Tri-State area reported.

Maryland State Police at LaVale reported that one minor accident occurred on U.S. Route 220 near Rawlings. No one was reported injured in the one-car crash.

Pennsylvania Turnpike Police at Bedford yesterday reported one minor accident about 20 miles east of the Bedford substation. Police said the accident involved a family from New York, and that all escaped injury.

West Virginia State Police at Keyser reported one minor accident on Allegheny Front. No one was injured.

City Gets Final Bill For Bridge Approach

The City of Cumberland has been advised by the State Roads Commission that it owes an additional $259.02 toward the construction of the approach to the Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

At the time the contract for the approach was let last year, the SRC advised the city's share of the federal-aid work would be $36,286 37.

The final bill represents the increase in final costs over the estimate and brings the city's cost to $36,545.39.

The approach was built by the SRC for the city and the Bureau of Public Roads, which shared about 50 per cent of most of the items involved in the work.

Atom Sewage Problem

MONTREAL, May 31 (AP)—Scientists at Canada's Chalk River, Ont., atomic plant have a sewage problem—what to do with waste products from the atomic reactor. The radioactive stuff now is sealed in stainless steel tanks which are buried near the plant. The only trouble is the area is an earthquake region.

Buttons Replace Bows

OTTAWA, May 31 (AP)—Buttons instead of bows on the removable collar is the new fashion in the Royal Canadian Navy. In junking the traditional tied-on collar, the Navy said the button collar is more comfortable, smarter and easier to wash. Two sailors who dreamed up the idea have been given $30 each and letters of commendation.

Atom Sewage Problem

MONTREAL, May 31 (AP)—Scientists at Canada's Chalk River, Ont., atomic plant have a sewage problem—what to do with waste products from the atomic reactor. The radioactive stuff now is sealed in stainless steel tanks which are buried near the plant. The only trouble is the area is an earthquake region.

Buttons Replace Bows

OTTAWA, May 31 (AP)—Buttons instead of bows on the removable collar is the new fashion in the Royal Canadian Navy. In junking the traditional tied-on collar, the Navy said the button collar is more comfortable, smarter and easier to wash. Two sailors who dreamed up the idea have been given $30 each and letters of commendation.

Centennial Group Faces Small Deficit

Less Than $1,000 May Be Needed

PIEDMONT — A meeting of the executive committee of the Piedmont Centennial committee was held Tuesday evening in the council chamber with A. F. Hokamp, chairman, presiding.

The group reviewed activities of last week. The pageant, "Foot of the Mountain" directed by French Sensabaugh, Cumberland, of the John B. Rogers Production Company, was praised.

In reviewing the uncompleted financial reports, it appears that the committee will need between $800 and $1,000 more to pay off all indebtedness.

All of the 60-dozen souvenir plates were sold by the Piedmont Woman's Club. If sufficient new orders are received in the near future, another order of plates will be made.

A large number of the program books have not been sold, but they have been placed on sale at Peter's Newstand, Ashfield Street; Tri-towns News Agency, Second Street and the G. C. Murphy Company store on Ashfield Street.

All of the sunbonnets that were not sold can be obtained at half-price as souvenirs. Ties and derbies are also obtainable. These items are available at the centennial office which will be closed after this week.

Stock certificates are also available.

Towson College President To Address Southern High School Seniors Tonight

OAKLAND—Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of Towson State Teachers College, will address the 138 graduates of Southern Garrett County High School at their annual commencement exercises tonight.

The college president spoke to the Northern Garrett County High School seniors in ceremonies last night.

Rev. Charles W. Carlson, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will give the invocation and benediction. The senior girls' chorus will sing "I'll Walk With God" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

W. Kenneth Johns, school principal, announced that Dr. Ralph Calandrella of Kitzmiller, an associate member of the Garrett County Board of Education, will present diplomas.

Platform guests will include Ross Speicher, president of the Board of Education; Willard Hawkins, superintendent of schools; Maurice Brookhart, associate member of the Board of Education; C. O. Bender, recently retired member of the Board of Education, and William Rees, president of the Southern High School PTA.

All awards to seniors were presented at a special assembly last week. Delores Vetter was named the valedictorian and was awarded a $100 check by the American Association of University Women. This money will be used in furthering her education. She and Jack Roth won Danforth Awards as two outstanding all-around students.

Tri-Towns Holds Annual Memorial Day Ceremonies

PIEDMONT—Memorial Day was observed in the Tri-Towns Wednesday with a street parade of musical, fraternal and civic organizations, the decorating of veterans' graves and an appropriate service at Memorial Building in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

The services were held in the morning following the parade which formed in Piedmont and marched to the cemetery in Westernport.

Participants included Bruce High School Senior and Junior Bands of Westernport; Piedmont Company No. 10, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, Potomac Camp No. 5, United Spanish War Veterans; Drill Team of St. Peter's Parochial School of Westernport; Drum Corps of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport; Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies of the Tri-Towns; Kelly-Mansfield Post No. 52, American Legion; Piedmont Drum Corps; Tri-Towns Fire Company and Auxiliary and the Potomac Fire Company.

J. William Beck was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of Westernport First Baptist Church and president of the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association, followed by a selection by Bruce High School Senior Band, directed by William D. Simpson.

The principal address was delivered by Rev. Willard Wilson Jr., rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport.

Taps and gun salute were given by members of Kelly-Mansfield and Victory Legion posts. Following the benediction by Rev. E. R. Heaton, pastor of Church of God, the "National Anthem" was played by Bruce Senior Band.

11 Get Awards At Bruce High Commencement

87 Seniors Win Their Diplomas

WESTERNPORT—Eleven members of the senior class of Bruce High School received special awards from Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal, at the school's annual commencement here last night.

Mrs. Stanley Buckley of the Allegany County Board of Education presented diplomas to 87 graduates.

Dr. George Tolley of Jamestown, N. Y. delivered the principal address. "We Face The Dawn" was the topic of the address delivered by David Francis, the class orator.

Francis was one of the award winners. President of the senior class, he obtained the Balfour special award for scholarship, loyalty and achievement; $5 cash award from English Department for creative writing.

Sheila Hackett, class valedictorian, won the Bruce Alumni medal, a Balfour honor medal, the Reader's Digest award and a $10 cash award from Bruce High School. She also won a one-year scholarship to Strayer College in Washington.

Leo Cangianelli received an honor key from the Balfour Company and an honor plaque from Bausch and Lomb Optical Company, Rochester, N. Y., for exceptional progress and achievement in science.

Among other winners were John Shay, $5 cash award from Bruce High School; Barbara Nealis, $3 cash award for cooperation, achievement and sportsmanship in athletics; Sharon MacDonald, $5 Commercial Department cash award for excellence in stenography and typewriting.

Also, Phyllis Paugh, medal from Student Council for home economics excellence; Donald Wilt, Student Council medal for vocational industrial arts; Robert Martin, gold watch from William G. Dayton of McCoole for superior work in industrial arts, and Gene Dawson, gold watch from Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as the outstanding boy athlete.

5 PSC Faculty Members Will Tour Europe

KEYSER—Five members of Potomac State College faculty will leave New York City on Tuesday, June 5, aboard the SS Mauretania, for a ten-weeks tour of Europe.

Appointed by Leonard G. Withers, member of the faculty, who planned the itinerary, the group will include Miss Irene Brown, commerce department; Mrs. Carmella Murphy, home economics; Miss Margaret Rafter, physical education, and Miss Anne E. Withers, English.

Others to be included in the party are Mrs. Hazel Stanley and her daughter, Miss Colleen Davis, Keyser, and Mrs. Virginia Harrison, a sister of Mr. and Miss Withers, from Richmond, Va.

The group plans to visit England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Bavaria, Austria, Italy and France, leaving LaHavre aboard the S. S. Corona for home on August 8, arriving in New York on August 15.

Miss Withers will leave the group at London for a visit to Amsterdam and Copenhagen, rejoining the party later in Cologne.

At Amsterdam, the group will pick up a Volkswagon-Kleinbus with which they will continue their tour by motor.

This will mark Mr. Withers' fourth trip to Europe and Miss Withers' second.

BHS Class Of '36 To Meet Tonight

WESTERNPORT — The 1936 graduating class of Bruce High School will observe their 20th anniversary with a reunion today at 9 p.m. at Jake's Place.

Prizes will be awarded to the person traveling the greatest distance to attend the reunion, person with the largest family and the one who attended the most alumni banquets.

Mrs. Beryl Clark Elected President Of Barton PTA

BARTON — The Barton Parent Teacher Association, at its final meeting of the year, gave unanimous approval to a report of their nominating committee and elected a slate of officers.

Mrs. Beryl Clark was chosen president; Frances Ann Elliott, first vice president; Milton Todd, second vice president; Mrs. Norma Metz, secretary; and Mrs. Joan Clark, treasurer.

Darius Green, safety chairman, stated he had received permission from the town council to block off the streets around the school during play periods, and this program has been placed in operation. His committee also arranged a skating party for the school patrol in recognition of the faithful service performed by the boys and girls.

The organization forwarded requests to Sixth Grade parents to determine if they are interested in forming a PTA at Valley High School.

The program was given by the Adult Study Group. Mrs. Ruth Shuhart introduced the panel and Fred Sheely for discussion of the topic, "Comics and Television."

Report was made on the PTA sponsored Dixon Dance Revue, staged at the school Monday night. Mrs. Lauder and Mrs. June Kiddy were named to the auditing committee.

Towson College President To Address Southern High School Seniors Tonight

OAKLAND—Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of Towson State Teachers College, will address the 138 graduates of Southern Garrett County High School at their annual commencement exercises tonight.

The college president spoke to the Northern Garrett County High School seniors in ceremonies last night.

Rev. Charles W. Carlson, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran Church, will give the invocation and benediction. The senior girls' chorus will sing "I'll Walk With God" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

W. Kenneth Johns, school principal, announced that Dr. Ralph Calandrella of Kitzmiller, an associate member of the Garrett County Board of Education, will present diplomas.

Platform guests will include Ross Speicher, president of the Board of Education; Willard Hawkins, superintendent of schools; Maurice Brookhart, associate member of the Board of Education; C. O. Bender, recently retired member of the Board of Education, and William Rees, president of the Southern High School PTA.

All awards to seniors were presented at a special assembly last week. Delores Vetter was named the valedictorian and was awarded a $100 check by the American Association of University Women. This money will be used in furthering her education. She and Jack Roth won Danforth Awards as two outstanding all-around students.

Officers of the senior class are William Moore, president; Milford Beckman, vice president; Ruby Skotniski, secretary, and Elaine Gnegy, treasurer.

Tri-Towns Holds Annual Memorial Day Ceremonies

PIEDMONT—Memorial Day was observed in the Tri-Towns Wednesday with a street parade of musical, fraternal and civic organizations, the decorating of veterans' graves and an appropriate service at Memorial Building in Philos Cemetery, Westernport.

The services were held in the morning following the parade which formed in Piedmont and marched to the cemetery in Westernport.

Participants included Bruce High School Senior and Junior Bands of Westernport; Piedmont Company No. 10, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, Potomac Camp No. 5, United Spanish War Veterans; Drill Team of St. Peter's Parochial School of Westernport; Drum Corps of Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, Westernport; Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cubs and Brownies of the Tri-Towns; Kelly-Mansfield Post No. 52, American Legion; Piedmont Drum Corps; Tri-Towns Fire Company and Auxiliary and the Potomac Fire Company.

J. William Beck was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of Westernport First Baptist Church and president of the Tri-Towns Ministerial Association, followed by a selection by Bruce High School Senior Band, directed by William D. Simpson.

The principal address was delivered by Rev. Willard Wilson Jr., rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport.

Taps and gun salute were given by members of Kelly-Mansfield and Victory Legion posts. Following the benediction by Rev. E. R. Heaton, pastor of Church of God, the "National Anthem" was played by Bruce Senior Band.

Mrs. Beryl Clark Elected President Of Barton PTA

BARTON — The Barton Parent Teacher Association, at its final meeting of the year, gave unanimous approval to a report of their nominating committee and elected a slate of officers.

Mrs. Beryl Clark was chosen president; Frances Ann Elliott, first vice president; Milton Todd, second vice president; Mrs. Norma Metz, secretary; and Mrs. Joan Clark, treasurer.

Darius Green, safety chairman, stated he had received permission from the town council to block off the streets around the school during play periods, and this program has been placed in operation. His committee also arranged a skating party for the school patrol in recognition of the faithful service performed by the boys and girls.

The organization forwarded requests to Sixth Grade parents to determine if they are interested in forming a PTA at Valley High School.

The program was given by the Adult Study Group. Mrs. Ruth Shuhart introduced the panel and Fred Sheely for discussion of the topic, "Comics and Television."

Report was made on the PTA sponsored Dixon Dance Revue, staged at the school Monday night. Mrs. Lauder and Mrs. June Kiddy were named to the auditing committee.

Mt. Savage Awards Diplomas To 63

Three Outstanding Seniors Win Eight Awards At Commencement

MT. SAVAGE — Charlotte Louise Taylor, Arthur Dale Whitehead and Phyllis Mae Carter were awarded major prizes last night by Alfred H. Benna, principal, at the annual commencement exercises at Mt. Savage High School.

Miss Taylor obtained four prizes and the other two received two awards each.

Awarded to Miss Taylor was the $10 prize from Junior Order, United American Mechanics, for highest scholastic average for four years; the $10 Mt. Savage PTA prize for highest average in senior English; the Reader's Digest award as valedictorian and a $5 prize from the Journalism Department for proficiency in journalism.

Mt. Savage's newest industry, Ribbon Copies Corporation of America, presented Whitehead one of his two awards, a $25 savings bond, for proficiency on industrial arts. He and Miss Carter both won $10 citizenship awards. His was given by Old Rail Post No. 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and her's by the post Auxiliary. She also got the $5 Wildey Rebekah Lodge No. 4, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, prize for highest average in science.

Thirteen other members of the graduating class also received awards. They included:

Carol Romaine Rush, $10 Mt. Savage Homemakers Club home economics award; William Maurice Clauson, $25 sportsmanship bond of the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company; Mary Joann Geary, $10 Latin award from St. George's Episcopal Church; Robert Donald Johnson, Woodmen of the World medal for highest average in U.S. history; Mary Louise Golden, $5 award from Pride of Mt. Savage, for outstanding moral courage; Yvonne Marie Moyer, $25 bond from First National Bank of Mt. Savage for highest commercial average; Mildred Louise Watkins, $10 Alumni Association prize for highest four-year average in mathematics; Helen Marie Gaff, $5 music proficiency award from Band Parents and Boosters Club, and Wilma Clara Ann Hook, $25 book credit offered by Charles L. Kopp Club, Future Teachers of America.

Some 63 seniors were presented diplomas by W. Earle Cobey, a member of the Allegany County Board of Education.

The speaker for the occasion was Imre Kovacs, a student of world affairs and an authority on Central Europe and the Balkans. Kovacs is the only foreign-born American ever to receive the National Best Story Teller Award.

John Wolfe, orator for the class of 1956, spoke on "Guidepaths to the Future."

Rev. Randall Parsons, pastor of the Mount Savage Methodist Church, delivered the annual sermon to the senior class at the baccalaureate service held in the school auditorium Tuesday evening. His message to the graduates was entitled "Learning For Life."

Mt. Savage Awards Diplomas To 63

Three Outstanding Seniors Win Eight Awards At Commencement

MT. SAVAGE — Charlotte Louise Taylor, Arthur Dale Whitehead and Phyllis Mae Carter were awarded major prizes last night by Alfred H. Benna, principal, at the annual commencement exercises at Mt. Savage High School.

Miss Taylor obtained four prizes and the other two received two awards each.

Awarded to Miss Taylor was the $10 prize from Junior Order, United American Mechanics, for highest scholastic average for four years; the $10 Mt. Savage PTA prize for highest average in senior English; the Reader's Digest award as valedictorian and a $5 prize from the Journalism Department for proficiency in journalism.

Mt. Savage's newest industry, Ribbon Copies Corporation of America, presented Whitehead one of his two awards, a $25 savings bond, for proficiency on industrial arts. He and Miss Carter both won $10 citizenship awards. His was given by Old Rail Post No. 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and her's by the post Auxiliary. She also got the $5 Wildey Rebekah Lodge No. 4, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, prize for highest average in science.

Thirteen other members of the graduating class also received awards. They included:

Carol Romaine Rush, $10 Mt. Savage Homemakers Club home economics award; William Maurice Clauson, $25 sportsmanship bond of the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company; Mary Joann Geary, $10 Latin award from St. George's Episcopal Church; Robert Donald Johnson, Woodmen of the World medal for highest average in U.S. history; Mary Louise Golden, $5 award from Pride of Mt. Savage, for outstanding moral courage; Yvonne Marie Moyer, $25 bond from First National Bank of Mt. Savage for highest commercial average; Mildred Louise Watkins, $10 Alumni Association prize for highest four-year average in mathematics; Helen Marie Gaff, $5 music proficiency award from Band Parents and Boosters Club, and Wilma Clara Ann Hook, $25 book credit offered by Charles L. Kopp Club, Future Teachers of America.

Some 63 seniors were presented diplomas by W. Earle Cobey, a member of the Allegany County Board of Education.

The speaker for the occasion was Imre Kovacs, a student of world affairs and an authority on Central Europe and the Balkans. Kovacs is the only foreign-born American ever to receive the National Best Story Teller Award.

John Wolfe, orator for the class of 1956, spoke on "Guidepaths to the Future."

These girls are: Helen Gaff, Barbara Robinette, Dorothy Lease, Carol Ann Geary, Yvonne Moyer, Carol Lashbaugh, Jo Ann Holt, Thelma Helmick, Charlotte Taylor, Carol Rush, and Betty Lou Fulk.

Rev. Randall Parsons, pastor of the Mount Savage Methodist Church, delivered the annual sermon to the senior class at the baccalaureate service held in the school auditorium Tuesday evening. His message to the graduates was entitled "Learning For Life."

LaSalle Gets Conference Tie With Win

Explorers Defeat Beall, 6-3; Parsons Homer Nips AHS

(End of Season)

Ed Parsons slammed a seventh inning homerun off the slants of Arthur Washington to give the Fort Hill High Sentinels a thrilling 9-8 decision over Allegany High's Campers at Campobello yesterday. The win enabled Fort Hill to capture the city baseball crown outright and gain a tie with LaSalle High's Explorers for the Bi-State Conference title.

LaSalle, leader in the conference most of the season, remained deadlocked for first place in the nine-team circuit by downing Beall High's Mountaineers, 6-3, at Stitcher Field.

Freshman coach Gene Shaw started Don Paye on the mound against the Sentinels and two walks, a bunt single loaded the bases for Fort Hill. A couple of wide balls to the next batter brought Washington to the hill for Allegany in the first inning when Fort Hill scored six times.

Plate Six Tallies

Washington appeared to be out of trouble with a pair of quick strikeouts but failed to cover first on a bouncer to first which went for a hit as a run scored. An infield error and three more singles by Frank Valentine, Bill Hanekamp and Jesse Markley plated the six tallies for Fort Hill.

Markley, ace of Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's staff, breezing behind a 7-0 lead, blanked Allegany until the fourth when he ran into some extra base clouting which brought the Campers even.

Jim Deremer singled and scored on Ronnie Diehl's double. Diehl came home when Stan Abramson belted one out of the park. Fort Hill added another tally for an 8-3 edge in the fifth.

Here the long ball again helped Allegany. Washington and Pete Charuhas singled and with two out Diehl blasted out a homerun to bring in three more tallies. In the sixth the Campers tied the score at 8-all when Ronnie Bruce and Jerry Yankelevitz strolled with two out. Washington then tripled to deep centerfield for two runs.

Parsons Wins Game

Parsons' smash over the fence gave Markley the decision, his seventh against two losses.

The triumph was Fort Hill's third in four city contests as they swept the Allegany series, having won the opener, 10-0.

It also marked the second time Fort Hill has tied LaSalle for the Bi-State title, having done so in 1943. The Sentinels under Cavanaugh have won the Bi State crown outright four times, running second only to Beall which has won five championships in the 18 years the circuit has been in operation.

LaSalle, behind the six-hit pitching of Lefty Bill Roberts, beat Beall at Stitcher Field to gain the Bi State deadlock with a 13-3 mark with Fort Hill.

Imes Hits Double

The lefthander walked only one and struck out 10 in gaining his fifth triumph.

LaSalle has tied for the championship before with Fort Hill in 1943 and with Allegany in 1954. The Explorers won two titles outright in 1944 and 1947.

Kline Blanks New York, 3-0

Freese Bats Home Runs With Double

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Ronnie Kline, 24-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate righthander, pitched his second shutout of the season tonight as the scrappy Pirates beat the New York Giants 3-0. Gene Freese accounted for all of the Pirate runs with a bases-loaded double off starter Jim Hearn in the fifth. The game was called by rain in the last of the eighth.

The Giants had retired the first Pirate batter in the eighth when the rain came. The umpires waited for 44 minutes before deciding the contest could not go on.

No one was happier than the Pirates for it meant two victories in three games with the Giants and left them only 1½ games behind first-place Milwaukee. Despite threatening weather and a pre-game rainfall, 15,123 fans turned out to push the Pirates' home attendance past the 72,000 mark in their last four home dates.

Kline, who now has a 4-3 record and who beat Milwaukee 5-0 on a six hitter May 20 for his first shutout of the season, gave up but four hits—all singles. Don Mueller got two of them. Kline struck out three and had perfect control as he didn't give up a walk.

Hearn hooked up in a hurling duel with Kline until the fifth when Bill Virdon beat out a roller to shortstop Alvin Dark. Hank Foiles then reached first safely and Virdon went to second as Dark fumbled Foiles' grounder for an error. Pinch-hitter Bob Skinner walked to load the bases but Hearn settled down to strike out Kline. Then Freese doubled off the left field scoreboard and that was all the Pirates needed.

Texas Open Round Cancelled By Storm

DALLAS, May 31 (AP)—The first round of the $70,000 Texas International Open Golf Tournament was cancelled because of a storm today and will go on tomorrow but whether the tournament will be extended through Monday to make it up was causing a sharp controversy.

Team To Practice

The Senators of the Little Baseball League will practice Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Swick And Wilson Named Coaches

Allen Swick, former Romney High baseball coach, and Kyle Wilson, one-time Oakland Southern High athletic director, have been named to positions in Montgomery County.

Swick will be director of athletics and physical education and will coach basketball and baseball at Walter Johnson High in Bethesda.

Outdoor Club Cops 6th Win Over Moose 8-5

The Outdoor Club scored its sixth consecutive victory in an unbeaten season yesterday by downing the Moose, 8-5, on the strength of a five-run rally in the last inning.

The Rocking Chair League leaders, trailing 5-3 after Pete Cecil homered with two aboard for the Moose in the third, got rolling with one out in the seventh. Cecil Grimes walked, Morrison hit a pinch double for Harry Larrick for a run, Ted Durbin doubled to tie the score, Pete Elliott smacked a three-bagger, George Evans singled, went to second on an infield out, and scored on Bub Porter's fourth hit, a single.

Durbin had a triple and double, Elliott a triple and homerun and Porter four hits, one a two-bagger, to pace the victors. Pete Cecil collected a single along with his homer and Dickle had three bingles for the Moose.

In another game at Campobello the VFW easily downed the Knights of Columbus, 12-3, as Charles Crabtree, Bob Koelker, Dick Klavuhn and Russ Myers each banged out a double. Don Harden and Larry Geiger had two-base hits for the Caseys.

In games on Memorial Day the Eagles upended the VFW, 7-1, at Stitcher Field; Outdoor Club edged the Elks, 5-3, at Fort Hill; and Celanese downed the Moose, 6-5, in 11 innings at Campobello. The scores:

Rec Dept. To Sponsor Tennis

Sessions Planned For Adults, Teens

The City Recreation Department will sponsor tennis in four different sections of the city this summer, starting next Tuesday, June 5th.

Sessions for teenagers and adults will be held as follows: Tuesday, June 5th, on the Dingle courts; Wednesday at the Fort Hill school courts; Thursday, the North End Playground new courts; Friday the Gephart playground.

Next week, until the schools are out, teenagers 13 through 18 will meet in the afternoons, 3:30 to 5:00. The following week through the summer months in the mornings 9:30 to 12 noon. Younger players, 10 to 13 will be taken on the Fort Hill courts Wednesdays only.

Adults will meet on the same days as the teenagers in the evenings, 5:30 to 8:30.

To get the most out of tennis a player needs a sound game. The easiest way to develop a sound game is through sound instruction the Recreation Department points out. Great satisfaction is to be derived from the knowledge that you are playing tennis the right way. Tennis lessons impart self confidence and eliminate a groping approach to the game.

L. E. Van Sant, the Recreation Department tennis instructor, says once the beginner masters the fundamentals he can carry on alone in a short time.

Rackets and balls for these sessions will be furnished by the Recreation Department.

Bratton Ruled Mental Incompetent

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP) — Johnny Bratton of Chicago, 29, former welterweight boxing champion, today was ruled mentally incompetent in Cook County Psychopathic Court.

Judge Walter J. Stevens, county judge of Whiteside County, ordered Bratton, once a Chicago ring favorite, committed to the state mental hospital at Manteno, Ill.

"I hope they can help me," Bratton said before the sanity hearing at which doctors told Judge Stevens the former fighter was incompetent and needed treatment.

Barrelville Tops Zihlman In 10th, 3-2

Galen McGregor's Hit Wins Contest

Barrelville slipped into first place in the Pen Mar Baseball League Memorial Day with a thrilling 3-2 decision over Zihlman in 10 innings. The triumph broke a deadlock between the two teams.

Galen McGregor broke up the pitching duel between Ronnie Rice and Jim McGregor with a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the first overtime frame to give Barrelville the victory.

In other games played on Wednesday Centreville and Mt. Savage hit the .500 mark for six games as the Reds edged Wellersburg, 8-6, in a rain-shortened clash at Centreville and the Old Germans walloped Flintstone, 11-2, in Mt. Savage.

Jim McGregor hurled four-hit ball in going the route for Barrelville with a pair of unearned runs for Zihlman in the top of the seventh sending the game into overtime. There was nobody out when Galen McGregor's smash to right sent home the winning tally.

Jack Brant had two hits, Bob Lookabaugh a double and Ed Parsons a two-bagger for Barrelville. Les Hunter had a pair of base knocks for Zihlman. The linescore:

Robert Simpson Captures Fort Hill Mibs Crown

Defeats Danny Callis In The Final Round

Robert Simpson won the Fort Hill marbles championship yesterday in three shots. With Danny Callis, a former champion, as his opponent in the finals, Simpson stuck in the ring on his first shot and knocked the necessary seven marbles out of the ring to win 7-1. In the second game he missed on the first shot but stuck on the second and again cleaned out the ring.

Callis won his way to the finals by defeating Harold Sirbaugh, last year's Penn Avenue champ, and another crack shot, James Lowery. Simpson topped James Del Busso in the semi finals.

Joseph H. Pellerzi, science teacher at Fort Hill, and J. William Hunt, director of the Times-News Marbles Tournament, conducted the finals yesterday, the last to be held before the Cumberland area finals June 5 at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

Special T-shirts will be given to all 24 champions before the final league play begins at 3:30 p.m. After the tournament ends the 24 champs will be guests of the Times-News at a supper in the private dining room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Following the supper the 24 famous youngsters will be guests of Schine's Strand Theatre at the first evening showing of "The Searchers," biggest action movie in many years, starring John Wayne, and showing at the Strand at the same time as in New York City. While at the Strand the representatives of the 24 schools will be introduced from the stage at which time Manager Fred Liederbach will present each of them a Strand pass good for two for the entire month of June.

Winner of the June 5 tournament will go to Asbury Park, N.J., for the National Marbles Tournament June 17-22 with all expenses paid by the local newspapers. With the exception of the World War II years, the Times-News has sent a local marbles champ to the National Tournament since 1933.

McCoole Defeats Pryne Tossers, 8-3

McCOOLE, May 31 — McCoole's Vets scored seven runs in the final inning to defeat Pryne, 8-3, yesterday in a Mineral County Softball League game at Keyser.

Fazzalore, with a double and single and Ahern, who homered with two aboard in the big seventh, were the big guns for McCoole. Oglebay had two hits for Pryne. The score:

McCoole							7	7	2
Pryne							3	5	3

Clevenger and P. Emery, Fortney and Simone.

(End of Season)

Ed Parsons slammed a seventh inning homerun off the slants of Arthur Washington to give the Fort Hill High Sentinels a thrilling 9-8 decision over Allegany High's Campers at Campobello yesterday. The win enabled Fort Hill to capture the city baseball crown outright and gain a tie with LaSalle High's Explorers for the Bi-State Conference title.

LaSalle, leader in the conference most of the season, remained deadlocked for first place in the nine-team circuit by downing Beall High's Mountaineers, 6-3, at Stitcher Field.

Freshman coach Gene Shaw started Don Paye on the mound against the Sentinels and two walks, a bunt single loaded the bases for Fort Hill. A couple of wide balls to the next batter brought Washington to the hill for Allegany in the first inning when Fort Hill scored six times.

Plate Six Tallies

Washington appeared to be out of trouble with a pair of quick strikeouts but failed to cover first on a bouncer to first which went for a hit as a run scored. An infield error and three more singles by Frank Valentine, Bill Hanekamp and Jesse Markley plated the six tallies for Fort Hill.

Markley, ace of Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's staff, breezing behind a 7-0 lead, blanked Allegany until the fourth when he ran into some extra base clouting which brought the Campers even.

Jim Deremer singled and scored on Ronnie Diehl's double. Diehl came home when Stan Abramson belted one out of the park. Fort Hill added another tally for an 8-3 edge in the fifth.

Here the long ball again helped Allegany. Washington and Pete Charuhas singled and with two out Diehl blasted out a homerun to bring in three more tallies. In the sixth the Campers tied the score at 8-all when Ronnie Bruce and Jerry Yankelevitz strolled with two out. Washington then tripled to deep centerfield for two runs.

Parsons Wins Game

Parsons' smash over the fence gave Markley the decision, his seventh against two losses.

The triumph was Fort Hill's third in four city contests as they swept the Allegany series, having won the opener, 10-0.

It also marked the second time Fort Hill has tied LaSalle for the Bi-State title, having done so in 1943. The Sentinels under Cavanaugh have won the Bi State crown outright four times, running second only to Beall which has won five championships in the 18 years the circuit has been in operation.

LaSalle, behind the six-hit pitching of Lefty Bill Roberts, beat Beall at Stitcher Field to gain the Bi State deadlock with a 13-3 mark with Fort Hill.

Imes Hits Double

The lefthander walked only one and struck out 10 in gaining his fifth triumph.

LaSalle has tied for the championship before with Fort Hill in 1943 and with Allegany in 1954. The Explorers won two titles outright in 1944 and 1947.

Kline Blanks New York, 3-0

Freese Bats Home Runs With Double

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Ronnie Kline, 24-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate righthander, pitched his second shutout of the season tonight as the scrappy Pirates beat the New York Giants 3-0. Gene Freese accounted for all of the Pirate runs with a bases-loaded double off starter Jim Hearn in the fifth. The game was called by rain in the last of the eighth.

The Giants had retired the first Pirate batter in the eighth when the rain came. The umpires waited for 44 minutes before deciding the contest could not go on.

No one was happier than the Pirates for it meant two victories in three games with the Giants and left them only 1½ games behind first-place Milwaukee. Despite threatening weather and a pre-game rainfall, 15,123 fans turned out to push the Pirates' home attendance past the 72,000 mark in their last four home dates.

Kline, who now has a 4-3 record and who beat Milwaukee 5-0 on a six hitter May 20 for his first shutout of the season, gave up but four hits—all singles. Don Mueller got two of them. Kline struck out three and had perfect control as he didn't give up a walk.

Hearn hooked up in a hurling duel with Kline until the fifth when Bill Virdon beat out a roller to shortstop Alvin Dark. Hank Foiles then reached first safely and Virdon went to second as Dark fumbled Foiles' grounder for an error. Pinch-hitter Bob Skinner walked to load the bases but Hearn settled down to strike out Kline. Then Freese doubled off the left field scoreboard and that was all the Pirates needed.

Texas Open Round Cancelled By Storm

DALLAS, May 31 (AP)—The first round of the $70,000 Texas International Open Golf Tournament was cancelled because of a storm today and will go on tomorrow but whether the tournament will be extended through Monday to make it up was causing a sharp controversy.

Team To Practice

The Senators of the Little Baseball League will practice Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Swick And Wilson Named Coaches

Allen Swick, former Romney High baseball coach, and Kyle Wilson, one-time Oakland Southern High athletic director, have been named to positions in Montgomery County.

Swick will be director of athletics and physical education and will coach basketball and baseball at Walter Johnson High in Bethesda.

Outdoor Club Cops 6th Win Over Moose 8-5

The Outdoor Club scored its sixth consecutive victory in an unbeaten season yesterday by downing the Moose, 8-5, on the strength of a five-run rally in the last inning.

The Rocking Chair League leaders, trailing 5-3 after Pete Cecil homered with two aboard for the Moose in the third, got rolling with one out in the seventh. Cecil Grimes walked, Morrison hit a pinch double for Harry Larrick for a run, Ted Durbin doubled to tie the score, Pete Elliott smacked a three-bagger, George Evans singled, went to second on an infield out, and scored on Bub Porter's fourth hit, a single.

Durbin had a triple and double, Elliott a triple and homerun and Porter four hits, one a two-bagger, to pace the victors. Pete Cecil collected a single along with his homer and Dickle had three bingles for the Moose.

In another game at Campobello the VFW easily downed the Knights of Columbus, 12-3, as Charles Crabtree, Bob Koelker, Dick Klavuhn and Russ Myers each banged out a double. Don Harden and Larry Geiger had two-base hits for the Caseys.

In games on Memorial Day the Eagles upended the VFW, 7-1, at Stitcher Field; Outdoor Club edged the Elks, 5-3, at Fort Hill; and Celanese downed the Moose, 6-5, in 11 innings at Campobello. The scores:

Rec Dept. To Sponsor Tennis

Sessions Planned For Adults, Teens

The City Recreation Department will sponsor tennis in four different sections of the city this summer, starting next Tuesday, June 5th.

Sessions for teenagers and adults will be held as follows: Tuesday, June 5th, on the Dingle courts; Wednesday at the Fort Hill school courts; Thursday, the North End Playground new courts; Friday the Gephart playground.

Next week, until the schools are out, teenagers 13 through 18 will meet in the afternoons, 3:30 to 5:00. The following week through the summer months in the mornings 9:30 to 12 noon. Younger players, 10 to 13 will be taken on the Fort Hill courts Wednesdays only.

Adults will meet on the same days as the teenagers in the evenings, 5:30 to 8:30.

To get the most out of tennis a player needs a sound game. The easiest way to develop a sound game is through sound instruction the Recreation Department points out. Great satisfaction is to be derived from the knowledge that you are playing tennis the right way. Tennis lessons impart self confidence and eliminate a groping approach to the game.

L. E. Van Sant, the Recreation Department tennis instructor, says once the beginner masters the fundamentals he can carry on alone in a short time.

Rackets and balls for these sessions will be furnished by the Recreation Department.

Bratton Ruled Mental Incompetent

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP) — Johnny Bratton of Chicago, 29, former welterweight boxing champion, today was ruled mentally incompetent in Cook County Psychopathic Court.

Judge Walter J. Stevens, county judge of Whiteside County, ordered Bratton, once a Chicago ring favorite, committed to the state mental hospital at Manteno, Ill.

"I hope they can help me," Bratton said before the sanity hearing at which doctors told Judge Stevens the former fighter was incompetent and needed treatment.

Robert Shaw and Mike Melody of Keyser; Mike Firlie, SS. Peter & Paul; Mickey Scaletta, St. Patrick's, and Jerry Wine, of St. Peter's Oakland, were the choices for the first team.

Tommy Simpson and Tommy Spicer, St. Mary's; and Carroll Wilt, Julian Schonter and Larry Burns, SS. Peter & Paul were named on the second team.

St. Mary's of Cumberland, 1955 football champions, and SS. Peter & Paul, 1955-56 basketball champions, were presented trophies by the league.

Flaherty Receives $93,819 For His Indianapolis Win

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP)—Pat Flaherty, the Chicago Irishman who won the 40th 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, picked up a record $93,819 tonight from a total purse of $282,050 which also was the biggest payoff since the first race in 1911.

The previous records were the late Bill Vukovich's winning total of $89,496.96 in 1953 and the record purse of $270,050 last year.

John Baggett Wins First Flight Match

John Baggett defeated Rev. Ray Richardson, 2 and 1, in a first flight match of the men's spring handicap tournament at the Cumberland Country Club on Memorial Day.

In a second flight match Charles Zembower won one-up in 18 holes over William Cooley and in the fourth flight C. McIntyre defeated H. F. Radcliffe, 2 and 1.

In the foursomes played Wednesday the best ball winners were tied with scores of 56 in Pro-Am play. The teams were composed of George Garlitz, pro, and amateurs Ed Mullen, Cliff Hafer and J. Wilson vs. Max Bastian, pro, and amateurs T. Mason, R. Reinhard and Charles Zembower.

Galen McGregor's Hit Wins Contest

Barrelville slipped into first place in the Pen Mar Baseball League Memorial Day with a thrilling 3-2 decision over Zihlman in 10 innings. The triumph broke a deadlock between the two teams.

Galen McGregor broke up the pitching duel between Ronnie Rice and Jim McGregor with a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the first overtime frame to give Barrelville the victory.

In other games played on Wednesday Centreville and Mt. Savage hit the .500 mark for six games as the Reds edged Wellersburg, 8-6, in a rain-shortened clash at Centreville and the Old Germans walloped Flintstone, 11-2, in Mt. Savage.

Jim McGregor hurled four-hit ball in going the route for Barrelville with a pair of unearned runs for Zihlman in the top of the seventh sending the game into overtime. There was nobody out when Galen McGregor's smash to right sent home the winning tally.

Jack Brant had two hits, Bob Lookabaugh a double and Ed Parsons a two-bagger for Barrelville. Les Hunter had a pair of base knocks for Zihlman. The linescore:

Robert Simpson Captures Fort Hill Mibs Crown

Defeats Danny Callis In The Final Round

Robert Simpson won the Fort Hill marbles championship yesterday in three shots. With Danny Callis, a former champion, as his opponent in the finals, Simpson stuck in the ring on his first shot and knocked the necessary seven marbles out of the ring to win 7-1. In the second game he missed on the first shot but stuck on the second and again cleaned out the ring.

Callis won his way to the finals by defeating Harold Sirbaugh, last year's Penn Avenue champ, and another crack shot, James Lowery. Simpson topped James Del Busso in the semi finals.

Joseph H. Pellerzi, science teacher at Fort Hill, and J. William Hunt, director of the Times-News Marbles Tournament, conducted the finals yesterday, the last to be held before the Cumberland area finals June 5 at Gephart Playground, Frederick street.

Special T-shirts will be given to all 24 champions before the final league play begins at 3:30 p.m. After the tournament ends the 24 champs will be guests of the Times-News at a supper in the private dining room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Following the supper the 24 famous youngsters will be guests of Schine's Strand Theatre at the first evening showing of "The Searchers," biggest action movie in many years, starring John Wayne, and showing at the Strand at the same time as in New York City. While at the Strand the representatives of the 24 schools will be introduced from the stage at which time Manager Fred Liederbach will present each of them a Strand pass good for two for the entire month of June.

Winner of the June 5 tournament will go to Asbury Park, N.J., for the National Marbles Tournament June 17-22 with all expenses paid by the local newspapers. With the exception of the World War II years, the Times-News has sent a local marbles champ to the National Tournament since 1933.

McCoole Defeats Pryne Tossers, 8-3

McCOOLE, May 31 — McCoole's Vets scored seven runs in the final inning to defeat Pryne, 8-3, yesterday in a Mineral County Softball League game at Keyser.

Fazzalore, with a double and single and Ahern, who homered with two aboard in the big seventh, were the big guns for McCoole. Oglebay had two hits for Pryne. The score:

McCoole	001	000	7—8 7 2
Pryne	200	000	1—3 5 3

Clevenger and P. Emery, Fortney and Simone.

Nats' Weird Play Helps Yanks Win

Bombers Defeat Washington, 9-6

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Washington's Senators kicked in with some weird baseball in the sixth inning today, and the New York Yankees tallied five unearned runs to register a 9-6 victory and increase their first place lead in the American League to 6½ games.

Each club used three pitchers, as the hits rattled into all corners of Yankee Stadium. But a couple of Washington errors in the sixth when the score was deadlocked at 4-all, plus three hits, gave New York the runs it needed to pull further away from Chicago and Cleveland. Both were idle today, and are tied for second place.

Bill Skowron's single through Lyle Luttrell at short started the Yankees off in the big sixth and, after Elston Howard walked, starter Chuck Stobbs was relieved by Bob Chakales.

Then the fireworks began. Joe Collins batted for Bob Cerv and fouled to Roy Sievers, near the Yankee dugout. Skowron tried for third and when Eddie Yost dropped Sievers' throw for an error, Yanks were perched on second and third.

Andy Carey grounded to Pete Runnels at second, whose throw home was too late to get Skowron. Howard, who took third, then was hung up between third and home when Don Larsen grounded to Yost. But Luttrell's throw hit him in the back, and Howard and Carey both romped home when the ball rolled away. Larsen moved to third.

Hank Bauer sent a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Larsen, who had relieved starter Bob Grim in the fifth. Then Billy Martin singled, took second on a wild pitch, and came home on Gil McDougald's single, his third.

Conrad Loses To Reid Jack

British Amateur Without American

TROON, Scotland, May 31 (AP)—A Scot champion and a cold Scotch mist blew defending champion Joe Conrad out of the British Amateur Golf Championship today, leaving the tournament without an American semifinalist for the first time since World War II.

Reid Jack, whose greatest previous golfing achievement had been winning the Scottish amateur title last year, defeated Conrad, 1-up, in a 36-hole match that kept a gallery of 4,000 on edge. The Texan who won the title last year was the last survivor of 27 Americans who started play Monday.

So tomorrow it will be Jack against John Beharrell, 18-year-old English schoolboy, and George Henderson, a Scottish civil servant, against Leslie Taylor, Glasgow insurance man, in the 36-hole semi-finals. Thus Scotland is assured of its first finalist and perhaps its first champion since Alex Kyle won in 1939.

Beharrell, Britain's brightest young prospect, coasted to a 6 and 5 victory over Dr. Frank Deighton, 30-year-old Scottish physician.

Henderson turned back the West of Scotland champion, Herbert Thomson, 2-up, and Taylor beat Melville Bucker, a hero of World War II, 4 and 2.

The 36-hole final is scheduled for Saturday over Troon's 6,583 yard seaside course. Since competition was resumed after the war, Americans have won the title nine times and have been finalists the other four years. Three Irishmen and an Australian accounted for the other titles.

Gene Dawson Gets Athletic Award At Bruce

Gene Dawson received the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company award as the outstanding athlete at the Bruce High School graduation exercises last night in Westernport.

Dawson, a three-sport star, was very active in baseball, basketball and soccer at Bruce and captured the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League scoring title this year with 223 points in 10 games. He also was runnerup with two others for the soccer scoring crown with six tallies.

The award, given annually by the Luke paper plant, is a wristwatch.

Boardman Faces Ryff Tonight

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Conqueror of two champions before he was 20, Larry Boardman of Marlborough, Conn. will get a chance to show just how good he is tomorrow night when he faces Frankie Ryff.

The lightweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden will be broadcast and telecast (NBC 9 p. m. EST).

Son of a onetime pro fighter, Boardman got himself a reputation when he came off the floor to outpoint lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith in a non-title fight Feb. 7. Then, to prove it was no fluke, he whipped featherweight king Sandy Saddler in another over-the-weight affair on April 14.

Archie Moore Boxes

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—Archie Moore boxed three fast rounds against two opponents today, and predicted, "I'll take Pompey whenever I'm ready."

The 39-year-old light heavyweight champion, who meets Yolande Pompey here Tuesday night for the world title, said: "I'll knock him out the first time I really hit him. I expect to hit him that way before the fifth round."

Braves Knot Homer Marks, Beat Cubs, 15-8

Blast 14 Homeruns In Three Games

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP) — The homer-conscious Milwaukee Braves slammed five more circuit wallops today, two by Joe Adcock, to tie two major league records in walloping the Chicago Cubs, 15-8.

Lew Burdette notched his fourth triumph against two defeats, but was chased by a 6-run Cub ninth. Red Murff nipped the closing Cub rally by coaxing a game-ending double-play.

Adcock drove across five runs with his 4th and 5th homers of the season, while Del Crandall hit his No. 8, Bill Bruton smashed No. 2 and Ed Mathews clouted No. 8 in the 15-hit Milwaukee assault on three Cub pitchers.

The three-game Milwaukee-Cub series, including yesterday's twin bill in which 39 runs and 15 homers were registered, wound up with a total of 62 runs and 22 homers.

The Cubs got two homers today, Jim King's No. 3 in the sixth and Pete Whisenant's No. 4 clout, good for three runs, in the ninth.

The Braves tied the record for homers by one club in three and four successive games as they ran their string to 14 and 16, respectively.

Three clubs previously held the mark of 14 homers for three straight games—the Yankees, Red Sox and Braves—while the Braves set the record of 16 homers in four consecutive games in 1953.

Bosox Trim Orioles, 4-1

Porterfield Gains Second Decision

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP) — Bob Porterfield held the Baltimore Orioles to four singles at Memorial Stadium today, pitching the Red Sox to a 4-1 victory.

It was the second victory and second complete game of the season for the Boston Red Sox righthander, both coming over the Orioles. Porterfield has lost three.

Bill Wight, first of three Baltimore pitchers, gave up all the Red Sox runs and six of their eight hits in his five innings on the mound and was charged with his fifth setback against two victories.

Porterfield, who also collected three singles in three official trips to the plate, did not give up a safety after the fifth inning.

The Red Sox jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a leadoff walk to Billy Goodman, a single by Billy Klaus, Ted Williams' infield bouncer on which Goodman scored from third and Jensen's single which sent Klaus across the plate.

The Baltimore run was the result of singles by Tito Francona and George Kell, a walk to Bob Nieman, and Gus Triandos' infield bouncer, scoring Francona.

Nats' Weird Play Helps Yanks Win

Bombers Defeat Washington, 9-6

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Washington's Senators kicked in with some weird baseball in the sixth inning today, and the New York Yankees tallied five unearned runs to register a 9-6 victory and increase their first place lead in the American League to 6½ games.

Each club used three pitchers, as the hits rattled into all corners of Yankee Stadium. But a couple of Washington errors in the sixth when the score was deadlocked at 4-all, plus three hits, gave New York the runs it needed to pull further away from Chicago and Cleveland. Both were idle today, and are tied for second place.

Bill Skowron's single through Lyle Luttrell at short started the Yankees off in the big sixth and, after Elston Howard walked, starter Chuck Stobbs was relieved by Bob Chakales.

Then the fireworks began. Joe Collins batted for Bob Cerv and fouled to Roy Sievers, near the Yankee dugout. Skowron tried for third and when Eddie Yost dropped Sievers' throw for an error, Yanks were perched on second and third.

Andy Carey grounded to Pete Runnels at second, whose throw home was too late to get Skowron. Howard, who took third, then was hung up between third and home when Don Larsen grounded to Yost. But Luttrell's throw hit him in the back, and Howard and Carey both romped home when the ball rolled away. Larsen moved to third.

Hank Bauer sent a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Larsen, who had relieved starter Bob Grim in the fifth. Then Billy Martin singled, took second on a wild pitch, and came home on Gil McDougald's single, his third.

Conrad Loses To Reid Jack

British Amateur Without American

TROON, Scotland, May 31 (AP)—A Scot champion and a cold Scotch mist blew defending champion Joe Conrad out of the British Amateur Golf Championship today, leaving the tournament without an American semifinalist for the first time since World War II.

Reid Jack, whose greatest previous golfing achievement had been winning the Scottish amateur title last year, defeated Conrad, 1-up, in a 36-hole match that kept a gallery of 4,000 on edge. The Texan who won the title last year was the last survivor of 27 Americans who started play Monday.

So tomorrow it will be Jack against John Beharrell, 18-year-old English schoolboy, and George Henderson, a Scottish civil servant, against Leslie Taylor, Glasgow insurance man, in the 36-hole semi-finals. Thus Scotland is assured of its first finalist and perhaps its first champion since Alex Kyle won in 1939.

Beharrell, Britain's brightest young prospect, coasted to a 6 and 5 victory over Dr. Frank Deighton, 30-year-old Scottish physician.

Henderson turned back the West of Scotland champion, Herbert Thomson, 2-up, and Taylor beat Melville Bucker, a hero of World War II, 4 and 2.

The 36-hole final is scheduled for Saturday over Troon's 6,583 yard seaside course. Since competition was resumed after the war, Americans have won the title nine times and have been finalists the other four years. Three Irishmen and an Australian accounted for the other titles.

Gene Dawson Gets Athletic Award At Bruce

Gene Dawson received the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company award as the outstanding athlete at the Bruce High School graduation exercises last night in Westernport.

Dawson, a three-sport star, was very active in baseball, basketball and soccer at Bruce and captured the Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League scoring title this year with 223 points in 10 games. He also was runnerup with two others for the soccer scoring crown with six tallies.

The award, given annually by the Luke paper plant, is a wristwatch.

Boardman Faces Ryff Tonight

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Conqueror of two champions before he was 20, Larry Boardman of Marlborough, Conn. will get a chance to show just how good he is tomorrow night when he faces Frankie Ryff.

The lightweight 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden will be broadcast and telecast (NBC 9 p. m. EST).

Son of a onetime pro fighter, Boardman got himself a reputation when he came off the floor to outpoint lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith in a non-title fight Feb. 7. Then, to prove it was no fluke, he whipped featherweight king Sandy Saddler in another over-the-weight affair on April 14.

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—Archie Moore boxed three fast rounds against two opponents today, and predicted, "I'll take Pompey whenever I'm ready."

The 39-year-old light heavyweight champion, who meets Yolande Pompey here Tuesday night for the world title, said: "I'll knock him out the first time I really hit him. I expect to hit him that way before the fifth round."

Braves Knot Homer Marks, Beat Cubs, 15-8

Blast 14 Homeruns In Three Games

CHICAGO, May 31 (AP) — The homer-conscious Milwaukee Braves slammed five more circuit wallops today, two by Joe Adcock, to tie two major league records in walloping the Chicago Cubs, 15-8.

Lew Burdette notched his fourth triumph against two defeats, but was chased by a 6-run Cub ninth. Red Murff nipped the closing Cub rally by coaxing a game-ending double-play.

Adcock drove across five runs with his 4th and 5th homers of the season, while Del Crandall hit his No. 8, Bill Bruton smashed No. 2 and Ed Mathews clouted No. 8 in the 15-hit Milwaukee assault on three Cub pitchers.

The three-game Milwaukee-Cub series, including yesterday's twin bill in which 39 runs and 15 homers were registered, wound up with a total of 62 runs and 22 homers.

The Cubs got two homers today, Jim King's No. 3 in the sixth and Pete Whisenant's No. 4 clout, good for three runs, in the ninth.

The Braves tied the record for homers by one club in three and four successive games as they ran their string to 14 and 16, respectively.

Three clubs previously held the mark of 14 homers for three straight games—the Yankees, Red Sox and Braves—while the Braves set the record of 16 homers in four consecutive games in 1953.

Young Woman Is Found Dead

Police reported no marks of violence on the body. An autopsy was ordered to determine the exact cause of death.

Police entered the apartment with a pass key after being called by a friend of the woman. Natlack E. Crane said he had been trying since Tuesday night to contact Miss Smith. He said he could see lights on but got no response to his knocks.

Miss Smith was found in a robe, sprawled on the bathroom floor. Some of her clothes, bottles of instant coffee and medicines were found on the floor of a hallway. The bed was made up and the bedroom window was open slightly.

A cocker spaniel puppy was roaming through the apartment when police entered.

The woman had been employed until recently as a saleswoman for an automobile concern. The manager of the agency said she left about a week ago but called him Tuesday afternoon to get her job back. He said he told her the job was still open for her.

Two To Receive Honorary Degrees

BALTIMORE, May 31 (AP) — A Jesuit leader and a chemist will receive honorary degrees from Loyola University at commencement exercises Sunday.

The Rev. Edward B. Rooney, executive director of the Jesuit Educational Assn., will receive an honorary degree of doctor of letters.

Dr. Walter A. Patrick, now a teacher at Loyola and professor emeritus of chemistry at Johns Hopkins University, will be presented an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

The paint in the rock-cut temple of Ipsambul, Nubia, apparently is as bright today as when it was put on 4,000 years ago.

A Trend To The Right

There are a good many reasons for the almost hysterical success of "My Fair Lady," the musical which has prostrated both critics and public. The show has, as a starter, George Bernard Shaw's imperishable "Pygmalion" script and, as if that weren't enough, it has acquired superb lyrics and songs by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, stunning physical beauty of sets and costumes, and a cast headed by Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews that is so good that you can hardly conceive anyone else playing the roles.

Those are reasons enough but there is, I think, one other reason for the sort of warm glow that enlivens the stage at the Mark Hellinger. "My Fair Lady" is an unabashed Cinderella story, a romance, in short of classical design. Of course, so in a sense were the play and the movie, but the fact was obscured by Shaw's wit and sense. In "My Fair Lady," surrounded by song, the romantic aspects of the story seem to be more emphatic and the fact that the public has embraced it with such enthusiasm indicates to an old trend-spotter like myself that the public might very well be very much in the mood for romance.

Some time ago, Abe Burrows declared that one of the reasons for the enormous success of musical comedy—or more appropriately in the case of shows like "South Pacific," musical plays—was that songwriters could get away with more schmaltz in a lyric than the modern playwright dared to put into dialogue. In other words, the actors could sing about love when they didn't dare talk about it. It was a valid point when he made it, but I'm not sure it still is.

For years now, we have been deluged on the stage, in the movies and on television with plays about sex perversion, alcoholism, dope addiction, crime, decay and despair. It would be foolish not to admit that some of these were darn fine plays and worthy contributions to the theater. But enough is enough. Popular revulsion against this sort of seamy preoccupation with the more malevolent aspects of society was bound to come—and maybe it is already here.

In his excellent book "How Not To Write A Play," which I feel ought to be required reading not only for screenwriters, playwriters and TV writers but also for directors and producers in all media, Walter Kerr pleads for a return from the jungle of inarticulate dialogue of our time to the high literacy and even poetry of the Elizabethan theater. Part of the public's delight in "My Fair Lady" is the fact that it is unashamedly literate. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Lerner both write English with relish and a decent reverence for syntax. For years, synatax has been almost a dirty word and a complete sentence almost unknown in the contemporary theater.

Rather maliciously and very accurately, Mr. Kerr points out that the discovery of the parenthesis was one of the worst things that ever happened to a playwright. By use of the parenthesis, he points out, the lazy playwright can drop the whole thing in the lap of an actor. A line like, "Are you going?" can be tricked up by placing before it ("Piteously").

Or the same line can serve a dozen purposes:

(Angrily): "Are you going?"
(Sulleniy): "Are you going?"
(Impatiently): "Are you going?"
(Slyly): "Are you going?"
(Thrilled): "Are you going?"

"Pick up any play written in the 20th Century and you will be bombarded with emotions enclosed in parenthesis. Take away the parenthesis and you are likely to feel nothing at all; you will be lucky if you can grasp what the play is all about . . . The tongues of the world are tied these days. 'And perhaps we—' means a little more than when (desperately) is placed in front of it. But I'm not sure it means much more."

Quotation "From outer space will come a new intelligence which will so affect and influence our lives that it will alter the entire complexion of our society."
Yes—it is with us now and it has been named Television—The Whole world is clamoring to derive the benefits TV can bring!

Here in the U.S.A. most of the people are fortunate in getting good TV as compared to many parts of the world. Some cities even here in the U.S.A. cannot get good TV due to mountains being between them and the TV stations or the distance is too far to the TV stations.

Hundreds of cities and towns here in the U.S.A. would still be without good TV, if cable TV companies such as Cumberland has—had not been organized.

QUIZ

Partner bids One Spade, next player passes, neither side vulnerable. What do you bid on each of the following hands?

Q1. ♠QJ85 ♥9 ♦K984 ♣AJ63
Q2. ♠9 ♥9853 ♦QJ962 ♣A94
Q3. ♠A987542 ♥—— ♦984 ♣763
Q4. ♠A82 ♥96 ♦985 ♣A9874

Q1. Three spades. The double raise describes a hand ranging from 13 to 15 points and including at least four trumps. If the distribution is 4-3-3-3 all the points are in high cards, but where the responder's hand has a different shape the high card requirement decreases in proportion to the unevenness of the distribution. In this case there are 11 high card points, but the lone heart, together with the fine trump support, pulls up the overall value of the hand at least three points. Therefore the hand assumes full value as an opening bid, and the known presence of two opening bids requires that a bid forcing to game be made. There is not much point to replying two clubs. The suit to play in is spades, and we ought not attach any ifs, ands or buts by naming clubs.

Q2. One notrump. Whenever the responding hand has six or more points an obligation arises to keep the bidding going opposite a bid of one in a suit. With a hand containing 6 to 9 points the responder bids either one notrump, or, with adequate trump support, two of the opening bidder's suit. To go into the two level in a new suit, which compels a rebid by the opener, the responder has to have at least 10 points, but the distributional values may be included. In the hand given, a pass is out of order because there are 7 points; we can't bid two diamonds because there are not 10 points; therefore one notrump is the appropriate bid.

Q3. Four spades. This is one of the few sequences in bidding where a high level bid is weaker than a lower level bid. The triple raise is a much weaker call than the double raise. The requisites are at least five trumps, a high card point count between 4 and 8, and a poor defensive hand if the opponents buy the hand. The main purpose is to freeze the opponents out of the bidding. Slam possibilities are utterly denied, and in many cases doubt exists that the contract can be fulfilled.

Q4. Two spades. An important facet of good bidding technique is the avoidance of future bidding problems. Thus, a two club response may present us with a later problem whenever the rebid by partner is two spades. If this should happen, a further bid to three spades would overstate the values held, while a pass would suppress the satisfactory spade fit. By bidding two spades directly, partner will be in position to make a correct determination of the future of the hand.

A Trend To The Right

There are a good many reasons for the almost hysterical success of "My Fair Lady," the musical which has prostrated both critics and public. The show has, as a starter, George Bernard Shaw's imperishable "Pygmalion" script and, as if that weren't enough, it has acquired superb lyrics and songs by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe, stunning physical beauty of sets and costumes, and a cast headed by Rex Harrison and Julie Andrews that is so good that you can hardly conceive anyone else playing the roles.

Those are reasons enough but there is, I think, one other reason for the sort of warm glow that enlivens the stage at the Mark Hellinger. "My Fair Lady" is an unabashed Cinderella story, a romance, in short of classical design. Of course, so in a sense were the play and the movie, but the fact was obscured by Shaw's wit and sense. In "My Fair Lady," surrounded by song, the romantic aspects of the story seem to be more emphatic and the fact that the public has embraced it with such enthusiasm indicates to an old trend-spotter like myself that the public might very well be very much in the mood for romance.

Some time ago, Abe Burrows declared that one of the reasons for the enormous success of musical comedy—or more appropriately in the case of shows like "South Pacific," musical plays—was that songwriters could get away with more schmaltz in a lyric than the modern playwright dared to put into dialogue. In other words, the actors could sing about love when they didn't dare talk about it. It was a valid point when he made it, but I'm not sure it still is.

For years now, we have been deluged on the stage, in the movies and on television with plays about sex perversion, alcoholism, dope addiction, crime, decay and despair. It would be foolish not to admit that some of these were darn fine plays and worthy contributions to the theater. But enough is enough. Popular revulsion against this sort of seamy preoccupation with the more malevolent aspects of society was bound to come—and maybe it is already here.

In his excellent book "How Not To Write A Play," which I feel ought to be required reading not only for screenwriters, playwriters and TV writers but also for directors and producers in all media, Walter Kerr pleads for a return from the jungle of inarticulate dialogue of our time to the high literacy and even poetry of the Elizabethan theater. Part of the public's delight in "My Fair Lady" is the fact that it is unashamedly literate. Mr. Shaw and Mr. Lerner both write English with relish and a decent reverence for syntax. For years, synatax has been almost a dirty word and a complete sentence almost unknown in the contemporary theater.

Rather maliciously and very accurately, Mr. Kerr points out that the discovery of the parenthesis was one of the worst things that ever happened to a playwright. By use of the parenthesis, he points out, the lazy playwright can drop the whole thing in the lap of an actor. A line like, "Are you going?" can be tricked up by placing before it ("Piteously").

Or the same line can serve a dozen purposes:

(Angrily): "Are you going?"
(Sullenly): "Are you going?"
(Impatiently): "Are you going?"
(Slyly): "Are you going?"
(Thrilled): "Are you going?"

"Pick up any play written in the 20th Century and you will be bombarded with emotions enclosed in parenthesis. Take away the parenthesis and you are likely to feel nothing at all; you will be lucky if you can grasp what the play is all about . . . The tongues of the world are tied these days. 'And perhaps we—' means a little more than when (desperately) is placed in front of it. But I'm not sure it means much more."

QUIZ

Partner bids One Spade, next player passes, neither side vulnerable. What do you bid on each of the following hands?

Q1. ♠QJ85 ♥9 ♦K984 ♣AJ63
Q2. ♠9 ♥9853 ♦QJ962 ♣A94
Q3. ♠A987542 ♥—— ♦984 ♣763
Q4. ♠A82 ♥96 ♦985 ♣A9874

Q1. Three spades. The double raise describes a hand ranging from 13 to 15 points and including at least four trumps. If the distribution is 4-3-3-3 all the points are in high cards, but where the responder's hand has a different shape the high card requirement decreases in proportion to the unevenness of the distribution. With a hand containing 6 to 9 points the responder bids either one notrump, or, with adequate trump support, two of the opening bidder's suit. To go into the two level in a new suit, which compels a rebid by the opener, the responder has to have at least 10 points, but the distributional values may be included. In the hand given, a pass is out of order because there are 7 points; we can't bid two diamonds because there are not 10 points; therefore one notrump is the appropriate bid.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our Mother, Mrs. Jennie Evans. We wish to thank all who in any way rendered assistance.

THE EVANS FAMILY

The family of the late Clarence Cook, Frostburg, take this means in which to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and for the many expressions of sympathy in cards, floral tributes and lending of cars.

THE FAMILY

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so helpful and kind to us in our bereavement at the sudden death of our beloved husband and son, Roger H. Row. We especially wish to thank Dr. Howard M. Amoss who conducted the funeral service; the officers of Ohr Lodge No. 131 A. F. & A. M. who conducted the graveside service; the past masters of Ohr Lodge who served with him so faithfully and were pallbearers; the many friends, relatives, and neighbors who sent floral tributes, comforting words and messages of condolences or aided us in any way.

MRS. ROGER H. ROW
and
MRS. IVIA ROW NICELY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and dad, Isaac Huff, who departed this life 3 years ago, June 1st, 1953.

Peacefully sleeping beneath the green sod.
Peacefully sleeping in the arms of God.
Free from the pain of this world of care,
Happy and contented in Gods love over there.
Someday we'll greet you and shake your hand.
When God calls us to His "Promised Land."
There's one thing yet we'd have you know,
After three long years we love you and still miss you so.

Sadly missed by:
WIFE AND DAUGHTER

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our Mother, Mrs. Jennie Evans. We wish to thank all who in any way rendered assistance.

THE EVANS FAMILY

The family of the late Clarence Cook, Frostburg, take this means in which to thank the many friends and neighbors for their kindness and for the many expressions of sympathy in cards, floral tributes and lending of cars.

THE FAMILY

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so helpful and kind to us in our bereavement at the sudden death of our beloved husband and son, Roger H. Row. We especially wish to thank Dr. Howard M. Amoss who conducted the funeral service; the officers of Ohr Lodge No. 131 A. F. & A. M. who conducted the graveside service; the past masters of Ohr Lodge who served with him so faithfully and were pallbearers; the many friends, relatives, and neighbors who sent floral tributes, comforting words and messages of condolences or aided us in any way.

MRS. IVIA ROW NICELY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and dad, Isaac Huff, who departed this life 3 years ago, June 1st, 1953.

Peacefully sleeping beneath the green sod.
Peacefully sleeping in the arms of God.
Free from the pain of this world of care.
Happy and contented in Gods love over there.
Someday we'll greet you and shake your hand.
When God calls us to His "Promised Land."
There's one thing yet we'd have you know,
After three long years we love you and still miss you so.

Sadly missed by:
WIFE AND DAUGHTER

Meeting Fails To End Stoppage At Kelly Plant

Tread Room Dispute Idles 1,700 Workers

A membership meeting of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (AFL-CIO), last night failed to bring an agreement on the tread room walkout which halted production at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here yesterday.

The work stoppage, the first at the plant since 1954, was termed unauthorized by the company and the union. Some 1,700 hourly paid workers were idled by the stoppage.

James W. Stein, president, said the URCLPWA has been contacted and the company notified and that the issue will be taken up at the union's regular membership meeting tomorrow night.

The dispute involving piece work rates in the tread room began about 11 p. m. Wednesday and by 3 a. m. yesterday men in the unit had quit work.

Plant Is Idled

Workers reporting for the 7 a. m. shift were sent home in mid-morning due to lack of treads for making tires.

Stein, who termed the stoppage unauthorized, said the tread room men quit work over a dispute involving piece work rates, adding the grievance has been in process of negotiation for several weeks and that the company was notified of the situation.

Company officials said the men in the tread room quit work shortly after midnight and about 2 a. m. nine employes in Department 33 (calender room) left their work because of the tread disagreement. The tread room is where tread rubber is extruded.

A company spokesman, contacted after the meeting, said he was awaiting word from the president of the union on the results of the membership meeting.

He said plans to resume work on yesterday's 11 p. m. shift could not be placed into effect unless the tread room went back.

Stein said the local's executive board termed the strike unauthorized and recommended that the men go back to work after calling a membership meeting for 6:30 p. m.

Plans were made to attempt to get the men started back to work on the 11 p. m. shift.

Men Make Proposal

Stein said the union, at the night meeting, presented the company with a proposal which was turned down.

That, he added, left the dispute right where it was.

Stein said the local has a membership meeting scheduled tomorrow night and that the dispute will be taken up again at that time. He declined to elaborate on the issue.

A member of the tread room unit, however, reported the men who work there agreed to go back to work under conditions which existed prior to the walkout.

The company, he added, was notified to that effect but wanted the men to go back under the proposed new workload.

The department, he said refused to go back under that condition, adding the men claim they cannot meet the new workload.

Win Major Prizes At Fort Hill

These four graduates of Fort Hill High School won major awards at the school's annual commencement last night. Left to right, they are Barbara Largent, George Pitzer, Ronald Rice and Virginia Lillard. Rice and Miss Lillard won Welcome Home prizes as most representative seniors. Miss Lillard won three other honors. Miss Largent and Pitzer each received two awards for scholastic excellence. The school awarded diplomas to 247 graduates in outdoor ceremonies.

Bigger Share Of Tourist Business Sought For Area

Members of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce are being urged to help the Cumberland area get its share of the "industry without a smokestack" which brings $80,000,000 of new money into Maryland each year.

Western Maryland, the Chamber said, gets about $2,000,000 of this "new money" from the tourist business, yet has a potential of many times that amount.

The Cumberland area, it points out, is situated in the middle of the biggest vacationing population in the nation, since half of the people of the United States live within a radius of 500 miles of here.

Money spent by tourists, the Chamber points out, helps not only those who directly serve the travelers, since the "new money" is respect in the area to hire more people and to buy more things.

"A businessman, stopping here en route to the nation's capital, may decide to establish a branch office here. A sports car enthusiast, here to participate in the races, may find here the right factors, the right location, the right market for a new industry."

Here are the suggestions of the Chamber's Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee, for all residents of the Cumberland area:

Know what there is to see and how to get there.

Make the visitor feel at home.

Call on the Chamber of Commerce for any information or assistance that may make the traveler's visit more pleasant.

Local Industry Gets National Recognition

Artmor Plastics Corporation, Oldtown Road, one of Cumberland's new and growing small industries, is given top billing in the June issue of Modern Plastics magazine in recognition of advanced thinking and planning in plastics for building construction.

This issue of the publication is an unusually large special edition devoted to reviews of past accomplishments along with predictions for the future in the field of plastics. The issue coincides with the National Plastics Exposition, which occurs every two years, scheduled for June 11-15 in the recently built New York Coliseum.

The Cumberland firm is given special notice, and the article concerning its progress in plastic development as building material heads an entire section on building applications.

For some months, according to Arthur C. Morgan, president, the company has been working on several applications of plastics for wall board and other items widely used in building construction.

The feature article takes note of this progress, and it is accompanied by illustrations of these futuristic applications. S. Russ Minter, local architect who is alo vice president of Artmor, in collaboration with Morgan, prepared detailed plans for an all-plastic dwelling. The contemporary model home is not merely an architect's dream, but is actually to be built here, Morgan said, to show the widest possibe usage of plastics in construction.

A reproduction of a line drawing of the house is part of the feature article on the magazine. As a further indication of the recognition given the local firm's development and standing in the industry, the editor of the trade journal has indicated his intention of building a duplicate for himself on Long Island. He has asked for complete plans and specifications.

Morgan said the dwelling, as planned, will be completely revolutionary, and will offer the best possible uses of new building materials, providing for low cost maintainence, ease and economy of construction and the best in modern comfortable living.

Officer's Police Dog Stages Meat Robbery

A local police officer was a little embarrassed the other day when he walked into a grocery store here and paid a meat bill which was "charged" in a rather unusual fashion by his dog, a German Shepherd.

The police dog has been used to being treated to scraps of meat by the store management.

The other day, the dog strolled into the store alone, and when no one was watching, grabbed a large portion of meat and ran out the door.

His law-enforcing master was informed of the theft, and dug down in his pocket for the price of the meat—which reportedly was a sum around two dollars.

The canine obviously got quite a hearing when he went on trial.

Local Bankers To Attend Conference

Three local bankers will attend a young bankers conference in Baltimore June 6 and 7. It is being sponsored by Maryland Bankers Association.

On the program will be discussion of Federal Reserve open market, a panel on service charges and a movie describing the operations of the New York Stock Exchange.

Attending from the Liberty Trust Company are G. Morgan Smith and Edward McNamee and from the Second National Bank, Joseph Snyder.

Wader Cuts His Toe

Gerald Singleton, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Genevieve Singleton, 550 Eastern Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night after severely cutting the big toe of his right foot while wading in a creek. He was brought to the hospital about 6 p. m.

School Children To Visit Historical Society Home

Allegany County Historical Society house, 218 Washington Street, will be open today to four groups of pupils from West Side School.

Visitors, accompanied by their teachers, will be shown through the house in groups meeting there at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Members of the historical society will be present to talk about the collection of historical exhibits.

Miss Ruth Clauson, president of the society, said last evening the society plans to make school children visits available next year to those interested.

There have been numerous inquiries by various teachers for such extracurricular activities. Although the society has not been in a position to do this before, it is hoped today's visit will be the beginning of such a program.

Several groups of bill headings are being arranged to give the children an idea of business of the past. There also are World War I insignia and photographs of early Fort Cumberland maps.

Additional exhibits are being planned during the summer, including a room of primitives, early cooking utensils and tools, which will be of interest to school children.

Today's group, Miss Clauson said, will be from several age levels and should indicate to members in charge how valuable a contribution the historical society can make to the youth of the county.

Seniors Obtain Scholarships

Two high school seniors of Allegany County have been awarded state scholarships in engineering to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore by State Senator Charles M. See.

They are David Francis, 513 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, who was graduated last night from Bruce High School, and James Kissner, 28 Race Street, this city, who will receive his diploma tonight at Allegany High School.

Francis, who ranked in the top third of a class of 87, was president of his senior class, a member of the Student Council and was interested in dramatics. Kissner, who formerly lived on Winchester Road, is in the upper fifth of his class of 220 seniors. He has belonged to the musical organizations and is president of the National Honor Society.

Senator See also announced yesterday the awarding of a scholarship to Western Maryland College to Ronald Cindy of Cresaptown.

Sewage Treatment Plant Work Pushed

Work on Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant was pushed, both under and above ground last week, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Laying of the brick walls of the structure was under way as other crews set steel and poured concrete for inside portions of the building.

Motor-operated sluice gates were installed in the station's gate chamber.

Taking shape were the steel frames of the sludge bed covers.

AFL Meeting Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, according to Harry Hickle, president.

Four Schools Will Hold Graduations

Largest Class At Allegany

Four more Allegany County high schools will conduct their graduation exercises tonight as more than 500 seniors get their diplomas.

The largest class of the four is at Allegany High School, where 221 are scheduled to graduate. Ceremonies will start at 8:15 p. m. The principal address will be delivered by Imre Kovacs, a renowned world traveler, who spoke last night at Mt. Savage.

Beall High School in Frostburg is scheduled to graduate 154 seniors tonight. Commencement speaker there will be Harrison Wood, news analyst and foreign correspondent, who was heard last night at Fort Hill.

Valley High School's commencement at Lonaconing is scheduled tonight for some 107 graduates. Dr. George H. Tolley, a clergyman from Jamestown, N. Y., will speak there. He was the speaker last night at Bruce High School.

Tonight's fourth commencement will be at Oldtown High School, where 34 seniors are scheduled for graduation. Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, will speak there.

Murphy Co. Stores Mark Anniversary

The local G. C. Murphy Company Store on Baltimore Street will take part in the observance of the company's golden jubilee with the opening of its 50th Anniversary Sale today.

The company was incorporated in Pennsylvania in 1906, had grown to 12 stores by 1911, and now has 303 stores, with total 1955 sales volume of $196,423,090.

Quick Jury Rules Man Is Disabled

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court took only about eight minutes yesterday to decide that Harrison John Fletcher, who was injured when he fell off a ladder while picking apples at a Spring Gap orchard, is permanently and totally disabled.

Mrs. Letha Matlick was foreman of the jury of seven women and five men. Chief Judge George Henderson presided at the trial.

At an earlier hearing before the State Industrial Accident Commission, Commissioner R. Duncan Clark ruled that Fletcher was 75 per cent disabled and should receive $25 a week until he receives a total amount of $7,500.

Fletcher, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, appealed to Circuit Court. At yesterday's hearing the Consolidated Orchard Company, employer, and Century Indemnity Company, insurer, were represented by C. William Gilchrist, this city, and Alfred M. Porth of Baltimore.

The Spring Gap man, then 31, injured his leg and back August 6, 1954, when he fell 23 feet off the ladder to the ground.

As a result of the jury's verdict of 100 per cent disability, Fletcher will be entitled to $12,500 on $25 weekly installments.

Bakery Employe Injures Hand

James Ficik, 24, 404 Park Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday morning after severely injuring a finger on his right hand.

Ficik was injured about 7:50 a. m. when he caught his hand in the gears of a cake dropping machine at the Community Baking Company where he is employed. The machine regulates the quantity of cake dough in each baking operation.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday at 8 p. m. at Woodlawn Inn in Short Gap, W. Va. All members are requested to be present.

247 Fort Hill Seniors Receive Their Diplomas

Many Graduates Get Special Awards

Some 247 seniors of Fort Hill High School received their diplomas last night in the 29th annual graduation exercises conducted outdoors in the stadium.

Kenneth R. Malcolm, president of the Allegany County Board of Education, presented the diplomas.

Welcome Home Winners

Welcome Home Awards to the most representative seniors on the basis of scholarship, loyalty, service, character and leadership went to Virginia Lillard and Ronald Rice. They were judged by members of their class and approved by the faculty.

Miss Lillard's gold medal was donated by the Cumberland Savings Bank and Rice's was given by the First National Bank.

Miss Lillard was the recipient of three other honors last night. She won the S. T. Little Company gold medal for highest average in high school English, a $10 cash prize from the Alumni Association for highest four-year scholastic achievement, and the $5 Sentinel staff for work on school paper.

Two Awards

Two other Fort Hill graduates received two awards each. George Pitzer got the $10 South Cumberland Planing Mill prize for highest mathematics average, and the Bausch and Lomb honorary medal for proficiency in science. Barbara Largent was recipient of the Reader's Digest award as class valedictorian and the $20 Millenson Furniture Company award for highest average in commercial subjects.

Among other winners were the following:

David McCullough, Cumberland Music and Arts Club medal for musical performance; Elwood Norris, $5 National Thespian prize; Marilyn Hitchcock, $5 senior writer's prize; Colvin Athey, $5 industrial arts award; Shirley Benson, $10 award from William Hixenbaugh for excellence in vocational home economics; Ellen Proudfoot, $5 award from Miss Nellie Willison as "High Lights" writer; Gene Laber, Americanism medal from Fort Cumberland Unit 13, American Legion Auxiliary.

Other Awards

Jeannette Lynch, Cumberland Symphony Orchestra prize; William Tubbs, $10 Alumni Association award for scholastic achievement; Evangeline Grim, Cumberand Choral Society vocal music award; Edgar Parsons and William Hanekamp, Babe Ruth sportsmanship awards; Rebecca Reynolds, $5 Sabre Staff award; Marna Kay Meyers, $5 homemaking award; Mary Louise VanPelt, $15 Mathematics Association of America prize; Clarence Lewis, George F. Hazelwood wrist watch as best all-around athlete; Donald Kenneth McKenzie, $25 Daniel Y. Browne award for 11 years of perfect attendance; Glendon Michael, $15 Carpenters' union award; Judith Popp, $50 National Honor Society scholarship, and Nancy Showman, Cresap Chapter, D.A.R. cash award for outstanding citizenship.

Harrison Wood, news analyst and foreign correspondent, delivered the principal address after being presented by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, gave the invocation and benediction, and musical selections were provided by the Fort Hill band.

Check False Alarm

Cleanup Time Slated In Ridgeley

"Spring cleaning" time will be held in Ridgeley next week and officials of the community are urging all residents to join in the cleanup program.

Mayor Charles Fryer and members of the city council are heading the program in Ridgeley to beautify the properties of the area.

From June 4 through June 8 the clean up program will be held. Mayor Fryer said last night residents are urged to place their rubbish and garbage on the curbs on June 5, 6 and 7 and a truck of the Street Department will carry the refuse away.

In a further effort to beautify the community, the Lions Club, American Legion, Volunteer Fire Company, and Rod and Gun Club of Ridgeley are joining forces and will sponsor a contest this summer to learn who can have the most improved lot.

Mayor Fryer, who is urging residents to get in the competition, said last night entrants must fill out a form which will be available at his office after June 15.

The contest will be held through June, July and August and judges will be named to determine the winners. Mayor Fryer added that the Lions Club has garbage disposal cans on order and they will be placed on the streets of the community.

B&O Trains Delayed By Wreck

Freight and passenger trains were running about three hours behind schedule late yesterday evening as a result of the wreck of a B&O passenger train early yesterday morning east of Parkersburg, claiming the life of the engineer and fireman.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night two freight trains traveling east toward Cumberland and Passenger Train No. 12, also headed east, were delayed some three hours as a result of the wreck of the National Limited.

Killed were Joseph C. Riley, 62, engineer of Grafton, W. Va. and Paul R. Hooten, about 32, also of Grafton.

The conductor, J. R. Utterback and the flagman, H. K. McIntyre of Cumberland, boarded the train at Keyser several hours before. Both had minor cuts.

The engine crew was changed at Grafton while Utterback and McIntyre work through to Parkersburg.

Learn To Swim Drive Planned

A "Learn To Swim" campaign will be sponsored in Cumberland June 8 through June 22 at Central YMCA, according to James Fortner, who said that the classes will be open to non-swimmers who will be taught fundamental skills of swimming.

Fortner pointed out that the National YMCA has pioneered in water safety techniques since 1885 and teaches approximately 360,000 persons how to swim each year.

In commenting on the water sport, Fortner added that swimming relaxes and invigorates at the same time. In addition to swimming more this summer, he urges residents to learn to swim better. He said that most water accidents involve poor swimmers rather than non-swimmers.

Iron Workers To Meet

Job Evaluation Plan Adopted By Luke Local

Will Boost Payroll $150,000 Annually

Members of Luke Local 676, United Paperworkers of America (AFL-CIO), yesterday approved a job evaluation program estimated to boost the payroll of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Paper Company by $150,000 a year.

Members of the local voted on the issue by secret ballot in an election held yesterday, according to Eugene Dawson, recording secretary.

Vote Approval

The plan was accepted 656 to 521 in the balloting, the third held since the plan was included in the 1950 contract. It was decisively defeated the first time and by 30 votes when the present contract was accepted.

Yesterday's vote was taken after the membership petitioned for another balloting on the program, which was accepted by the Williamsburg, Pa., mill about 18 months ago and the Covington, Va., mill last December 19.

Dawson said Wilbur Johnson, president of Local 676, announced the union hopes to have the plan in effect by June 11.

The program, he said, will increase rates at the plant from one to 26 cents an hour.

The job evaluation plan adopted was worked out a number of years ago by the company and the union for the bargaining unit, which includes the Covington, Williamsburg and Luke mills.

Uses 12 Factors

It calls for the rating of jobs according to 12 factors, which include skills, physical and mental efforts, and experience.

At Luke, it is estimated the plan will boost hourly payrolls by $64 and the annual payroll by $150,000.

It is patterned after a plan which has been in effect in CIO steel unions since 1946, the union said.

State Workshop For Blind Moves To New Quarters

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind is moving this week to its new home at 2901 Strickland Street, Baltimore, according to State Senator Charles M. See.

The institution, he said, has been located at 601 Fulton Avenue, Baltimore, since 1921.

Sen. See is a trustee for the workshop and serves as field representative in this area, with headquarters in the Union Street county building.

The workshop was created in 1908 by an act of the General Assembly. It offers employment to the blind, who make mops, brooms and medical supplies for operating rooms run by the government.

The workshop also operates 26 vending stands throughout the state and will open two new stands July 1 at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda.

Another phase of the workshop's program is the training of the blind both at the workshop and in the home.

In the home service department, it employs six supervisors and home teachers, including Mrs. Margielea Stonestreet See, wife of Sen. See.

LaVale Volunteer Fire Company was summoned yesterday at 5:45 a. m. to the intersection of US Route 40 and Mt. Savage Road where they extinguished a fire in the brakes of a Riss trailer. The alarm was answered by Chief Bruce Long and 12 men. Damage was negligible.

Meeting Fails To End Stoppage At Kelly Plant

Tread Room Dispute Idles 1,700 Workers

A membership meeting of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (AFL-CIO), last night failed to bring an agreement on the tread room walkout which halted production at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here yesterday.

The work stoppage, the first at the plant since 1954, was termed unauthorized by the company and the union. Some 1,700 hourly paid workers were idled by the stoppage.

James W. Stein, president, said the URCLPWA has been contacted and the company notified and that the issue will be taken up at the union's regular membership meeting tomorrow night.

The dispute involving piece work rates in the tread room began about 11 p. m. Wednesday and by 3 a. m. yesterday men in the unit had quit work.

Plant Is Idled

Workers reporting for the 7 a. m. shift were sent home in mid-morning due to lack of treads for making tires.

Plans were made to attempt to get the men started back to work on the 11 p. m. shift.

Men Make Proposal

Stein said the union, at the night meeting, presented the company with a proposal which was turned down.

That, he added, left the dispute right where it was.

Members of the unit, the union said, refused to perform the work load the company requested.

Stein said the local has a membership meeting scheduled tomorrow night and that the dispute will be taken up again at that time. He declined to elaborate on the issue.

A member of the tread room unit, however, reported the men who work there agreed to go back to work under conditions which existed prior to the walkout.

Dawson said Wilbur Johnson, president of Local 676, announced the union hopes to have the plan in effect by June 11.

The program, he said, will increase rates at the plant from one to 26 cents an hour.

The job evaluation plan adopted was worked out a number of years ago by the company and the union for the bargaining unit, which includes the Covington, Williamsburg and Luke mills.

Uses 12 Factors

It calls for the rating of jobs according to 12 factors, which include skills, physical and mental efforts, and experience.

At Luke, it is estimated the plan will boost hourly payrolls by $64 and the annual payroll by $150,000.

It is patterned after a plan which has been in effect in CIO steel unions since 1946, the union said.

Bigger Share Of Tourist Business Sought For Area

Members of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce are being urged to help the Cumberland area get its share of the "industry without a smokestack" which brings $80,000,000 of new money into Maryland each year.

Western Maryland, the Chamber said, gets about $2,000,000 of this "new money" from the tourist business, yet has a potential of many times that amount.

The Cumberland area, it points out, is situated in the middle of the biggest vacationing population in the nation, since half of the people of the United States live within a radius of 500 miles of here.

Money spent by tourists, the Chamber points out, helps not only those who directly serve the travelers, since the "new money" is respect in the area to hire more people and to buy more things.

But the tourist, the Chamber points out, "goes where he is cordially invited and stays where he is courteously treated."

"A businessman, stopping here en route to the nation's capital, may decide to establish a branch office here. A sports car enthusiast, here to participate in the races, may find here the right factors, the right location, the right market for a new industry."

Here are the suggestions of the Chamber's Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee, for all residents of the Cumberland area:

Know what there is to see and how to get there.

Make the visitor feel at home.

Call on the Chamber of Commerce for any information or assistance that may make the traveler's visit more pleasant.

Local Industry Gets National Recognition

Artmor Plastics Corporation, Oldtown Road, one of Cumberland's new and growing small industries, is given top billing in the June issue of Modern Plastics magazine in recognition of advanced thinking and planning in plastics for building construction.

This issue of the publication is an unusually large special edition devoted to reviews of past accomplishments along with predictions for the future in the field of plastics. The issue coincides with the National Plastics Exposition, which occurs every two years, scheduled for June 11-15 in the recently built New York Coliseum.

The Cumberland firm is given special notice, and the article concerning its progress in plastic development as building material heads an entire section on building applications.

For some months, according to Arthur C. Morgan, president, the company has been working on several applications of plastics for wall board and other items widely used in building construction.

The feature article takes note of this progress, and it is accompanied by illustrations of these futuristic applications. S. Russ Minter, local architect who is alo vice president of Artmor, in collaboration with Morgan, prepared detailed plans for an all-plastic dwelling. The contemporary model home is not merely an architect's dream, but is actually to be built here, Morgan said, to show the widest possibe usage of plastics in construction.

A reproduction of a line drawing of the house is part of the feature article on the magazine. As a further indication of the recognition given the local firm's development and standing in the industry, the editor of the trade journal has indicated his intention of building a duplicate for himself on Long Island. He has asked for complete plans and specifications.

Morgan said the dwelling, as planned, will be completely revolutionary, and will offer the best possible uses of new building materials, providing for low cost maintainence, ease and economy of construction and the best in modern comfortable living.

Seniors Obtain Scholarships

Two high school seniors of Allegany County have been awarded state scholarships in engineering to Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore by State Senator Charles M. See.

They are David Francis, 513 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, who was graduated last night from Bruce High School, and James Kissner, 28 Race Street, this city, who will receive his diploma tonight at Allegany High School.

Francis, who ranked in the top third of a class of 87, was president of his senior class, a member of the Student Council and was interested in dramatics. Kissner, who formerly lived on Winchester Road, is in the upper fifth of his class of 220 seniors. He has belonged to the musical organizations and is president of the National Honor Society.

Senator See also announced yesterday the awarding of a scholarship to Western Maryland College to Ronald Cindy of Cresaptown.

Sewage Treatment Plant Work Pushed

Work on Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant was pushed, both under and above ground last week, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Laying of the brick walls of the structure was under way as other crews set steel and poured concrete for inside portions of the building.

Motor-operated sluice gates were installed in the station's gate chamber.

Other crews completed and tested the four-inch water main which will supply sanitary water for the plant.

Taking shape were the steel frames of the sludge bed covers.

AFL Meeting Set

The Building and Construction Trades Council will meet next Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple, according to Harry Hickle, president.

Four Schools Will Hold Graduations

Largest Class At Allegany

Four more Allegany County high schools will conduct their graduation exercises tonight as more than 500 seniors get their diplomas.

The largest class of the four is at Allegany High School, where 221 are scheduled to graduate. Ceremonies will start at 8:15 p. m. The principal address will be delivered by Imre Kovacs, a renowned world traveler, who spoke last night at Mt. Savage.

Beall High School in Frostburg is scheduled to graduate 154 seniors tonight. Commencement speaker there will be Harrison Wood, news analyst and foreign correspondent, who was heard last night at Fort Hill.

Valley High School's commencement at Lonaconing is scheduled tonight for some 107 graduates. Dr. George H. Tolley, a clergyman from Jamestown, N. Y., will speak there. He was the speaker last night at Bruce High School.

Tonight's fourth commencement will be at Oldtown High School, where 34 seniors are scheduled for graduation. Julius E. Schindler, local attorney, will speak there.

Murphy Co. Stores Mark Anniversary

The local G. C. Murphy Company Store on Baltimore Street will take part in the observance of the company's golden jubilee with the opening of its 50th Anniversary Sale today.

The company was incorporated in Pennsylvania in 1906, had grown to 12 stores by 1911, and now has 303 stores, with total 1955 sales volume of $196,423,090.

Quick Jury Rules Man Is Disabled

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court took only about eight minutes yesterday to decide that Harrison John Fletcher, who was injured when he fell off a ladder while picking apples at a Spring Gap orchard, is permanently and totally disabled.

Mrs. Letha Matlick was foreman of the jury of seven women and five men. Chief Judge George Henderson presided at the trial.

At an earlier hearing before the State Industrial Accident Commission, Commissioner R. Duncan Clark ruled that Fletcher was 75 per cent disabled and should receive $25 a week until he receives a total amount of $7,500.

Fletcher, through Attorney Edward J. Ryan, appealed to Circuit Court. At yesterday's hearing the Consolidated Orchard Company, employer, and Century Indemnity Company, insurer, were represented by C. William Gilchrist, this city, and Alfred M. Porth of Baltimore.

The Spring Gap man, then 31, injured his leg and back August 6, 1954, when he fell 23 feet off the ladder to the ground.

As a result of the jury's verdict of 100 per cent disability, Fletcher will be entitled to $12,500 on $25 weekly installments.

Bakery Employe Injures Hand

James Ficik, 24, 404 Park Street, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday morning after severely injuring a finger on his right hand.

Ficik was injured about 7:50 a. m. when he caught his hand in the gears of a cake dropping machine at the Community Baking Company where he is employed. The machine regulates the quantity of cake dough in each baking operation.

Non-members who have mounts are invited to join the trail ride in Frostburg.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Tuesday at 8 p. m. at Woodlawn Inn in Short Gap, W. Va. All members are requested to be present.

Officer's Police Dog Stages Meat Robbery

A local police officer was a little embarrassed the other day when he walked into a grocery store here and paid a meat bill which was "charged" in a rather unusual fashion by his dog, a German Shepherd.

The police dog has been used to being treated to scraps of meat by the store management.

The other day, the dog strolled into the store alone, and when no one was watching, grabbed a large portion of meat and ran out the door.

His law-enforcing master was informed of the theft, and dug down in his pocket for the price of the meat—which reportedly was a sum around two dollars.

The canine obviously got quite a hearing when he went on trial.

Local Bankers To Attend Conference

Three local bankers will attend a young bankers conference in Baltimore June 6 and 7. It is being sponsored by Maryland Bankers Association.

On the program will be discussion of Federal Reserve open market, a panel on service charges and a movie describing the operations of the New York Stock Exchange.

Attending from the Liberty Trust Company are G. Morgan Smith and Edward McNamee and from the Second National Bank, Joseph Snyder.

Wader Cuts His Toe

Gerald Singleton, 13-year old son of Mrs. Genevieve Singleton, 550 Eastern Avenue, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night after severely cutting the big toe of his right foot while wading in a creek. He was brought to the hospital about 6 p. m.

School Children To Visit Historical Society Home

Allegany County Historical Society house, 218 Washington Street, will be open today to four groups of pupils from West Side School.

Visitors, accompanied by their teachers, will be shown through the house in groups meeting there at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m.

Members of the historical society will be present to talk about the collection of historical exhibits.

Miss Ruth Clauson, president of the society, said last evening the society plans to make school children visits available next year to those interested.

There have been numerous inquiries by various teachers for such extracurricular activities. Although the society has not been in a position to do this before, it is hoped today's visit will be the beginning of such a program.

Several groups of bill headings are being arranged to give the children an idea of business of the past. There also are World War I insignia and photographs of early Fort Cumberland maps.

Additional exhibits are being planned during the summer, including a room of primitives, early cooking utensils and tools, which will be of interest to school children.

Today's group, Miss Clauson said, will be from several age levels and should indicate to members in charge how valuable a contribution the historical society can make to the youth of the county.

B&O Trains Delayed By Wreck

Freight and passenger trains were running about three hours behind schedule late yesterday evening as a result of the wreck of a B&O passenger train early yesterday morning east of Parkersburg, claiming the life of the engineer and fireman.

A spokesman for the railroad said last night two freight trains traveling east toward Cumberland and Passenger Train No. 12, also headed east, were delayed some three hours as a result of the wreck of the National Limited.

Killed were Joseph C. Riley, 62, engineer of Grafton, W. Va. and Paul R. Hooten, about 32, also of Grafton.

The conductor, J. R. Utterback and the flagman, H. K. McIntyre of Cumberland, boarded the train at Keyser several hours before. Both had minor cuts.

The engine crew was changed at Grafton while Utterback and McIntyre work through to Parkersburg.

Learn To Swim Drive Planned

A "Learn To Swim" campaign will be sponsored in Cumberland June 8 through June 22 at Central YMCA, according to James Fortner, who said that the classes will be open to non-swimmers who will be taught fundamental skills of swimming.

Fortner pointed out that the National YMCA has pioneered in water safety techniques since 1885 and teaches approximately 360,000 persons how to swim each year.

In commenting on the water sport, Fortner added that swimming relaxes and invigorates at the same time. In addition to swimming more this summer, he urges residents to learn to swim better. He said that most water accidents involve poor swimmers rather than non-swimmers.

Check False Alarm

State Workshop For Blind Moves To New Quarters

The Maryland Workshop for the Blind is moving this week to its new home at 2901 Strickland Street, Baltimore, according to State Senator Charles M. See.

The institution, he said, has been located at 601 Fulton Avenue, Baltimore, since 1921.

Sen. See is a trustee for the workshop and serves as field representative in this area, with headquarters in the Union Street county building.

Formal dedication of the new building, he added, is planned next month, with Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin officiating.

The workshop was created in 1908 by an act of the General Assembly. It offers employment to the blind, who make mops, brooms and medical supplies for operating rooms run by the government.

The workshop also operates 28 vending stands throughout the state and will open two new stands July 1 at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda.

Another phase of the workshop's program is the training of the blind both at the workshop and in the home.

In the home service department, it employs six supervisors and home teachers, including Mrs. Margielea Stonestreet See, wife of Sen. See.
